Montreal Practice.
MONTREAL, Oct. 27.—(Special)—Montreal concluded operations for the game with Hamilton Tigers this morning with the best workout of the season. At the end of a fast hour's work the men of the executive and the players felt convinced that they were in shape to take Tigers' measure here tomorrow.

Tommy Williams was practically the only regular missing from the squad. The full-back is in good shape physically and the rest will not hurt him. In fact a rest up might have been beneficial to one or two others. George Kelly was limping pretty badly when he left the field, and it might have been better to have kept him out of the practice. Kelly is in the pink as a result of his summer's paddling, and was in no great need of practice work.

Mr. Keene's old friend, Ben Brush, Hindoo, our old friend, imp. Dandle, Diamond, St. Simon, Kingston, Ontario, sent Mr. Keene to Hamburg, being by the way of Lady Reel, one would have thought worth keeping at home. He was the highest priced animal, sold for $420. Mr. Haggin's yearlings, selling for $420, Mr. Haggin's 74 bringing $7402, an average of $100 each. Chief Davis a Torontonian.
Fire Chief Thomas Davis of Victoria is a Toronto boy, and was formerly captain of Truck 2 of the fire department, going to the coast a couple of years ago to take charge of the Victoria department. Since he took charge, the newspapers there have frequently paid him high compliment for the manner in which he increased the efficiency of that department. This is the first fire that got away from him.

New Theatre Company.
The success of the New Theatre Co.'s engagement at the Royal Alexandra next week is already assured, the subscription and advance sales exceeding those of any other attraction this season.

The "Merry Wives of Windsor" engagement begins next Monday afternoon and evening, was received in a most flattering manner in Montreal this present week. The massive production is called "most artistic" character. It includes such great artists as Louis Calvert, Rose Coghlan and Edith Wynne Mathison. Pinner's "The Thunderbolt" will be given by last part of the week. Unless paid for, mail or by telephone, Monday noon, will not be held after Saturday noon.

Work in British Columbia Camps.
W. H. Morrison, camp secretary of Prince Rupert, B.C., spoke of the association's work in construction camps. Fully 80 per cent. of the men employed in his territory were non-English, and there were 80 miles of camps employing 100 men each on the average. A great many of them were Roman Catholics, and had been forbidden to attend any meetings by their religious leaders. But by living amongst them and being a "big brother" to them he had been able to get a large number of them to join in the educational movement.

Mr. Long from Illinois told a unique story of having lured many Italians by the aid of a phonograph when he had found it impossible to get well at them by personal address. He found they would pay better attention to "Betsy," as he called the machine, than to the broken dialect he was trying to persuade them with.

F. H. Rindge, jr., secretary of the industrial department, spoke at some length on the service and influence of college men in industrial centres. The idea had been conceived of going into colleges and getting at the engineering and mechanical classes. These individuals, in turn, when selected for the foreign laborer, proved most efficient missionaries.

W. N. Northcott, railroad secretary, of Scranton, Pa., reported that the parliament had got a library of standard and useful books translated into Polish and had published circulars in the same language announcing that these buildings and even furnish them. This was not because the captains of industry were philanthropists, but they found that the association had worked a mighty improvement in the efficiency of their workmen.

Immigration Problems.
Problems of enlightening and improving the foreign elements who are immigrating to Canada and the United States were discussed at the conference of the industrial-immigration branch of the International Y. M. C. A. committee all day. Canada has been having the better of the argument in the U. S. received two Britishers for every 13 persons from continental Europe in 1909. Further, it stated that Canada admitted 1,345,298, or one to every eight of its population in the past ten years, and during that period 358,173 migrated to Canada from the U. S., while 27,324 went from this country to the U. S. border. Touching the percentage of illiterate immigrants, Canada seems again to have the advantage. One out of every ten coming to this country was illiterate, as against three out of ten from other lands.

Present at the conferences were 11 secretaries from Europe and the British Isles, seven from Canada and 15 workers from the United States. After all the phases of dealing with the foreign elements—their education and sociological improvement—had been discussed by secretaries from all countries present, the following resolutions were passed and sent on to the various international committees:

(1) That the committee approved the complete plan of the united work for emigrant and immigrants which includes rendering service at points of embarkation; en route in the steamer; at ports of landing; en route to destination; at destination.

(2) Commending the progress made, the committee urges special attention on board ship as a possible field for efficient service for immigrants.

(3) Realizing the need of standardizing our work, we recommend that the "world's committee give special attention to the preparation and distribution of all printed matter for this work in Europe.

(4) Noting with interest the request of the world's committee that attention be given to returning immigrants, who have been in America, we recommend that the necessary consideration be given to the subject, with a view to connecting these men with associations in their home countries.

Pennsylvania Problems.
Speaking of the work being done among the foreigners employed in large industrial sections of Pennsylvania, J. B. Carruthers, state secretary, said that years ago the state association had sent men to the old country to acquaint themselves with the state of affairs among the laboring classes. These men were now stationed at various centres of labor in the state, teaching English to foreigners. At present, he informed that the state secretary, he opined that they could be best instructed by providing for them the same recreations and mental employments as Americans.

