

DRY OFFICER WARNS WOMEN OF LIGHT WINE PROPAGANDA

"Personal Liberty" Plea Called Dangerous Effort of Whisky Interests to Rescue Their Lost Cause.

New York, May 28.—(By Mail).—At a recent church service, William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, expressed the utmost gratification at the manner in which the Eighteenth Amendment is being enforced but at the same time sounded a note of warning, calling on proponents of a "dry America" to keep their lamps trimmed and burning. "For the reason that a vast amount of insidious propaganda is being distributed through direct channels in a last 'lost hope' stand of the wet forces."

It is a regrettable fact, noted particularly by the friends of law enforcement, that a number of women are being won over by the wet propaganda to a "lost cause" about which they are none too well informed. Several prominent New York women recently, have accepted honorary offices in the women's division of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Campaign for Light Wines

The work of the women, it is pointed out, is to spread a light for legalizing light wines and beer. This, it is asserted, is merely a foil or "smoke screen" by the use of which the whisky element hopes to bring back its notorious trade. Commenting on this particular phase of effort against the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act, Mr. Anderson said:

"So-called light wines and beer propaganda tools a lot of respectable, law-abiding people who are not informed as to the reasons that would follow the adoption of a law authorizing their manufacture and sale. This attempt on the part of the wets to secure the passage of such a measure in both subtle and insidious ways, light wines and beer, naturally are popular. The taste for them is much more easily acquired than for the stronger alcoholic concoctions, such as whisky, brandy, rum or gin."

"The taste of the latter is at first repugnant to most people and consequently the habit is slow to acquire. For this very fact the United States would be safer with a law allowing the manufacture and sale of whisky rather than one legalizing light wines and beer. The former is consumed largely for the 'kick' while the latter more easily becomes a habit."

"Light wine, so called, contains about 10 per cent alcohol, while beer carries from 3.3 to 6 per cent. of alcohol. That is the 'harmless' stuff the anti-prohibitionists wish to have legalized and it is, indeed, surprising to discover the number of people who are asleep to just what the result would be to the National were such a thing to eventuate."

Benefits of Prohibition Evident

"This 'harmless' beer of the wets induces, after a person has consumed two or three glasses, heaviness and stupidity such as is common in Germany and other beer-drinking countries. 'We do not want that sort of condition in this country, where prohibition already has shown so fast improvement, even though it has been in operation but a short time. Light wine and beer, to my mind, present dangerously insidious propaganda. The prohibitionist should awaken to the situation and be on the alert at all times to combat any efforts that the wets may make, no matter under what guise."

"Many social and business leaders of wealth in New York City have presented an astounding and appalling spectacle on this question of disregard for law and of selfish insistence upon a fictitious personal liberty and the gratification of appetite at the expense of the public welfare. There is no explanation which adequately accounts for such an attitude except the degenerating effect of alcohol upon the human mind and body, and the disintegrating influence upon the social organism of the traffic in alcohol for beverage purposes."

However, Mr. Anderson does not look too long on the "dark side" of the work of making effective the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act. Commenting on the recent reports of wholesale smuggling of contraband liquor into New York City, by way of the Canadian border and by way of New York harbor, he becomes most optimistic, assuming the attitude that this again may be "wet" propaganda. "The fact is that the great deal of liquor is being smuggled into this city and country but, on the other hand, he is most insistent that "a much greater amount is being kept out." On this question he said:

Contraband Called "Bad Stuff"

"We hear a lot of noise about the smuggling tactics but the best information we get is the fact that automobiles instead of freight trains are now bringing in the contraband stuff. An automobile load is not enough but nothing to compare to a train load. When the general public realizes that a great deal of smuggled liquor—alleged to be good—is either very inferior stuff from abroad or even poorer stuff manufactured right here, the bootleggers and smugglers' traffic will be wiped out. Cuban whiskey is very bad stuff, practically raw alcohol made from molasses and by-products of the sugar industry. People are fast finding out these facts."

