C.P.R. President Talks on Thrift to Boy Scouts

Thrift is a word which is said to have come into the English language over a thousand years ago from the Scandinavian. It is the noun of which "thrive" is the verb, and suggests that success and saving go together. The very word THRIFT is a good word to look at. It is an outstanding word and at once makes one think of sturdy simplicity, the kind of quality which one associated with a Boy Scout. How different in appearance is its opposite EXTRAVAGANCE, a word which at once suggests an ostentatious irregular character, boastful as well as wasteful.

Services to Community. Now thrift means saving money and miserliness means saving money, but they are not the same kind of saving. The thrifty person saves money for a purpose, the miser saves money for himself. The thrifty person saves so as to have a bank account against bad times. His thrift has for its object independence and security, and is therefore in accordance with the Scout law. But miserliness is purely selfish, whereas a Scout is told to be thrifty so that among other things he may have money with which to help others when they need it. The Scout must be careful not to carry his thrift too far. You usually find that the thrifty person has a bank account, whereas the miser keeps his money in a stocking where it can do no good because it is not kept in circulation. The thrifty person puts his money where it draws interest, thus adding to what he already has got, and also performing a service to the community.

By letting the community have the use of his money while he is not spending it, the thrifty person does a service to the community for which the community is willing to pay interest. The community, however, has just as little use for the miser as for the spendthrift.

FAITHFUL UNTO DEATH.

Mike McGuffin and Jerry McGuffin, nationally famous, had been buddies in the rock-blasting gang. Owing to a premature explosion, Jerry was not blasted with the rock, and Mike, in a quandary, wired for instructions. He was told to ship the remains to the nearest undertaker.

Mike scrupulously gathered up all McGuffin's belongings, even to the broken clay pipe, and sent them to the undertaker with this telegram: "As per orders of the boss I ship you the remains of Jerry McGuffin. But what will I do with the body?"

In almost every town and village can be found at least one old building which, on account of its excellent preservation, is a standing monument to the protection which good paint affords. The surface has been saved and in consequence all has been preserved—and Time, that great tester of quality, has given the stamp of approval.

Why I Can Sell at Such Low Prices

In the first place, I buy the skins direct from the Trappers and Indians for cash, and am the largest cash buyer of furs in Canada. Then, I sell direct to you for cash. This method saves you the various middlemen's profits, the fur dealer, the wholesaler, the retailer, high store rent, sales clerks' salaries, bad accounts, etc.

Another big advantage is you can see the fur in your own home, and see exactly what you are getting without being influenced by anxious sales clerks.

If HALLAM furs do not please you in any way, you can simply send them back at my expense, and I will cheerfully return your money. There are no return charges at all.

You can be sure of satisfaction when you buy by mail from me. This is my guarantee.