York said the foreign emigrants could be best served by teaching English and lecturing them on sanitation and health subjects. Stereopticon views were valuable in this direction.

Touching the work among the immigrants at Boston, G. W. Mehahey said it had been found very effective to meet them at the train and distribute cards printed in their languages, as permanent services and facilities of the Y.M.C.A. club system, etc.

H. M. Orno of New York related the aid given to immigrants at Ellis Island, while Mr. Dressman of Pittsburg told of lectures being delivered there illustrative of the evils of alcohol and unsanitary living conditions.

C. L. Foy, state mining secretary of Pennsylvania, dwelt upon the necessity of teaching the English language to the foreigners employed in the coal fields and the methods already adopted. There were 200,000 non-English miners employed in the state. Prejudice against the English language was a great obstacle to be overcome. A great many of the largest coal operators were now co-operating with the association in the way of subscribing funds and in this way needed enlargements had been made to buildings and facilities for the promotion of the English language.

Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. of the world morning was given the attention of the national committee, spoke of the immigration stream and world wide activities, pointing out that a million and a half immigrants entered the United States last year, 70 per cent. of whom were males and therefore amenable to the influences of the Y.M.C.A. in America. In this quantity of humanity 40 nationalities were represented, and every religion.

The Y. M. C. A. was the only organization standing as it does for the united churches, to handle the problem. Nine European ports had port secretaries as permanent officers, and with tariffs at present, they arranged with companies that their connections should not be broken when coming to a new land. Canada, Mr. Hicks said, had no port secretaries, although it is understood that one is shortly to be appointed at Quebec.

That the Y. M. C. A.'s of the world should establish traveling secretaries to accompany the Atlantic, remaining as permanent officers aboard the ships, was an interesting suggestion of Christian Philidus of Vienna, general secretary of the world's committee. Some interesting information was supplied by Mr. Vagenaar of Rotterdam, a port secretary, who on his way to the Toronto convention, traveled steamer and did effective work with the immigrants.

Secretaries Pass Resolutions.
The provincial and state secretaries of North America passed a resolution that a commission of seven be appointed to study the whole religious situation and to advise on methods of making secretaries' work more effective. It was also agreed to set up a standard of practice and methods for all branches.

Addresses were delivered by F. W. Pearsall, H. E. Williams and H. M. Blair. The latter suggested the consolidation of all the state and local funds for apportionment to the different Y. M. C. A.'s on the basis of local membership.

Thirty-five attended the conference of the Railroad Association secretaries, when it was reported that on three systems, C. P. R., G. T. R., and Boston & Maine, meetings were held noon, nights and Sundays, which would equal, according to the number of men reached, 30,000 visits a week. During the recent strike a neutral attitude was maintained and this was found to be the best policy.

NEW PINERO PLAY WAS GIVEN ITS PREMIERE

New Theatre Company Produces "The Thunderbolt" at Montreal—A Great Success.

MONTREAL, Oct. 27.—The New Theatre Company produced a new play by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, entitled "The Thunderbolt," to-night in the Princess Theatre, scoring an exceptionally emphatic success. "The Thunderbolt" was given its premier on this side of the Atlantic.

A large and fashionable audience received the play in a demonstrative manner, that left no doubt as to their appreciation. The cast proved a strong and convincing one all around. The audience was fascinated through, till the curtain fell on thunders of applause.

The characters were all cleverly and clearly lined, the comedy clean cut and the action direct. The staging was excellent, and the play moved smoothly and convincingly through. Curtain calls were numerous, and the company had a reception which has not been equaled by any company in this city since the days of the late Sir Henry Irving.

Charles Klein's appealing drama, "The Third Degree," which has to credit an almost universal record of very emphatic success, will be the attraction at the Princess on Monday, for one week. Henry B. Harris is sending one of his very best dramatic efforts.

ability and skill, and novelty features, grandeur of costumes and stage effects, catches the popular fancy every time.

The plan for the Jan Hamburg violin recital at the Conservatory of Music Hall on Wednesday, Nov. 2, will open on Tuesday at Nordheim's, 15 East King-street.

"Checkers," which comes to the Grand next week, with special matinee Monday, is the most amusing, as well as most absorbing, racing play on the stage. While it has been here before, this is the first time at the Grand's popular scale of prices, the company and production are in many respects the same that have won the applause and favor of theatregoers in all parts of America during its seven years on the road. It is a tale of love organizations here in this play. "The Third Degree" is generally conceded to be Mr. Klein's best work, a statement somewhat broad when his "Music Master" and "Lion and the Mouse" are taken into account. The story is based upon methods employed by police officials to extort confessions from persons accused of crime.

has the odd character role of "Push" in the race track trol, and Miss Florence Heston is seen again as the heroine, "Pert." The great racing scene never fails to arouse the greatest excitement.
