AUSTRIANS RESENT

Fear they Will Be Dragged by Germany

The position of Count Goluchowsk who has recently been decorated by the German emperor for services rendered in connection with the Algeciras conference, has been shaken for a long time, and yesterday and today he was the subject of grave attacks in the Hungarian Delegations. Almost all the speakers planny expressed distrust in his policy and summoned him to re-

In the main the speeches made by members of the coalition were directed against Austria's relations to Germany. The latter, it was pointed out, with her daily extending interests in all parts of the world, was necessarily more liable to get involved in war than was Austria, whose interests remain in the narrow limits of this continent. CAUSES DEATH St. Andrew's —Other Temperatures

BOSTON, July 17-One death and BOSTON, July 17—One death and sixteen cases of prostration due to heat, a season's temperature record and unusually high humidity tell in brief the story of today's oppressively sultry conditions in this city. Contrary to the general laws covering hot days the temperature increased as the day advanced, and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon the mercury registered a maximum temperature of 38 degrees, as against 84 degrees registered at noon. Brass Quoits

At 8 o'clock this morning the rela tive humidity was 85 and 9 o'clock tonight it was 86. Some relief came shortly before 6 o'clock this evening when a slight rain fell for nearly two hours. The rain, however, did not bring the coolness and comfort ex-pected, the total amount of precipita-tion being only six one-hundredths of

The combined heat and humidity caused the death of Michael McGinnis, 62 years old. He was overcome on the street near his home in Charlestown and died before aid could reach him.

The hospitals in the down town section were kept busy treating cases of prostration, 16 persons receiving medical aid during the day. Most of these cases were complete prostration, while in a few instances the patients were heat.

The heat was felt throughout the northern and eastern sections of New England, but in a number of places thunderstorms brought relief. At Manchester, N. H., two buildings were struck by lightning. The highest temperature of the season was reported in a number of New England cities.

AUGUSTA, Me., July 17.—Today has been the hottest of the season. The mercury indicated from 87 to 90 and the humidity was very marked.
