sandwich has become an issue in British politics. In the debate on the tish politics. In the debate on the excise bill, which has been carried or majorities, removing all doubt as to the past week and which will be resumed tomorrow, it has been found that the British legislators, like those of New York, seem unable to determine definitely just what constitutes a meal. An amendment to the excise bill, which now interests England more than the question of the starving unemployed, empowers restaurants to supply intoxicating beverages on Sundays to anybody taking a "meal" in a room set apart for that purpose.

Now the Common's and the people of England want to know just what legally is a "meal." Members of the college were the fillent of the starving of the supply intoxicating beverages on Sunday to anybody taking a "meal" in a room set apart for that purpose.

At Bath, South Dakota, Gentleman With a Gun Held Up Four.

Aberdeen, S. D., Nov. 15 .- The tow of Bath, a few miles east of here, was the scene on Saturday night of a bold attempt at hold-up by one man, in which one man was shot. Shortly before ten o'clock a man entered the Bath station, and flourishing a volver, compelled four men to hole up their hands. The four men were Wm. Reynolds and Jno. Parsons, of the Milwaukee railroad Jack Hibert and Andrew Bendicson, employees of the road.

The bandit told the quartette to walk into the operator's room and ill four obeyed, but Parsons and Bendieson turned on the bandit and a fight followed. The bandit fired at Bendiscon at close range and narrow ly escaped death. One bullet grazed his neck and one entered the other side of his neck and passed through at a point above the right shoulder. Help to Unemployed. London, Nov. 15.—While London passes are filled with discriptions of the root of wealth displayed at the London Horse Show which the Daily Mail discribes as an orgy of snobbishness, there has been space left for contracting an appeal to London society to assist England's starving unemployed. Mrs. Asquith, wife of the premier, with the Duchess of Norfalk Mrs. Humphrey Ward, and other famous English women, have published an appeal to the comfortable classes to contribute their persental service to the relief of the poor. They ask for volunteers to wisit the istarving unemployed in their own homas and offer their services as friends and halpers.
