THE ACADIAN

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JAN. 2nd 1891.

The New Year 1891.

The year 1890, with all its pleasures and sorrows—all its failures and successes—is past and gone; and as we stand to-day on the threshold of the new year, 1891, all untried and unknown before us, we take a wistful glance back over the year that is gone and a hopeful look forward. With us in Canada the year 1890 has dealt kindly, leaving a record of progress made in every direction. In trade, in population, in manufactures and in mining there has been healthy development and steady increase.

The Baptist Year Book.

We have received the Baptist Year Book for 1890. It is well got up as usual and contains 220 pages abounding in facts and figures. First comes the minutes of the late convention at Yarmouth, followed by the reports of the foreign mission board, the home missions, educational institutions, ministerial education. Then come the minutes and statistics of the churches as presented to the eight associations of the Lower Provinces—four in Nova Scotia, three in New Brunswick, and one in Prince Edward Island.

Cornwallis Valley Railway.

This new line of railway which was commenced about two years ago, was opened for traffic on Monday last. It extends from Kentville to Kingsport, a distance of fourteen miles, through a rich agricultural district which is noted for its fine fruit. Prof. Butler, King's College, the engineer in charge, located the line, designed all the works, and superintended their construction, either personally, or by persons acting under his directions. There is only one bridge, of iron, over the Cornwallis river at Kentville, 80 ft. span, stone abutments and plate girder. The culverts are principally of masonry. There are three trestles spanning the Habitant at Canning, and two crossings of the Canard stream. The longest of these is at Canning, and measures 120 feet. The largest cutting occurs upon the summit between Centerville and Kentville, is 1000 feet long, the greatest depth being ten feet. The heaviest embankment is across Dr Miller's interval at Canning, which attains a height of over sixteen feet from the original surface to form a trestle line, and follows the somewhat heavy cutting through the village of Canning, where considerable difficulty has been encountered on account of quicksands. Another heavy cutting occurs at Kingsport, giving access to the pier. There are four principal stations—Kentville, Canard, Canning, and Kingsport. The station at Canning is very conveniently situated almost in the centre of the village, with sidings at Steam Mill Village, Rand's Crossing near Canning and at Percen Road.

The Directors have met with a good deal of encouragement as regards traffic, and arrangements are now completed at the pier at Kingsport for leading steamers direct from the cars, for England, the West Indies and other points. The line extends to the end of the pier, which is a great advantage to the shipper. At certain seasons the local traffic will be heavy, and the line, though only a short one, will supply a want long felt by the people of the beautiful Cornwallis Valley, and with good management should prove a paying investment. The road was of fairly easy construction, and the cost has not therefore been excessive, probably between $175,000 to $200,000. The company succeeded in securing subsidies from both local and Dominion governments, to the extent of $6,400 per mile, and the right of way costing $17,000 was given by the county. The leading residents all along the line have taken a deep interest in the enterprise from the very outset, none more so than Mr. Borden, M. P., who deserves credit for the share he has taken in the project.

Canard News.

An unusual stir has lately been created by the weddings that have already occurred. And it appears to be no idle rumor that more of the same nature will follow as soon as "Father Time" can find it convenient to place them. It is rumored that one of our young ladies has received this Christmas the most protracted regards of a gentleman friend!! Aye more—It is to be hoped that these regards shall not be too much drawn out, rather let them come to a focus.

The children of the Upper and Lower Canard Sunday-schools have been made very happy these holidays. On appointed evenings they were called together, and very nice presents were given to them from a tastefully decorated and well laden Christmas tree. For the benefit of the Sunday-school a tea was provided of which the scholars partook free, while a charge was made to the others present. Some of the ladies of the church deserve great credit for the great pains they took in the preparation. We are pleased to note that Mrs. A. S. Harris, who has been confined to the house since summer, is now able to drive out occasionally. For quite a time Mrs. Harris' condition was considered very critical.

The passing of the McKinley bill has had an injurious effect upon the Canard hens. The supply lately has not been equal to the demand for wedding cake. The new digest of Criminal Law in Canada, by Hon. G. W. Burbridge of the Exchequer Court, is receiving high commendation. The honorable gentleman is well known in this his native place. Wishing the editor and all readers of THE ACADIAN a prosperous New Year. ROBERTO.

"Imitation is the Sincerest Form of Flattery."

THE best proof that MINARD'S LINIMENT has extraordinary merits, and is in good repute with the public, is THAT IT IS SO EXTENSIVELY IMITATED. These imitations resemble the genuine MINARD'S LINIMENT in appearance only. THEY LACK THE GENERAL EXCELLENCE OF THE GENUINE.

This notice is necessary, as injurious and dangerous imitations, LIABLE TO PRODUCE CHRONIC INFLAMMATION OF THE SKIN, are often substituted for MINARD'S LINIMENT because they pay a larger profit. Insist upon having remembering that any substitution by the seller, or one SAID TO BE THE SAME is in his interests.

Some twenty-five native microscopists.

The work for home missions, including aid to Manitoba, receives $8,233. The firm ministers and families of deceased pastors received some $2,000, and young ministerial students $500. The churches contributed $3,000 to help sustain Acadia College, which had 134 undergraduates last year. In all 294 young men and women attended their educational institutions during the year. The Baptist statistics of the world, on page 199, show 39,690 churches, with 25,946 ministers and 3,701,982 church members.

Lower Horton Presbyterian Church.

The church building commenced a few months ago by the above named congregation on land purchased from Messrs Stewart Bros. is now completed. The building is 56 feet in length by 38 feet in breadth, with a square tower on the north-east corner in which the main entrance to the auditorium is situated. This room is 37 feet square and sealed through with spruce sheathing finished with imitation black walnut. The pews—forty-five in number—are arranged in circular form and all face the pulpit, which is situated in the south-west corner. All the pews are cushioned with crimson damask, the upholstery of which was under the direction of Mr. W. Reed, of Berwick. The pulpit furniture, which is from the establishment of J. Quigley & Co., of Halifax, is of black walnut, upholstered in crimson plush. The windows are of stained glass with metal frame. The vestry is situated in the rear of the audience room, with which it is connected by folding doors, and which if occasion requires can be made to form part of the main room, is 27 feet long by 17 feet in breadth. The building is heated with a furnace supplied by Messrs Pineo & Clark, of Berwick. The whole makes one of the finest churches in the county. The contractor was Mr. D. A. Munro, of this place, his master-builder being Mr. J. D. Somerville, of Berwick. The masonry work was done by Mr. T. G. Sutherland, of Hantsport, and the painting by Mr. A. S. Killam, of Wolfville. This church which will be officially known as "Chalmers" will be dedicated on Sunday next at 2.30 p.m., which occasion the Rev. Principal Street, D. D. of Dalhousie College, will perform the service, to which the cordially invited.
