St. George's Day.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Friday next, April 23rd, is St. George's Day! I shall be very grateful to you if you will permit me to say through your columns that I shall be glad if Church of England Boards of Education and Teachers will make suitable arrangements for the proper observance of the day.

St. George is the Patron Saint of England. While English legend and literature lead us to feel assured that there lived at one time a Christian Hero who did deeds of derring-do, many of the attributes of the Saint are undoubtedly of the spirit, and the story of his slaying the dragon a beautiful allegory to express the triumph of the Christian hero over evil. But why worry over the date and place of his birth and death, or even question whether or not the St. George we recognize as our Patron Saint ever lived in the flesh? It is surely enough for us that St. George is the embodiment of all that is true, pure and noble; he stands for chivalry and valour, for uprightness and honour, for love and humanity. What more worthy ideal can we put before our children, before the people?

It is right and it is for the lasting good of nations that their heroes should rise from the dead and live again in their midst and in their hearts. As an empire we cannot allow either the fire of patriotism or the flame of truth to wax dim in our lives, nor in the lives of our children. "The fire shall ever be burning upon the altar; it shall never go out," says the Law of Moses, and it is as true to-day as then.

There has of late years been a tendency to neglect things spiritual and to begrudge a meed of time and attention to that which cannot be measured in dollars and cents, so that our Patron Saint is well nigh forgotten, and our children have scarce heard of him. But, says one—"The national mind should be filled to overflowing with native memories; they are more enriching than mines of gold or fields of corn or the cattle on a thousand hills; more ennobling than palaced cities stored with the triumphs of war or art; more supporting in danger's hour than colonies, or fleets or armies; the history of a nation is the birthright of her sons; who strips them of that which enricheth not himself but makes them poor indeed."

These are stirring times; the sons of St. George are called upon to slay the dragon of tyranny and hate, of oppression and wrong; let them go forth strong in the faith of Him in whose name and as whose champion St. George went forth of old.

Yours faithfully,
W. W. BLACKALL,

The "Dispatch" Military Race.

Successful Afternoon's Sport at Craiglockhart.

There were several gratifying features about the military cross-country race, which, organised by the Evening Dispatch in conjunction with the Edinburgh Northern Harriers' Club, took place at Craiglockhart on Saturday afternoon.

In the first place the unique and interesting occasion in the history of the sport in Edinburgh attracted a large crowd. This was most satisfactory from two points of view—that of the "gate," the surplus of which will be devoted to the Relief Funds, and that of the sport itself, because, although harrier clubs are old and numerous institutions in the city, their public, even on championship occasions, cannot by any means be called large.

Doubtless there were many folks present on Saturday who witnessed their first cross-country event, and that the crowd would have been even larger than it was if the weather had been anything like settled, also goes without saying. However, the heavy showers of rain which fell at intervals did not at all damp the spirits of those who braved the elements, and in the periods of waiting they were kept from yawning by the inspiring strains discoursed by the pipe band of the 16th (Service) Battalion The Royal Scots and the brass band of the 4th Battalion The Royal Scots. For the services of the band we are indebted to Lieutenant-Colonel Sir George McCrae and Lieutenant-Colonel Dunn.

Points About the Race.

That the value of running for bringing the men into condition is appreciated by the military authorities was shown by the large attendance of officers. Among those who attended being Brigadier-Gen. Gilpin, of the Scottish Command, and many other prominent officers.

As for the race itself, it was undoubtedly the local men's field day—the Imperial Service Battalion of the 4th Royal Scots carrying off first honours in both the individual and team race. Out in the country the conditions under foot did not make for good time being accomplished, sodden fields and heavy roads retarding the progress of the men, and, therefore, the performance of Lance-Corporal Grant in covering the distance in 53 minutes, 18 1/2 secs. was all the more meritorious. From the start till the finish Grant had matters all his own way, and led by a complete lap of the University field from Private Ross, 23 Lowland Field Ambulance, who, along with Private Inglis, of the 1st Highland, also accomplished excellent performances.

The team race was a splendidly contested affair, but only two units—the Newfoundland contingent, and the 24 Battalion the Royal Scots—finished with twelve men. As a correspondent points out, the 15th (1st City of Edinburgh) Battalion the Royal Scots also deserve credit for finishing sixth, as their selection of runners was confined to the depot company.

It is expected that a statement regarding the financial aspect of the race will be ready in a week's time.

Attention?

THE following is one of the latest ads. used by the British Government to secure recruits for Kitchener's new army:

FOUR QUESTIONS

To Clerks and Shop Assistants.
1. If you are between 19 and 38 years of age, are you really satisfied with what you are doing to-day?
2. Do you feel happy as you walk along the streets and see brave men in khaki who are going to fight for the Empire while you stay at home in comfort?
3. Do you realize that our gallant soldiers are risking everything on the Continent to save you, your children, and your womenfolk?
4. Will you tell your employer to-day that you are going to enlist?
Ask him to keep your position open for you—tell him that you are going to fight for the Empire. He'll do the right thing by you—all patriotic employers are helping their men to join.
TELL HIM NOW AND ENLIST TODAY.
God Save The King.

