BRITISH NAVY IS STEADY ANCHOR OF ALLIED CAUSE

Despite hidden foes and black piracy, it had preserved the highway of the seas for Britain and her allies. Since the war began the navy had transported 13,000,000 men, 2,000,000 horses, 25,-000 000 tons of explosives and supplies 51,000,000 tons of coal and oll fuel for the fleet, armies and needs of the allies. Out of these 13,000,000 men 2,700 that been lost, of which only 2,700 through the action of the enemy. All that was apparent from the prodigious quantity of food and other ma-terial, totaling a hnudred and thirty million tons, which had been trans-ported in British ships. This indeed had been a triumph for the navy.

Mr. Lloyd George proceeded to say

Factory Inspector Explains Working of New Act to Retail Clerks' Association Employe Cannot Work More Than Eight Hours

HOURS OF LABOR

No Employe May Start Day Shift Before 7 a.m. and Employes Cannot Work More Than 8 Hours at Night

Mrs. Margaret Lewis, factory inspector for southern Alberta, was the chief speaker last night at the bi-weekly meeting of the Calgary Retail Clerks' association, and in explaining sections of the factory act for the protection of persons employed in factories, shops and office buildings, brought her audience to a realization of just what the enforcement of the act, which begins next Monday, means to the public of Caleary

Calgary.

It will affect the public chiefly on Saturday nights, as the act is drastic and forbids the employment after 6 o'clock of employes who have put in a day's work. The department stores and other business houses affected by and other business houses affected by the strill have either to hire a force the act will have either to hire a force of night workers or close their stores at 6 p.m. In view of a scarcity of labor, closing down will be imperative, as the act admits of no exception in its application.

Mrs. Lewis explained that "day shift" refers to the hours between o'clock in the forenoon and 6 o'clock in the afternoon, and "night shift" refers to any other hours of the day where any part of a shift before 7 a.m. or after 6 p.m. it shall be deemed a night shift. Effective at Once.

Although the act was passed last April it has never been enforced until now, and on Monday Mrs. Lewis will commence her campaign in the city to see that its provisions are enforced. Another clause of the act that Mrs. Lewis pointed out was that in any shop in which women are employed, employer shall at all times provide and keep therein a sufficient and suit-able chair or seat for the use of every such woman permanently employed and shall permit her to use such chair or seat when not necessarily engaged in the work or duty for which employed, and the employer shall in no way intimidate or in any way prevent any female employe from using such

Mrs. Lewis called attention to the fact that no person shall be employed by any employer in any factory, shop, office or office building at a wage less than $1.50 per shift, except in the cas of an apprentice, who may be paid a wage of not less than $1 per shift. The minimum wage being $9, except in the case of an apprentice, the minimum wage in that case being $6.

The message that Mrs. Lewis brought to the retail clerks was received with acclaim by the majority.

It seemed like the dawning of a better day of helicar and the control of the control It seemed like the dawning of a better day, of better conditions for the workers, and while the act is double-edged in some ways, it is drafted in the interest of the worker, and by bettering the working conditions of the masses, will also benefit the employer when he becomes converted to the new order of things.

A provision of the act is that fire exit doors must be kept open, said Mrs. Lewis, and no one who is affected with a skin disease may work with other workers, and the inspector can in such case call in a medical officer of the board of health if required. Reports of deaths must be made inside 24 hours, and all workers must have an hour for lunch. The inspector car enter at any time, and woe to the em-ployer who seeks to prevent her in-

The other speaker of the evening was Alex, Ross, M.L.A., who made a short address in which he deplored the fact that the present Labor temple was not what it should be, and said that if the 2,500 labor men who meet there during the year put their shoulder to the wheel that the difficulty could be easily solved.

He said that Canada was behind the rest of the world, for in labor circles there was no attempt made at higher education of the workers to fit them taking part in the questions of day. He also urged the developthe day. He also urged the develop-ment of the social side of labor or ganizations, and pointed out the great steps made in England by labor organizations, who have become a powerful factor in politics. The address was well received by those present.

The Employer's Course The Proclamation issued under the Military Service Act calls Class One men-bachelors and widowers without children (not otherwise excepted) who were 20 years old on the 13th Oct., 1917, and whose 34th birthday did not occur before Jan. 1st, 1917. The claim for exemption may be made by the man himself, by his employer or by a near relative. So far as practicable, not more than one claim should be made in respect of any man. For reasons stated in the next paragraph, the claim is often best made by the employer.

When Employer Should Make Claim for Exemption

Where claim for exemption is based on the assumption that it is in the national interest that the man should, instead of being employed in Military Service, be engaged in other work in which he is habitually engaged, it is usually preferable that the claim be made by the EMPLOYER, inasmuch as the decision of the claim will involve amongst other things, a consideration of the nature of the business, the number of men employed, etc.

Medical Examination

It will simplify the employer's problem if all Class One men in his employ present themselves for Medical Examination at the nearest Medical Board Centre. Upon examination they will be placed in Medical Categories -A, B, C, or E. Class One men placed in Categories B, C, or E satisfy immediate requirements if they attach the medical report they will receive to their

The Employer's Schedule

This should state the names, ages and occupations of all Class One men employed, noting against each name whether or not claim for exemption is being made, and whether in the employer's opinion, exemption, if granted, should be conditional on the man's continuing his present occupation, or whether it would suffice if exemption were granted for one, two, or more months, as the case may be.
