RILEY HORSE HAS STILL ANOTHER OWNER

Case Disposed of by Dismissal But There is a String to It

The Riley horse case is over for a time at least. The case has been postponed until today so that Mr. Harrison of Gondola Point could be summoned to come with the horse, the animal having been traced to his possession at the last session of the court. J. King Kelley, who appeared for the S. P. C., said that he had Mr. Harrison notified but that when he found that the latter had disposed of the horse a short time before, he thought it was no use to go any further.

The only object of the court in trying to find the horse was to see whether or not the animal was suffering, but since it was impossible to track it to its present owner, the case was decided on the evidence of those who had seen or dealt with the horse. Most of the transactions showed that the price paid in most cases averaged $50 and it appeared that the horse was good feed.

The magistrate dismissed the case, but said that if the horse was still left enough clothing to fit out almost as many more, excellent evidence of the ready generosity of the people of St. John.

With regard to the future plans of the army in carrying out the work which was cut short by the fire, Adjutant Cummings said this morning that Colonel Rees was now on his way from Toronto and was expected to arrive here tomorrow at noon. The adjutant said it was very likely that the army would not be rebuilt on the present site, but that a new building would probably be put up in a more central part of the city. These matters, however would be straightened out after the arrival of Colonel Rees, who is the social secretary for Canada.

Several members of the army were engaged this morning in taking from the office where they were situated on the ground floor of the building what books and papers as well as office furniture which were destroyed. The safe was opened and the contents found in good order.

Contrary to previous announcements the Magee building in Water street will not be used for sheltering the homeless men.

Provision for food for the men was made yesterday and men's tickets were issued in the hands of Mr. Walker, at the Seaman's Institute.

Speaking of the proposal to use the armory as a shelter until the army could complete their arrangements for the care of the men, Adjutant Cummings said this morning that he would be pleased to accept the task of looking after the place if the government would grant permission to house the men there.

It is felt that ample funds for the present have been secured, including a donation of $100 from J. S. Gregory, $50 from the Women's Canadian Club and some small donations.

Assistance by City.
Application has been made to the city for assistance in providing for the men, and it is probable that the circumstances may lead to the revival of the former city shelter for the army.

L. P. D. Tully, M.P.P.; R. F. Hayes, R. Mortimer Smith and Charles McEwen, representing the Seaman's Mission, waited upon Mayor Frink this morning to lay the situation before him. They requested that the city take action by individuals and organizations, and asked that the city take steps to put the matter on a more permanent basis.

It was agreed that the Salvation Army and the organization for dealing with these men, and it was decided that Adjutant Cummings should be asked to confer with the mayor this afternoon. Mayor Frink said that the city had formerly given the army $500 a year for this work, and that, under the circumstances, the grant might be revived.

Members of the Women's Council were among the very first to take action yesterday morning in behalf of those who suffered in the Metropole fire. The president and other members got busy on the telephone and then sent out and gathered in clothing which was among the first made available for distribution to the needy men.

NO PERMANENT PLACE YET FOR METROPOLE MEN

Salvation Army Social Secretary On His Way Here—Generosity of Citizens Marked—City Grant

No definite arrangements have yet been made for the caring permanently for the unfortunate men who were made homeless through the disastrous blaze in the Salvation Army Metropole. The majority of the men spent last night as protectionists in the central police station. Unless some arrangement can be made by either the city or the Salvation Army for sheltering the men tonight, they will be put up at the Seaman's Institute, the upstairs portion of which has been offered by the executive.

Hew Walker of the Seaman's Mission is looking after the distribution of clothes to the men and he told a Times reporter this morning that every man had received a complete outfit, from head to foot and there was still left enough clothing to fit out almost as many more, excellent evidence of the ready generosity of the people of St. John.

With regard to the future plans of the army in carrying out the work which was cut short by the fire, Adjutant Cummings said this morning that Colonel Rees was now on his way from Toronto and was expected to arrive here tomorrow at noon. ### EVIDENCE AGAINST THE ITALIAN IS TAKEN

Policeman Gosline Tells of Break and Chase—Articles Identified

Policeman Gosline gave evidence this morning in the case against Giovanni Bombasco, charged with breaking and entering the store of A. Y. Paterson on Saturday night. Investigation and listening for notes within made both Sergeant Smith and himself believe there was no one in the store and that the glass in the door had been broken from within. He detailed the chasing out of a man and the chase after him.

Policeman Gosline said he went back to the store and found an overcoat and a pair of shoes just inside the door. These articles were produced in court and the articles taken from the pockets as well. They included a card of ten gold filled watch chains, a pair of scissors, hair comb, piece of soap, tobacco, six lead pencils, three handkerchiefs and three letters and a postcard. One of the letters was from another Italian in Glace Bay referring to a partnership which had evidently existed between the two.

Most of the articles were identified by Mr. Paterson. He said everything was in order when he left the premises on Saturday night.

The prisoner was remanded until Saturday morning when other witnesses will be called. Asked how he felt this morning, he said that his feet were a little better though his head was still very painful.
