N. B. Now Separate Military District

Ottawa, Ont. Oct. 27.—An order-in-council has been passed constituting the province of New Brunswick military district No. 7. The order states that New Brunswick has, in the past, formed a part of military district No. 6, and that troops stationed there were commanded by a general officer who took orders from Halifax.

This system of administration has proven unsatisfactory, and, having regard to the requirements of the military service act and also in view of the situation, which will arise when troops return from overseas, it has been thought advisable to create a new district from New Brunswick.

It will constitute a separate and independent command.

Made a Life Member

Frederick Gleaner.—Miss Nan Estabrooks, a nursing sister with the West-cliffe Eye and Ear Hospital, at Folkestone, Eng., has been made a life member of the Ashburnham Chapter of the Red Cross Society of this city, through the efforts of Rev. Major J. H. MacDonald, assistant director of the chaplain service of the Canadian military forces. Miss Estabrooks has done wonderful work for the boys from Canada, and Major MacDonald has written Lady Ashburnham in regard to the life membership.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Great Britain has agreed to a modification of the postal treaty which fixed a two cent letter rate from the United States, so as to increase it to three cents for practically all foreign letters now taking the two cent stamp.

BRITISH FLEET OF SUBMARINES

Maintain Continual Patrol Over Lanes German Navy Must Travel—Kaiser's Warships Blocked

London, Oct. 18.—Recent revelations of decay in the German navy brought to British naval officers no surprise, as the discontent of the enemy seamen has been known to them for several months. They now look forward to further evidence of revolutions resulting from enforced activity.

The correspondence under a very unusual privilege granted by the Admiralty went out into the North Sea and saw at first hand an evidence of the force which has made that body of water a place of terror for the German navy. British naval forces of every description have worked with such good results that they have made enemy traffic impossible on the surface while the U-boats are finding increasing difficulties in getting through the various defences built up during the past year. There has been no previous time since the war started when the British felt a more complete sense of mastery over the Germans than during these autumn days, when daily reports show the tremendous decline in enemy activities. German mines, that formerly made England's coast one long death trap for small vessels, grow fewer all the time, are laid in worse fashion and do not conform to their erstwhile system.

Enemy Destroyers Wary. Enemy destroyers no longer venture far beyond their harbor entrances, having abandoned their old methods of dashing out for the ineffectual shelling of British coast towns. Their old refuges along the Belgian coast have been made untenable under the continual bombardment from sea and air.

Finally, doubly to ensure complete control of the waters accessible to Germany, Great Britain has established a fleet of submarines whose power is unsuspected even by the Englishmen themselves. These undersea craft are manned by the best type of picked British sailors, who undoubtedly have done more than their share to make the North Sea a graveyard for German shipping. They have wiped out many old scores during the last six months, and for every wrecked British or neutral vessel whose rotting hulk is on the ocean bed, Germany will pay double. Britain's submarines have been built so swiftly and in such numbers that they have been able to maintain a continual patrol over the lanes which the German navy might use. They also have laid mine fields to ensure the further bottling up of enemy craft of all classes. British sea forces have worked consistently and co-operated untiringly to attain such indescribable heights of power. It is not surprising that the enemy seamen revolt at the prospect of meeting such opponents.

MILK GOES UP ONE CENT A QUART IN MASSACHUSETTS

Producers were granted once cent more a quart for milk and the retail price in Boston was increased from 18 to 14 cents a quart under a decision reached by Henry B. Endicott, state food administrator, after a conference with Greater Boston milk dealers and representatives of the New England Producers' Association on Monday night. The new rates will be effective December 1 and are justified, Mr. Endicott says, by the increased price of labor and grain.

The new rates were fixed at the conclusion of a 15 days' truce agreed upon by producers and dealers at a meeting with the food administrator last month. At the time the retail dealers said that if they were obliged to meet the demands of the producers it would be necessary to raise the price of milk to consumers to 15 cents a quart.

The statement issued at the conclusion of Monday night's conference said: "After an investigation of the price of milk and hearing the producers, the food administration has come to the conclusion that the increased price of labor and grain justifies the increase in the price of milk from the 15th of October delivered on the cars in Boston, and in consequence of this increase he has authorized an increase of one cent a quart in the price of milk in the city until the first of December."

