FRANCE AND THE HIERARCHY.

The bill abolishing the provisions of Napoleon's famous Concordat, and definitely separating church and state in France, passed by the French chamber of deputies Tuesday night, is the end of one long and bitter struggle and the beginning of another. For the blow to the Catholic hierarchy in France is a severe one, and will certainly not be accepted without a conflict between Rome and Paris that may vie in dramatic interest with all that has occurred under Premiers Waldeck-Rousseau and Combes, the immediate predecessors of the present Premier Roubiev, what anti-clerical French organs style "the stamping out of the plague of Vaticanism."

Under the Concordat signed by Pius VII. and Napoleon the Catholic church was made a part of the state, in that all church edifices were government property and the clergy were paid directly by the government, which also controlled the administration of the church's worldly affairs. Now that the church has lost its standing the salaries of all its officials will be cut off and Catholics will have no more right to worship in the cathedrals and other places of worship which have hitherto been theirs than have the members of any other religious sect or association.

A non-French daily, the democratic Frankfurter Zeitung, touches upon this point in its review of the whole situation: "Hitherto the concordat has held the form of the French church together with iron bands, and every fissure, every cleavage has been prevented. In the future the state will know no Catholic church, no French church, recognizing simply the associations for worship, the individual communities and the diocesan associations. It is possible that side by side with the strongly clerical associations for worship will exist progressive associations, which will have equally good claims to the church property and to the use of edifices for worship. In the recent session of the concordat commission this question came up for discussion and the unanimous opinion was that such cases were not to be settled by decrees but must be decided by the courts. But as the courts themselves do not recognize any one church in particular under a system of separation of church and state, but recognize only unions for worship, the courts will have to regard all such unions impartially and to undertake an impartial distribution of ecclesiastical property. It is well known that the groups of free thinkers have set about the organization of free thinking unions which will have the same rights to use the edifices of worship for their meetings, celebrations and ceremonies that is enjoyed by the Roman Catholic unions."

European, a well informed Liberal weekly of Paris, looks for violent resistance from the Catholic clergy, not only on this ground, but for the reason that the priests and bishops who are now deprived of their stipends have made no financial preparations for this revolution. The majority of the bishops have done nothing, chiefly because the money hitherto taken in church collections has gone to the religious orders rather than to themselves, but also because they are old men and the concordatory system has induced in them the habit of doing as little as possible in order not to displease either the government, which could suspend their stipends, or the Pope, who could excommunicate them. This unpreparedness, it is thought, will result in extreme forms of resistance on the part of the more bellicose priests.

On the whole, though the French anticlericals are apparently much elated with this victory, there is a long conflict ahead before any beneficial results from this advance can be felt.

DANGER OF WAR.

The news that the Swedish army is to be mobilized is ominous. It may not mean immediate war but it will certainly increase the tension between the two countries, which is already stretched nearly to the breaking point. And if war does come, while it may not assume the proportions of the far eastern struggle, it will be no comic opera affair. Both nations inherit the old Viking spirit and both have the facilities to conduct war on a scale that means much bloodshed and destruction. Sweden has a larger population and a greater army and navy. She has a thorough military organization, by which, under a new law, every Swede owes military service from the age of 21 for twenty years in the various classes of the active and reserve forces. The navy consists of nine third-class battleships, sixteen coast-defence vessels, one cruiser of the first-class, three cruisers of the third-class, and eight sea-going gunboats, besides a considerable torpedo-boat flotilla and other minor vessels, altogether carrying 90 heavy guns and a force of 4,700 men.

Norway is put down as carrying 30,000 troops of the line and 50,000 in the reserves, called the Landvaern and the Landsturm; while her navy consists of four third-class battleships, four coast-defence ships, one first-class and one second-class cruiser, thirteen sea-going gunboats, and thirty-three torpedo vessels, all with eighty-four heavy guns and a force of 2,800. But on the other hand, Norway has in its mountains a system of impregnable fortresses which increase its defensive capabilities five-fold and make certain that any war would be a long one.

MIDSUMMER SONG.

Dawnings of adage and amethyst eyes;
Soft in the south wind with laughter
of leaves;
Breath of the poppy and death of the rose—
Midsummer comes and midsummer goes!