"The saloon is being suppressed and prohibition prohibits today better than ever regulations regulated prior to the enactment of the prohibition laws. Sunday sales to minors, election-day and week-day violations of the law have been largely eliminated and there are less violations now than under the license system."

"There is less drinking, less crime and less drunkenness now than before the Eighteenth Amendment went into effect. That amendment is a genuine success, all things considered. The 'die hards' always make a loud noise and that is what is happening today with the wets. Prohibition is here to stay and, even in its early stages, it is a success."

"The Eighteenth Amendment is held up by the opponents of prohibition as the only law that openly is violated. According to the papers there was an increase of 175 per cent in automobile thefts in 1921 over 1920. Other laws and regulations of the city, state and nation are violated almost daily, and frequently by supposedly law-abiding and perfectly respectable citizens. The Eighteenth Amendment is not the only law that is violated, despite the cry to the contrary of the wets."

At The Crossroads

By HARRIET T. COMSTOCK.

Brace Northrup, in his early twenties, is unhappy, rebellious, and hopeless; he is trying to support his mother by doing newspaper work. His doctor suggests a long walking trip. Northrup leaves his mother and the shallow girl to whom he is engaged, and starts away. The adventure he meets at the little yellow house near Kings' Forest, the puzzling girl in rough trousers, cap, and boots, brings to light the primitive part of his nature that had been obscured.

Mary Clare, the girl, an idealistic and natural mystic stimulates Northrup so that he can write. As in all of Harriet Comstock's novels, the spirit of outdoors predominates. Northrup finds his balm in open spaces. Mary is of the bigness of Nature and the woods and the wilderness. Their story reflects the fragrance of the hills, fields, and forests.

Easy Way to Remove Freckles and Blemishes

Some women have skin of such texture they occasionally are annoyed by the sudden appearance of freckles, slight eruptions or fine lines. Sun and wind usually play havoc with skin of that kind. In such cases if one will procure an ounce of ordinary mercuric iodine, or a few drops of the same, and apply it to the face, the freckles are removed in this way in a week or so, with all its defects. No bleach could so effectively remove freckles or other cutaneous blemishes. The new surface is smooth, clear, fresh looking. No harm or inconvenience accompanies this simple treatment.

Berlin, June 12.—The question has been raised in the Prussian Diet whether it would not be advisable to tax foreigners, since their presence in large numbers is causing an advance in the price of food.

It is probable that the Minister of the Interior will reply to the question. The possibility of further taxation in this direction, in conformity with the Treaty of Versailles and the tax now levied on hotel rooms, already has been considered. Individual communities may be authorized to levy an indirect tax on foreigners.

Annual Report Of General Secretary

Miss Innes MacKenzie Presents Interesting Summary of Y. W. C. A. Work for Past Year.

Miss Innes MacKenzie, general secretary, presented the following report at the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association held on Friday evening, May 26, giving a summary of the year's work.

Oliver Wendell Holmes has said "that the great thing in this world is not so much where you are standing as in what direction you are going." So, as we bring you the work of the past year, we would ask you not to look at the past months, but to read between the lines the reports and see in what direction the activities have been leading. Duty and constitutional law are the only excuse we can offer for presenting the work of the association, which must become monotonous and almost tiresome, notwithstanding the many new enterprises which may have been undertaken.

The story of the year's work is to present only a fragment of the association's activities, which seems, as we look back, to be only in the making. The reports presented by the convener of committees and the heads of departments, which have shown that the aim has been not only to benefit the girls and young women, but to secure for the community the highest type of service.

The movement has been one which, through the energy and faithfulness of our president, the co-operation and association with a small group of women, has made it easier for the girls of yesterday and today. There is nothing wonderful or novel about what has been accomplished, but the days have been crowded with new problems and many difficulties, and with larger opportunities and greater privileges.

There has been evidence of vitality and reality, and the fourfold standard of the association carried forward. We trust that even in this time of rapid transit of thought and action we have not failed to listen to God's signs, but rather have felt His power in every effort.