"He is studying the possibilities of a more economical form of delivery, which it is believed will enable people to participate good milk at a lower price in the future, but with the price of 14 cents it has been clearly demonstrated that milk is the cheapest form of animal food for the money that a householder can buy."

FOR THE BLUE CROSS

There were about sixty present at a dance which was held at the Manor House last evening, given by the Blue Cross Society. The young people thoroughly enjoyed themselves in dancing, and refreshments were served during the evening. Miss Coster, Miss Grimmer, Miss Cushing and Mrs. Little were in charge of the refreshments and Miss Hogan played the piano. The proceeds from this dance will go to the upkeep of the horse hospital in France.

First To Raise Conscience Plea

The first conscientious objector to file exemption papers in New Brunswick, if not in New Brunswick, did so yesterday. The lad's father is a member of the Plymouth Brethren.

At the rate of registration under the Military Service Act in St. John, it will be some time yet before one battalion will be recruited. Out of the sixty applications filed yesterday at the local post office, but one man offered himself for service.

Casualties. The casualty list of yesterday contained the names of two New Brunswickers, L. Chapman, of St. John, as killed in action, and Sergeant C. E. Horsman, of Moncton, as wounded. Relatives in St. John yesterday also received word that Private Fred. D. Hayes, who is reported officially as being wounded and missing Aug. 15, was reported killed in action by letters from his comrades who state that Private Hayes has been killed.

Private Hayes enlisted with the 118th Battalion and was sent with a draft to France last April. His wife received a letter from one of his comrades dated Sept. 6, saying her husband was killed Aug. 15. He also sent her his Bible and the pictures of his family which he found on the body. As the telegram, mentioned above, is the last official tidings received by his family, it leaves his relatives in doubt as to the certainty of his death. His wife and his three children are living in Springfield, Kings county, and his mother and sister in Boston.

Many will recall that Private Hayes was a son of the late Frank H. Hayes, who served so acceptably as the superintendent of schools, not only of the old city of Portland but also of the entire city when the union was made in 1888. Educationally he was well known throughout the province, and the entire sympathy of his many friends will now go out to his son's relatives who are left without definite knowledge of his end. Private Hayes is a cousin of Helley Hayes, director of manual training in this city.

New Railway Unit

Lieutenant Pinch was in the city yesterday in connection with a new depot that will soon be mobilized in the Maritime Provinces under the name of "Skilled Railway Employees." The headquarters of the new section will be Moncton, but recruiting will be carried in various parts of New Brunswick and in the northern part of Nova Scotia.

WEST INDIA STEAMER ON FIRE

Halifax, Oct. 17.—Fire of unknown origin broke out at an early hour last evening in No. 4 hold of a Royal Mail Steam Packet liner at Pier 3. The intense smoke and great heat rendered fighting the fire both difficult and dangerous. It is thought by experts that the lower hold where the fire is still resisting all efforts will not be flooded. The damage, though not yet definitely set, will probably amount to many thousands of dollars.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Should You Be Exempt?

Every facility is afforded those who have reasonable ground for applying for exemption under the Military Service Act. Each man's case will be considered by a local, civil board, sitting in the locality where he lives, and will be decided as is desirable in the national interest.

The idea behind the Military Service Act is to call up first only those whose absence from civilian occupations will cause least disturbance to the country's economic and social life. One hundred thousand reinforcements—no more—are to be raised under the Act.

Cases of Exemption

Over 1,250 civil tribunals have been organized throughout Canada, known as Exemption Tribunals. These boards are comprised of 2 members, one appointed by the county judge and one by a joint committee of Parliament. It will be seen that these tribunals are non-military and independent. The members are men closely acquainted with conditions in the places where they sit and will be able to give each case sympathetic attention.

National Interest Will Govern Exemptions

Consideration will be given to applications for exemption received from men engaged in the production or manufacture of commodities necessary to the conduct of the war and the support of those at home and cases in which real hardship would be caused by the withdrawal. Not all men who register these claims will be exempted, but such claims will receive careful consideration. National interest must govern.

Promptness is Essential

Prompt application for exemption is strongly urged upon all who, being included in the first class, believe they deserve exemption. But first visit a Medical Board and find out if any further action is required. Unless the Medical examination places you in Category A., you will have no immediate obligation for service.

The Military Service Council.
