Britain street, telephoned the police station in great anxiety, and said that her little son had wandered away from her side while she was at a basketball game in the South End. She was overjoyed to find him there and lost no time in calling for him.

The first case was that of a woman suffering from a severe hemorrhage in the abdomen. The oestral staff drew off the blood from the abdomen, tied up the bleeding vessels and after carefully filtering the blood transfused it into her system through her veins.

Shortly after this a man who had been the victim of an automobile accident was brought in with a hemorrhage from the liver. His abdomen was filled with blood, and this was drawn off by the surgical staff, who after treating the liver for the wound inflicted, filtered the blood and injected it through the arm.

In both cases the citrate method of blood transfusion was used to prevent coagulation. Every precaution was taken that the citrate was used in the correct proportions so that no serious results would follow when the blood was absorbed into the system.

New Orleans, July 20.—Belle Smith, 22-year-old negro, stabbed in the heart six weeks ago by her fiancé, Joseph Mott, is back at work at her place in the kitchen of a small restaurant here, authorities at Charity Hospital announced.

The woman was taken to the hospital in a dying condition. An eight-inch incision to the heart region revealed a cut one-half inch in length in the organ. Three stitches were made in the heart and about 2100 CC. of normal saline was injected with adrenalin added from time to time to strengthen the action of the organ which has become weak from loss of blood.

Blood transfusion was resorted to the following day and for four weeks the woman fought for life, then began to improve rapidly. She returned to work Saturday.

ORIGINAL SIR WALTER'S PIPE HAS A RIVAL
London, July 2.—(By Mail.)—The claim of Messrs. Alfred Dunhill, of London, that they possess Sir Walter Raleigh's pipe is disputed, according to an item in "The Westminster Gazette."

The sketch shows a pipe owned by Dr. R. T. Spencer, of Gorse Hill, Fishponds, Bristol. It is very similar to the one in London.

In sending the photograph, Mr. Spencer writes: "The pipe, to my recollection, was always referred to by my father as Sir Walter Raleigh's pipe, and I learned from him that it was presented, early in the last century, by a (then) retired general to my grandfather when the latter was a young man. My grandfather was born in 1806. That