A worker once said: "I wish, like the Lady of Shalott, I had a great mirror, only instead of having it reflect the world, I might show to the people of any city that the four letters of the Young Women's Christian Association means to its girls in the way of friendship, recreation, education, home, and religion."

Very briefly we would touch on these departments and their relation to the association as a power for good.

Physical director of any association has a dual profession, striving to advance its ideas in general and to be efficient as a teacher of physical education and hygiene. All who have been associated with Miss Littlefield during the last two years feel that she has ably filled this call. Through her earnestness and efficiency this department has been brought to the place it holds in the community today, and we feel that through it many girls and young women have been taught the value of physical education, and have been helped to steadiness of purpose.

The Young Women's Christian Association is an organization which insists upon the fact that work is not to be done but rather work with girls. The hardest work in the world is the process of growing up, and one of the biggest of our work is to help girls to understand of youth, that when it verges elude guidance it may at least be understood.

A special feature of the past year has been to organize clubs and the convener of the girls' work have shown something of what has been accomplished through them. There never was a time when more earnest thought and effort have been directed in the study of the girl in her teens. The Y. W. C. A. has tried to keep abreast with any movement that will help to the formation in girlhood habits that reformation when grown up. This is a psychological moment in the life of a girl, and a wonderful opportunity is offered to those who are interested in the adolescent girl, and will help her to become a woman.

Much has been done, but much is yet to be done, and we are hoping that the co-operation of the churches, social workers, Canadian girls in training committee, and financial support of friends, this tremendous undertaking may be in a measure accomplished. Personally, and as general secretary, I would thank the convener of the girls' work committee, and the leader of the senior physical classes, and Miss Jean Somerville for the splendid help they have given in this work. It has been a privilege and much to the girls of our city.

When the first girl away from home brought her carpet bag to the first Y. W. C. A. boarding home, over fifty years ago, no one thought that in every country in the world a resident branch of the association would be demanded. Reports have given some idea of the place, even in a very small way, this department holds today in the housing question of St. John. Much of the credit is due to the untiring Miss Sellers, for the home atmosphere created amid somewhat unattractive surroundings.

Fifty years ago the girls had to follow their work to the cities, where machines had taken the place of the spinning wheel. Today they are in the forefront of the industrial world, and the manufacturer, the merchant, the officer manager, could not meet the demands of the public were it not for the young women and girls who are serving them.

Not Returnable.

Mother—"My, my, what's to be done with the baby—she does nothing but cry!"

Little Sister—"Can't you exchange it for one that don't cry?"

Are You Human?

A little baby. A little child. Don't they appeal to you? Doesn't your heart yearn to pick them up, to cuddle them close to you, to shield them from all harm? sure it does else you're not human. Being human you love them. Their very helplessness makes you reach out in all your strength to aid them. In health there's no flower so beautiful. In illness there's no sight so black.

Save them then. Use every precaution. Take no chance. When sickness comes, as sickness will, remember it's just a baby, just a child and if the Physician isn't at hand don't try some remedy that you may have around the house for your own use.

Fletcher's Castoria was made especially for babies' ills and you can use it with perfect safety as any doctor will tell you. Keep it in the house.

A Word About Truth.

"Great is Truth, and mighty above all things." So says the Old Testament, yet it is equally true to-day. Truth shows us heaven, fears no enemies.

From the inception of Fletcher's Castoria, Truth has been the watchword, and to the conscientious adherence to this motto in the preparation of Fletcher's Castoria as well as in its advertising is due the secret of its popular demand.

All imitations, all substitutes, all just-as-good preparations lack the element of Truth, lack the righteousness of being, lack all semblance even in the words of those who would deceive.

And you! Mothers, mothers with the fate of the World in your hands, can you be deceived? Certainly not.

Fletcher's Castoria is prepared for Infants and Children. It is distinctly a remedy for the little ones. The BABY'S need for a medicine to take the place of Castor Oil, Paregoric and Soothing Syrup was the sole thought that led to its discovery. Never try to correct BABY'S troubles with a medicine that you would use for yourself.
