NO MORE LABOR STRIKES IF SPIRIT IS STIRRED

Rev. Dr. Chapman Pleads for Personal Work-Cannot Make Converts.

When Dr. Chapman commenced to speak at Massey Hall last night there were fully 3500 people within the sound of his voice. Scarcely a vacant seat was seen in the entire building. Public interest in these great meetings appears to be growing by leaps and

Dr. Chapman was in an aggressive mood last night. His words had a positive ring about them, and his address was as much a challenge as an

"Our religion is either true or false," he declared. "If it is false then it is useless to present it. If true, I will speak it to every man who comes within the sound of my voice."

Dr. Chapman paused for a moment deep in thought.

"Yes, it is either false or it is true," repeated. "If it's false, let it go. But if it's true, in God's name let us

It puzzles Dr. Chapman to know how people can treat religion with indifference. The Bible says: "He that

"And yet, knowing this," said the evangelist, "you live in the house with people and give them no warning. You

There was a moment's silence.
"Oh, yes," he said. "It's a solemn thing to be a minister. But it's a solemn thing to be a Christian."

Divine Power Needed.

"You people are not responsible for conversions," Dr. Chapman continued. "There is not a man in this audience that I could convert. Mr. Alexander has never converted a man. Neither have I. It is not within our bounds. But we can lead the mto the borders

Despite the statement of police officials that there is difficulty in getting applicants for the force, it is understood that there are now sixty men on the waiting list. The question of increases in salary for the police will be taken up later and may be included in the estimates for the present year, when council will be asked to pass upon this further expenditure. It is likely that a favorable view will be taken, as under the present conditions many are leaving the force to go to western cities.

Everybody knows that many common roots, barks and herbs contain nature's own provision for the relief of coughs and colds. It remained for Father Morriscy, with his wonderful medical skill, to combine extracts from these in such a way as to make the most effective cure for all forms of throat and lung troubles.

"Our Mutual Friend." In the main the sketches deal with humorous incidents, and while we miss the rotund Mr. Plckwick, we rejoice that the tearful sentimentality of Little Nell, Paul Dombey, et al., has been omitted. Each play consumes something under a half-hour in acting, and each is preceded by brief descriptions of the various persons eppearing, and comcise hints as to settings, including a diagram of the stage. AGAINST FAKE DRAFTING.

New York Sun: The new rule adopted by the National Commission to prevent "fake drafting" will result in much good; it is believed. The rule was prompted by at least one transaction in which two American League clubs were involved last year. The Cleveland Club drafted a player from the Dallas Club of the Texas (Class C) League, and turned him over to the Boston Red Sox. President Taylor of the Sox promptly handed the player to the Sacramento Club of the Pacific Coast (Class A) League, thereby acting merely as an agent. Under the new rule such methods are illegal, and clubs guilty of violations will be fined to the extent of the drafting price.

The drafting rule, by the way, is vio-

The drafting rule, by the way, is violated in other forms. It is a well-known fact that in both major leagues combinations exist for the purpose of making the drafting of desirable players doubly sure.

players were drafted by seven clubs, artho only one club in each instance wanted a certain man. If a player thus drafted by National League clubs was also drafted by one or two American League clubs, the former organization had a much better chance to keep him in the drawing of lots. It was owing to this combination of lots. It was owing to this combination of interests that the Detroit Club, for instance, failed to get even one of the men who were claimed by President Navin. The commission is anxious to put an end to this sharp practice, but so far an effective remedy has not been decided on.

President Lynch of the National League so far has been blocked in his attempt to engaged in Birmingham one of the at-

"In a moment I heard omino's growls and savage snarls, mixed with much whip-cracking and strenuous breatling. I am never fond of a wild antinas snow, and I felt distinctly nervous that night. The cloth behind me sagged and swayed, and then to my horror suddenly in the wings I saw the huge head and front of a lion. "I was singing a song called I Would, which had a lot of short verses. As I sang them, my blood running cold. I watched the lion. It seemed to advance slowly, and its baneful eyes gfittered in a truly horrible way. I could not go off that side without passing it, so I prepared to make my exit with haste.

"Turning, I was horrifled to see another lion on the other side. "I was caught like a mouse in a trap dared not go off the stage; I dare ot show my discomfiture to the audience. There was only one thing for tion, hoping that some one would come and take the llons away. They told me afterwards that I sang ninety-

This is the record of he Knight Sliding Valve Motor—a record of 8830 miles.

In the test given it by the Royal Automobile Club (the highest authority in Europe) a 22 horsepower Knight Motor ran as far as from Liverpool to New York, back to Liverpool, back again to New York, and four hundred miles in the second return journey, maintaining an average speed of forty-eight miles .

Every-day records come and o, but the KNIGHT ENGINE RECORD STANDS.

Despite the prestige gained by the record, no engine builder has attempted to put his product to a similar test.
