WHY NOT CONSIDER IT?

Now that the rush of work is over, our readers in town can do some planning for the labors of a new year. One of the important items which should be given most earnest as well as serious consideration to, is that of providing alleys or streets through the large blocks and squares into which the Town is divided. On some blocks there are five or six residences on one side, usually facing the east, and three or more homes on the west side facing the opposite direction, thus making the back yards of each home on such blocks, in the center, where coralls, barns and sheds are built. The serious condition confronting such residents is that there is no means of egress or ingress to their properties unless fortunately situated on the street line, then in such cases the side-walks are utilized more than should be allowed, to get the use of the adjoining properties.

An easy way to remedy this difficulty would be to have an alley or center street say twenty feet wide through the block from north to south, ten feet from each property running back to said lane, thus avoiding a necessity which has come to some property holders near main street where values are higher and conditions not altogether agreeable, of paying what seems to be a pretty high figure for the land although offered at half the real value.

OUR NEW COUNCIL

A word about our new council. Mayor Brown and J. C. Cahoon, need no introduction, as their abilities are already known to the Cardston rate-payers. The two new members this year are C. Burt and J. Holmes. Mr. Burt is a young man in years, but is also a man of business ability. The other member Mr. Holmes, is already known to the public, having served faithfully during the past year on the Board of Health, of which he is chairman. With such men as these, together with Messrs. J. Hunt, H. Stacpoole and M. A. Coombs, and the support of the public, we can predict good administration for next year.