Dapple on cheek of the apple and plum;
Honey-bees droning a dis-away hum;
Swales in a shimmer and daisies in a dose—
Midsummer comes and midsummer goes!

Darling of dragon-fly, flutter of moth;
Barley in windrow and wheat in the swath;
Hush-song and thrush-song—the moan
of their bird know—
Midsummer comes and midsummer goes!

Moonlight and moonlight all glamour and gleam;
Hillside and hillside a thrill to the Capture the rapture before the days close—
Midsummer comes and midsummer goes!

GREAT INTEREST AT

I.O.G.T. SESSION TODAY.

NORTON, July 4.—The third session of Grand Lodge of Ontario, the grand chief templar in the chair. There was a large attendance of both officers and members. After the opening ceremonies and the reading and passing of the minutes, communications were read from the Rev. W. Lawson of Bayfield, expressing regret at his unavoidable absence, and from the grand scribe of the Sons of Templars for reunited temple work. It was resolved that the vote of thanks of the Grand Lodge be presented to Fidelity Lodge and to the friends in Norton, for the generous hospitality provided for this Grand Lodge and for the enjoyable entertainment provided at the close of last evening's meeting. The motion was unanimously carried.

It was resolved that the grand council send a telegram to the Grand Lodge of Nova Scotia, now in session at Stellarton, expressing kindest greetings. The report of the committee on appeals was presented, showing that a good field had been covered and expressing its gratification at the showing. The report was adopted. The finance committee's report was adopted as follows: (1) That the grand templar's salary be $100; (2) That $50 be set aside for juvenile work; (3) That the rebate of payments to delegates be discontinued. The committee showed its satisfaction at the favorable condition of the finances as shown by the report. The auditor's report was accepted as correct, and was adopted. The committee on the state of the order presented its report. The annual report of the officers was endorsed with great satisfaction by the lodge. The committee endorsed the proposition for the re-organization of Mr. Breese as general lecturer. The grand scribe encouraged to note that this order is again taking its proper place among the great forces for reform in this province. The meeting adjourned till 2 p. m.

GIRL'S ASSAULT LYNDEN.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ky., July 5.—Jas. Lyon who was charged with assaulting Miss Mary Gladder, was taken from the jail by a mob of one hundred men, shortly before midnight and it is supposed that he was lynched. When the mob reached the jail three other men prisoners on a similar charge, crawled up the iron railing and hid in the big water tank near the ceiling. When the crowd got well inside John Sack, whose trial has been in progress since Monday, dropped to the floor and rushed out of the door. He met the sheriff and his deputies outside the jail-yard and they ordered him to stop. He rushed on and they shot him twice. Neither wound is thought to be fatal. The shooting frightened the mob in the jail and they hurried off with Lyon, leaving the two others in the jail. It is supposed that Lyon was hanged in the outskirts of the town.

Glasses the right kind, at D. Boyaner, Graduate Optician, 651 Main street. Detective Roberts had in his possession today the weapon with which Riggs attempted suicide on the train. Riggs had eaten an orange and taken a drink of water and was making every attempt to get his guard to leave him when he asked the name of a Mr. Brennan of St. John, who had been sitting in the seat talking to Roberts. Mr. Roberts turned his head to take a look at Mr. Brennan, and, as he did, Riggs made a blow for his own throat with a veterinary's knife or lance which he carried.

The closing exercises of South Bay school were held Thursday night, June 28th, a large number of parents and friends enjoyed the evening's exercises. The school room was prettily decorated with black-board drawings, pictures, flowers and flags. A musical programme was carried out. The Grade VI. and Grade I. prizes were given by Mrs. Chas. F. Robertson of Regina (Assn.), who has taken a very kind interest in the school. The school is under the management of Miss Grace H. Waring. Ole Janzen, the Swede recently arrested here for theft, is under a second charge of absconding with a horse and carriage at Hopewell Cape. Sheriff Lynds of Hopewell, came to the city Monday searching for him and recognized Janzen at the police station and his man. The Swede will probably be turned over to the Albert Co. authorities. B. B. Jordan, who retired from the post office on July 1, and his brother, LeB. B. Jordan, will form a business partnership and open a grocery store on the Marsh Road. The new quarters are now being fitted up.
