NO PARK COMMISSION

Board of Works Does Not Favor Appointment of One.

Draymen Must Stand at Some Other Place Than at Present.

Two questions of considerable importance were submitted for discussion at last night's meeting of the board of works. One was the matter of appointing a commission to control the city parks and avenues. In Toronto and Montreal this plan has been successfully followed, and Ald. Campbell, who brought the matter before the city council some time ago, was of the opinion that such an arrangement was just what was needed in London.

The commission, which would be composed of the mayor of the city and six citizens, not aldermen, would have full charge of the parks and avenues, and revenue for the expenses would be obtained by levying a tax not to exceed half a mill each year. The commission would not be paid for its services. The committee discussed the question for some time, finally coming to the conclusion that London was not sufficiently large to adopt such a method of running the parks. A motion was accordingly made recommending that no action be taken.

Mayor Beck then moved that advertisements be printed asking for applications for the position of park ranger. On a vote the motion carried by a majority of one.

Warren & Co., who are constructing the roadway on York street, wrote two letters to the board. The first was a request that their contract be extended ten days owing to the many rainy days recently, which prevented them from going on with their work. The other notified the board that they would have to withdraw their guarantee as to the lasting powers of their pavement if the space at the rear of the G. T. R. station was to be used for a dray stand. The kind of pavement they were putting down would not last if horses claved it constantly, especially when it was new. Ald. Cooper, who would have the space planked over until next summer, but no one agreed with him. No provision had been made for another stand, and it was concluded to have a new blyaw governing dray stands drawn up.

The opening of tenders for the pavement on King street, between Adelaide and William streets, was left till next meeting.

Charmers Wyatt, Alderman Gerry, Abram, Cooper, Mayor Beck, Secretary Bell and Engineer Graydon were present.

Cuero, Texas, Aug. 28.—Sam, Stiles, a negro preacher sentenced to hang Wednesday for murder, was respite for two days by Governor Lanham, but it was about as close a call as a human ever had. The message came to the sheriff as he was lowering the black cap over Stiles.

A WAR OF WITS IN VANCOUVER

Jim Hill's Road and the C. P. R. Have Fight Over Entrance to the City.

Vancouver, Aug. 28.—The war of wits which, during two years past, had been in progress here between the C. P. R. and James J. Hill, the one party endeavoring to secure an entrance for the Great Northern to Vancouver and the other blocking that scheme, for very obvious reasons, culminated in a pitched battle in the dark hours of Wednesday night, when a gang of men, personally commanded by Managing Director A. E. Wood, of the Vancouver, New Westminster and Yukon (the Great Northern's subsidiary road in Canada at this point), quietly lifted a considerable section of the Canadian Pacific track, near Sapperton, New Westminster, and provided for the much-opposed crossing by putting in a diamond. The entire work was completed when the C. P. R. trackmen went to work and the employment, the first item of which was reporting the astonishing news to Vancouver, whence a special train load of officials came post haste. A locomotive of the C. P. R. was stationed on the diamond to bar the passage of Great Northern trains at this point, then a rush was made to the courts for hasty injunctions.

Simultaneously the city of Vancouver took alarm at the construction of a trestle along the tide flats, by which the Great Northern proposes to enter the town, although the conditions of right of way are still a subject of negotiation. The mayor's mandate to the men on the pile-drivers was to stop work at once, and a squad of police was provided to make arrests for trespass in wholesale lots in the city.

The men were engaged pulling down an old shed that had stood there for probably 35 or 40 years, which was to be replaced by every point of view. Many of the stays and beams had been removed, and it was the intention to attach ropes and pull it down towards the water when it had been sufficiently weakened.

The fifteen men and the foremen were in the building, together with a horse and dray belonging to D. McMillan, of Grey street, and the building was on the verge of falling.

Suddenly an ominous cracking was heard overhead. The men bolted for the opening, when the entire building began to settle towards the west and fell with a crash that was plainly heard a block away.

The men reached the outside in safety and the horse landed the driver and the rig out of harm's way when he heard the uproar. No person was hurt, but the horse was killed. The building fell. Many people thought that it was on fire, so thick was the cloud of dust that hung over the place for some minutes.

The structure was about 65x50, and was built of the heaviest timber, and was the custom in times gone by, when lumber was cheaper than it is today.

Wonderful Shooting.

Lincoln, Ill., Aug. 28.—With an automatic Winchester rifle Captain A. H. Bogardus, the retired champion shot of the world, accomplished a new feat in marksmanship and the age of 70. At a distance of 33 feet from a target three inches in diameter, and loading his own gun, he fired 100 shots in exactly three minutes without missing the target.

IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Accused Murderer Pleads His Case for Two Hours.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 28.—Before a great audience Caleb Powers spoke for two hours last night in his own defense, declaring his innocence of the murder, with the cooled murder, and pleading for his acquittal. Powers charged the offense on the property of Great Northern. He said that a $10,000 reward offered by the state had been used to secure his conviction.

Tumbled In Unexpectedly and Nearly Caught Men Working Inside at Time.

A pile-driving gang of fifteen men, under Foreman Swartz and Armstrong, all of Stratford, had a marvelous escape from death or serious injury this morning when the pile-driving rig of the Trunk Railway Company, between Waterloo and Colborne streets, on the south side of Catherine street, was wrecked. The men were engaged pulling down an old shed that had stood there for probably 35 or 40 years, which was to be replaced by every point of view. Many of the stays and beams had been removed, and it was the intention to attach ropes and pull it down towards the water when it had been sufficiently weakened.

USE TEMPORARY TARIFF AS RETALIATORY MEASURE

The Adoption of a Weapon Urged by Mr. Kenric Murray.

Secretary of Trades Congress Speaks of Municipal Relations.

When the British commercial men were in this city, the secretary of the fifth congress of Chambers of Commerce, Mr. Kenric Murray, who has been secretary of the London Chamber of Commerce for the past twenty years, speaking of a trade preference within the empire, said that the Chamberlain idea of closer union between the different parts of the empire originated with the London Chamber of Commerce rather than in Chamberlain's own mind, though that he said does not mean that the London Chamber of Commerce is ready to support a preference policy, such as the Canadians would like to have seen adopted at the recent session of the congress.

In fact, if all Englishmen thought as Secretary Murray does, there would be little hope for any imperial preference. In the first place, he is a free trader, and he says that most of the delegates are free traders. As such they are not willing to have any protection policy. As far as Mr. Murray will go is the adoption of a weapon. He says there are countries that have not used the United Kingdom justly in the matter of tariffs, and he would favor the adoption of a temporary tariff as a retaliatory measure to bring these countries to their senses. This would be neither for revenue purposes nor for a retaliatory measure to bring these countries to their senses. This would be neither for revenue purposes nor for a retaliatory measure to bring these countries to their senses.

Mr. Murray was asked if such a weapon would be adopted, would the fact of a country being a British colony give it a preference. He thought not. He would not favor any sentiment inter-

Expelling the Monks

French Government Utilizes Fire Engines for the Purpose.

Paris, Aug. 28.—The expulsion of the Redemptorist Fathers from their monastery at Les Sables d'Olonne, department of Vendee, was carried out yesterday after an exciting experience.

The barricaded building was surrounded at 3 o'clock yesterday morning by soldiers, police and firemen. The monastery bells summoned a crowd of people to its defense. Missiles were thrown out of the windows, and several of the soldiers were injured.

After four hours' siege the barricade was broken down and the fathers retreated to the roof, where they continued their defense until dislodged by streams of water from a number of fire engines. Many arrests were made.
