Under- Currents By The Duchess

blished elaborate meal goes for, little, save as a thing for surprised comment first and for laughter afterwards. But after a while the monotony of it offends.

"If it light even be cutlets one day," says Griselda, when a week of unvaried chop has gone by. No soup, no fish, no puddings. One etcetera, indeed, is allowed: the butler, and with him a dish containing three potatoes—one for Vera, one for Griselda, and one over, in case either of them should have appetites so voracious as to require it. Could generosity further go?

They are, however, as I have said, sufficiently young to care little for the culinary goods the gods provide; and one great source of joy at least is that, at none of these sumptuous banquets does their uncle (wise man) appear. How he spends his days—what occupations, what enjoyments, are his, they never know; one thing, however, they discover that, dead as he may be to the human world around him, soiled his heart, it is still open to the divine influence of flowers.

Beyond the parterre that had met their eyes when first they arrived, they discovered later on a small but perfect garden, through which a tiny streamlet rushes merrily on its joyous way to the broad river below down; a garden where myriads of blossoms live and thrive, and bloom, as it seems to Vera, as never flowers bloomed before, easting with every breeze their scented breaths upon the air. Such a delicious, old-fashioned spot! A very world of sweetness. That it should be so long to Gregory's Desert, that it should touch or affect that cold and sordid nature in any way, seems to Vera inexplicable. Rather it would seem to her that such gentle things as flowers would fade away and shrivel up and die beneath the glance of those wicked scorching eyes. But,

In all places, then, and in all seasons, Flowers expand their light and soul-like wings;

Teaching us, by the most persuasive reasons, How akin they are to human things.

And with childlike, credulous affection, We behold their tender buds expand; Emblems of our own great resurrection. Emblems of the bright and better land.

How Mr. Dysart regards them, and what lessons they teach him, there is nothing to show; but every evening, when the sun has gone down, and the air is yet warm with the memory of it, the old man emerges from his den, and slowly now, and now with quickening footsteps, walks from flower to flower, his face, so unearthly in its pallor, bent towards each delicate blossom.

The deaf old coachman is, they discover, gardener as well, in name, the real work being done by a young man, called Bob, who has grown up at Greycourt from boy to man, and who still works on there at the original wage, though he has long ceased to give only a boy's labour—not without grumblings, however, and much discontent.

To-day has arisen in an unwonted splendour. Even through the eternal shadows that encompass the garden, and past the thick yew hedge, the hot beams of the sun are stealing.

"A day for gods and goddesses," cries Griselda, springing suddenly to her feet, and flinging far from her on the greensward the musty volume she had purloined from the musty library about an hour ago. That library, too, had failed them; no book of any value, no book that could fetch even a meagre price, has there a home. It has been well weeded out, and the marketable portion of it sold. "Away with such fudge," said Vera, into those green woods yonder; see how temptingly cool they look!"

"Uncle Gregory said something, didn't he, about our not leaving the garden?" says Vera with hesitation. "I'm always sorry I'm so deaf," with a mischievous little laugh. "I never hear thing like that. And besides—a fig for Uncle Gregory! An old fossil like that shouldn't dare preach to a lovely young creature like me. 'Do not make acquaintance with your neighbours,' said he; that is all of his dark sayings that I have taken to heart. I say, Vera, do come. Do, now. Here, I'll pull that book out of your hands if you don't."

"Oh, don't don't," laughing. "To tell you the truth it isn't so much a decent awe of Uncle Gregory as

She Took "FRUIT-A-TIVES" Instead, And Is Now in Perfect Health.

MME. F. GAREAU

153 Papineau Ave., Montreal.

"For three years, I suffered great pain in the lower part of my body, with swelling or bloating. I saw a specialist, who carefully examined me and gave me several tonics to take, which did not help me. Then he told me I must undergo an operation. This I refused to permit.

I heard about 'Fruit-a-tives' and the wonderful results it was giving from fruit juices, so decided to try it.

The first box gave great relief; and I continued the treatment, taking six boxes more. Now, my health is excellent—I am free of pain and swelling—and I give 'Fruit-a-tives' my warmest thanks."

Can we save it?

We should say we can. We have yet to see a tire we could not rebuild with our expert vulcanizing process—unless, of course, it was dying of old age and abuse.

HAVE ROSY CHEEKS
—AND FEEL FRESH AS A DAISY—TRY THIS!

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatism, twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid are assured that one week of inside bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.

a dislike to exertion on this hot day that keeps me chained to this seat. There, go, if you will; but don't stay away too long."

"Perhaps I'll never come back. The spirit of adventure is full upon me, and who knows what demons inhabit that unknown wood? So, fare thee well, sweet, my love! and when you see me, expect me."

She presses a sentimental kiss upon her sister's brow, avowing that a 'brow' is the only applicable part of her for such a solemn occasion, and runs lightly down towards the hedge. Half-way there, however, she looks back. "Vera, Vera, if I shouldn't be back in time for the succulent chop, eat mine too. If you don't, some horrid thought tells me we shall have a rehearsal to-morrow."

She runs through one of the openings in the hedge, crossed the gravelled path, and, mounting the para-

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.
