
EXTRA OFFICIAL
STATE PAPERS

MY LORD,

THE preservation of our excellent constitution, and the promotion of the public prosperity and happiness, being the avowed principles and purpose of that most laudable association of independent Members of Parliament, which your Lordship is at the head of, entitle you not only to the good wishes but to the assistance, also, of every sincere friend to Great Britain; and if in our idea of the constitution we include the just rights and prerogatives of the crown, without which the monarchy cannot subsist, nor the liberty of the subject be preserved; and give credit to the charges brought by either of the