Nickel Vocalist

MAKES BIG HIT.

There was a great treat in store for Nickel patrons last evening. Mr. Howard C. Stanley, the new vocalist, appeared for the first time and made a tremendous hit. The hall was crowded as it usually is to greet new performers but it is safe to say that no vocalist in St. John's ever received a more enthusiastic reception. Mr. Stanley has a good voice and he evidenced the fact that he is well up in his profession. His first song was "Tip Top Tipperary Mary" which brought down the house. He was applauded loud and long which is the best testimony that his hearers were delighted. The audience would not be satisfied until he consented to sing again. As an encore he sang: "When the Grown-Up Ladies Act Like Babies" which also took the house by storm.

That his engagement here will be successful is now assured. The pictures, too, were high class and everybody was charmed with them. Don't fail to attend to-day.

SALVIA destroys dandruff in ten days.

The roots of the hair are so nourished and fed that a new crop of hair springs up, to the amazement and delight of the user. The hair is made soft and fluffy. Like all American preparations SALVIA is daintily perfumed. It is hard to find an actress who does not use SALVIA continually.

Under Distinguished Patronage.

A large and delighted audience attended at the reliable show shop last night. The finest dramatic and vocal artists ever seen here. The great Ballard Brown and Miss Madge Locke are prime favourites with St. John's audiences who enjoy real songs by first class singers. Both those artists possess glorious voices. Their dramatic one-act play is very fine: "Nan; or the Unposted Letter," which shows their dramatic ability. Miss Madge Locke in character costume sang "Callie Herrin" in a splendid voice, which was encored again and again; this talented little lady also appeared in character costume, and gave some delightful Dutch studies, with song and dance. Mr. Ballard Brown sang the favourite song: "Anchored" which drew forth storms of applause. Their burlesque duet: "Rivals" surely a masterpiece. Those artists will present a special programme on Wednesday under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor and Lady Davidson and many prominent citizens. The big Vitagraph features the finest ever shown.

Sealers Make Trouble.

Last evening, at the railway station a number of sealers who were taking passage to their homes, gave the train hands some trouble, with the result that the police had to be called. The principals in the trouble had evidently been imbibing too freely, and when ordered by the police to leave the cars persisted in remaining and when ejected boarded them again. The trouble had not been settled up to the time the train started, with the result that when the train pulled out, the cars, in which were the disturbers, were uncoupled and left on the rails. This caused further trouble and the disturbers proceeded to take charge of the station waiting room later in the night, whereupon Supt. Grimes and a squad of police visited the scene and after arresting one of the principals ejected the others and restored peace.

"OURS" IN THE WEST END.

A packed house as usual. The Scotch turn by the little Squires' is a credit to Mrs. Rossley, for they are very smart little girls both in Scotch costume and a dandy Scotch song. The pictures were splendid. Mr. Rossley certainly does get the grand pictures. Lately he has shown so many from the Vitagraph studios, his last shipment contained all the latest and best there is to be had in the land of films.

It is not generally known that common alum, melted in an old iron spoon over a hot fire, forms an exceedingly strong cement for mending glass, fancy china and ornaments. When dried, the articles treated in this way can be washed in hot water without fear of coming apart again.

The Prohibition Resolution.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—Every member elected to the House of Assembly by the people is expected to do his duty to the best interest of the country, now when the opportunity offers to stop the sale of drink and save our people from ruin and destruction for the man, his wife and family's sake who are slaves from the cause of drink.

Now, Sir Edward Morris, do your duty to those who put you there, who have stuck to you through thick and thin, of every class and creed. Do not go back on them now when this glorious opportunity offers to do good for the people and the country at large. No better bill can be passed for the benefit of the people than this temperance bill. You got little or no support from the saloon keepers. They did everything in their power to down you the last elections. The great majority of the temperance people stood by you as they did not forget the stand you took in the early closing business. If that man who brought about that early closing business was here to-day, he would be into this fight heart and soul. A man who was loved and respected by all classes and creeds for his great work in the cause of temperance.

Now, Mr. Kennedy, let us hear from you. We want no trimming, shuffling or backsliding, come out like a man and show your independence. Leave all jealousy aside in this noble fight. Do your duty like a man by helping to crush the demon of drink from our midst and save our men from ruin and destruction. And you, Mr. Higgins, the eyes of your friends are upon you. Do not be influenced by any clique, the coming manhood. You know from experience in the police court. Now is the time to do good for them and save them. The opportunity offers to banish the temptation. If the man, who is blamed for electing you, was here to-day he would be heart and soul into this fight with his coat off. Don't forget that noble man who is loved and respected by all classes and creeds for his noble work in the cause of temperance. He is not here, we must take his place, and he will expect you to do your duty. Drink is no good. Every man can do without it by following the example of our noble King. The country demands that every man will do his duty. Let us have no backsliding nor trimming. This is a noble, broadminded question that politics and jealousy should be put aside.

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.
