London, Nov. 20. AN AMERICAN-IRISH SECRET SO-The London Standard publishes a long letter from a correspondent, whose good faith, it says, is beyond question, who pro-fesses to be a member of an "American-Irish Secret Society." The writer ex-presses regret at having joined the organiresearch that he is a paid efficer; that he must keep himself acquainted with the whereabouts of 228 men, to whom he is required to hand sealed orders; that everything in the society is done with the greatest secrecy by ballot, and no one knows another's business, alhough several may have similar tasks to erform. The writer believes some em ployes in the post office are members of the ociety, as it is known at headquarters when a member receives a letter from where and from whom. He says the "old man" has reorganized everything since movement is contemplated, as thirty of his party have left for an unknown destination.

All of them received English money. The writer concludes as follows:-"It is crue per surrenders his liberty, and spies watch his every step." THE TONQUIN TROUBLE.

"Therefore," it says, "the services of one hundred and twenty thousand men are required" Viceroys are enjoined forthwith to recruit nen for the force desired by the Governnent, and provide the necessary uniforms and provisions.

SEXTON WAYLAID AND ROBBED. On Fiday night Sexton, Home Rule M. P., stopped at a public house in Seven Dials, London, to get a brandy-and-soda. On returning to his cab he was attacked by seven ruffians, who gagged him, pinioned his arms and rifled his pockets of a valuable gold watch and cane. All the thieves the simply assisted a drunken stranger to get on to a cab and had no hand in the get on to a cab and had no hand in the robbery. A jurogasked complainant if it were true he had been under the influence of liquor. Sexton denied the assertion, and the prisoner was sentenced to fifteen months.

POOLE FOUND GUILTY.

At the trial of Poole to-day, in Dublin, for the murder of Kenny, Lamie, brother-in-law of the prisoner, testified that he first thought Kenny had been an informer, but now he believed revenge for the seduction of a girl led to the murder. The jury found Poole gullty of the murder of Kenny, found Poole guilty of the murder of Kenny, after forty minutes' deliberation. The court sentenced the prisoner to death. He addressed the court, admitted he was a Fenian, cursed England, and called for "Three cheers for the Irish Republic."

Poole will be hanged Dec. 18th. The Judge, in passing sentence, was deeply affected. He said the evidence left the jury no alternative, and he quite concurred in their verdict of guilty.

GUARDING THE QUEEN. The Queen left Balmoral to-day for Windsor Castle. Police closely guarded the train upon its arrival at Aberdeen. Officials of the railway have taken extraordin-ary precautions. When the train reaches the viaduct across Windsor Slough, large gangs of men will guard the arches.

THE PRUSSIAN DIET. The Prussian Diet opened to day. The speech from the Throne stated the financial situation had improved and the working of railways by the State had resulted in the secumulation of a considerable surplus. A Bill will be introduced taxing incomes derived from property.

The speech asks the Diet to address itself to its labors in security of the assured peaceful state of affairs throughout the country. The Bulget estimates the re-ceipts and expenditures for the fiscal year 1884 5 each at 1,112,800,000 marks. The Chamber received the speech coldly. Complaint is made that the passage regarding taxation is ambiguous. Liberal newspapers critic ze the speech, saying the programme generally is coloriess and insignificant, and that the proposed bill taxing incomes accruing from capital will not obtain a majority while landed properly remains exempt from impost. A DISORDERLY CROWD. A Disorder and the Communication of the Communication of the Council was discussing a motion in favor of entrusting priests with religious instruction in municipal schools a crowd
