THE "FAKE" CONGRESS

In view of Mr. C. S. O. Boner's criticism of the action of the Congress at Berlin, the following criticism of the fake "National" congress made some time ago will be interesting to our readers:

The last session of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada will long be remembered for the important action taken to bring Canadian unions into closer and more definite relations with the unionism of the United States...

The relations of the Canadian Congress to the American Federation of Labor have rendered the organization the most active and financially aided work of the former, the great object of the American Federation of Labor being to unite in one vast organization the labor men of the continent...

From the foregoing statement of the broad facts of the labor situation it will be seen that the Congress became a hot ground between the Federation and certain opponents, of whom the Knights of Labor were the chief, the contest ending in a signal victory for the former.

While the difference between the Knights of Labor and the American Federation of Labor and the Congress may have influenced the decision, Congress determined upon the exclusion of the former on the ground that dual representation was undesirable...

Granting, however, that the Knights have a legitimate grievance against the Congress and that they have some reason for resisting the domination of the American Federation of Labor in the councils of that body...

There is of course no objection whatever to the formation of national unions in trades in which no international union already exists...

It is given as a reason for the formation of the National Congress that the original organization does not now aim to unite all the labor men of Canada. By declining representation, however, the new body deliberately shuts its doors in the face of the best union men in the country...

stance, a union of bricklayers with the members of which no other union men will work. In the same city is a local union affiliated with the International Bricklayers' Union, from which the members of the clandestine union first mentioned were expelled...

The international unions are the only organizations of labor on the continent. Orders of one kind and another, congresses and federations, rise and fall, but the international unions survive every storm and every crisis...

alliance, which could not be doing the demand created by the strike in 1920.

In one word, the proposed national unionism would be simply suicidal. A strike in Canada is different than a strike against an American capitalist...

Smart Reid, of Chicago, secretary of the Newspaper Writers' Union is the labor editor of the Chicago News. Mr. Reid was formerly a machinist, and still holds membership in Unity Lodge.

The English Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners was not established until 1860, but it grew very rapidly, and as far back as 1865 had 8,000 members, and expended in that year about $30,808.

The Hamilton Plumbers' Union is going to follow suit, and if "inhibition" is the highest form of flattery, it has not the carpenters, street railway employees and latterly the hairdressers - among other professions - who have decided it is now its turn to act.

When a manufacturer or set of manufacturers "close" operations and lay off hundreds of employees on account of a "glut in the market," or hold their output for a length of time to create a scarcity or demand, so as to be able to secure better prices for all right-it's "business."

land values that would have leaped upward, not wages. The Comstock Lode has been richer than the placers, but the Comstock lode was readily monopolized, and it is only by virtue of the strong organization of the Miner's Association and the fears of the damage which it might do, that enables men to get four dollars a day for parboiling themselves for ten hours underground...
