

Man as He is and What He Should be. ❧

REAL LIFE.

MEN, high and low alike, admit that there is a God ; infidels and sceptics at their latter end fear and quake ; millionaires cry, "A million of money for a moment of time." Men curse and swear to-day, to-morrow they are in eternity. Oh, what will be the case with you, dear reader? Please don't ask who this is that is speaking, but rather ask yourself, Who is this Great God with whom we all have to do? Oh that I had a tongue of fire, or the gift of an orator, that I could impress upon your mind this one thing that you already know.

Is it not appalling in the extreme when we notice what a lack of deep spirituality there is existing in the average church goer of to-day? yes, even in the average church member? when
