Bob Dibble Doesn't Worry

The chief drawback to most contestants in sport is that they should worry. Attacks of nerves before the race beat many an otherwise redoubtable performance. Above all, the sculler must forget it. The late Ned Hanlan, in his heyday, was a marvelous example of the cool customer. Close friends point out this splendid characteristic in Toronto's representative now at Henley. Harry Dibble of the city hall tells how his son, at Boston last summer had three heats to row in two hours. Winning the first, his trainers wrapped him up in a blanket after the rubdown. When time came for the next they had to shake Harry out of a sound sleep, but he was ready in a minute, winning again, and also the third later on without the aid of a nap.

city school championship of the intermediate series. A cup to the school and medals for the nine go with the honor.

The standing of the teams in the Methodist Church League is as follows:
North Parkdale 5 0 1 Pct.
Club 0 0 0
Howard Park 2 3 2

DIBBLE IN TRIALS
GOING SMOOTHLY

Good Field of English Scullers in the Diamond Sculls—Winnipeg Crew Working.

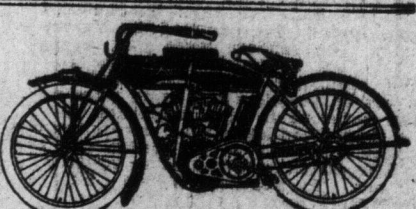

The first heat for the Diamond Sculls is two weeks away word comes from Bob Dibble that he is already on good terms with the climate along the Thames. He not only is acclimatized, but likes the river, and Ernest Barry has rigged his shell up to the entire satisfaction of the Don Rowing Club sculler, who is going smoothly in his trial spins. Local rowing men say that Dibble must do his best, as the Henley field this year has a difficult lot, notably the English entrants. Besides the three Boston scullers there is the great Italian, Sinigaglia, and none of these is considered dangerous. Barry has taken full charge of Dibble's training and expects to land him a winner.

The G.A.P. despatch yesterday from Henley said:
Dibble, with Barry in attendance, is sculling well, and rowing men speak highly of his work.
The Winnipeg crew was rather late in getting afloat yesterday owing to an accidental tear in the boat's canvas, which Nat Scholtes, Dibble's trainer, neatly repaired. Showing consistent form, the crew did useful work of a detail character, and were well noted in a trial over the first half of the regatta course they covered the distance in three minutes thirty-nine seconds.
The Winnipeg crew were afloat this morning, and after a strong paddle to the starting point did a fine three-minute row to the half-way mark. They finished with a row over the last half of the course, which they covered in three minutes forty seconds.

SEVEN WAR CANOE

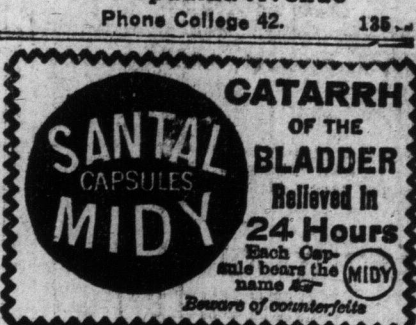

CREWS IN BIG RACE.

The champion Toronto Canoe Club war canoe crew will endeavor to maintain their grip on the premier paddling honors at their regatta on June 20. Parkdale expect to pull one over on them, and both crews are working hard for the half-mile race for the Gooch trophy. I.A.A., Humbler Bay and the Beach Clubs have also entered crews, and one of them may furnish the upset of the paddling dope. A match race between the retired undefeated champion, Reg. Blomfield, and the present holder of the Canadian single blade paddling championship, A. MacKenzie, has been arranged as a special feature of the regatta.
The committee in charge of the Toronto Canoe Club regatta next Saturday wish to call the attention of the different clubs to the fact that all events are going to be started on schedule time whether all entries are on the line or not.

PLAYING FOR SECOND PLACE.

Torontos and Tecumsehs meet for the first time this season at Hanlan's Point in a "Big Four" lacrosse match. As the teams are tie for second place in the league the contest should be a warm one all the way. The Toronto defense has been strengthened by the addition of Donald Cameron, the ex-Cornwall and the Indians played in great form against Quebec last week. The strong Beaches Club of the O.A.L.A. will meet the Robert Simpson Company in the curtain-raiser, and the rivalry between the teams is intense. The reserved seat plan goes on sale at Moody's tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.
