Still Confident at Nine. The champlon of prohibition, Mr. F. S. Spence, wended his way to The Globe office last night, and heard the deathknell of his hobby from the ticker, which he closely huddled and listened with breathless anxlety for the figures which made him a "has been." Mr. Spence, when asked by The World how the fight was going, replied very quietly that it was up to expectations. "Well, do you anticipate a large major-ity?" queried the scribe.

"Oh, no, we will not have a large majority, but still we will have enough to carry the wishes of the people who want to see the abolition of the liquor traffic," add the ex-alderman. when we say that we are Hardly had the conversation concluded when the figures "Montreal, 10,000 against," appeared in the street opposite The Globe Office.

"The Presbyterian Church is strong, but Principal Grant has brought its influence to a standstill."

The temperance crowd was disgusted with Quebec City's majority of 6114. "Quebec will have to give in," was the announcement. "If she won't keep up in the procession, she must be forced to."

Annapolis, N.S., majority of 1592 was Alven as "against" at first, and there was loud laughter when it was changed to "for."

"We'll have to go back to educational work," said Lecturer Thomas McGillicuddy, "if we lose this time."

"That implies that you think education and not coercion is the right way after ail?" retorted an "anti," but there was no reply.

Dr. Sutherland's Opinion.

"What was the outcome of the local vote?" asked Dr. Sutherland of The World man late last evening. He was told of the overwhelming majority against prohibition here, when he exclaimed: "Oh, that's only what I expected; in fact, it will go like that in all the cities, but it's on the country that we depend. If the vote does not speak strongly in favor of prohibition, we could not decently ask for it. I think even with a large or small majority, there will be trouble before enactment is made."

"There's Seagram's money!" could be heard on all sides at North Waterloo's fine stand.

"What can you expect of Windsor when Walker's there?" followed the announcement of the 640 majority against.

The temperance crowd hissed Spence's picture because it was "a tough and unkind cut."

Toronto's majority of 3254 against was greeted with hisses, and cries of "It is the greatest mistake Toronto ever made."

"Our press is responsible for this."

"Bah!" exclaimed one prohibitionist scornfully. "They can't call Toronto moral any more. There's nothing good in the town now!"

Here Thomas McGillicuddy, a prominent temperance stump lecturer, raised the crowd's drooping spirits by remarking that R. J. Fleming had been beaten several times, but had finally won the day.
