An Important Judgement.

The "Moniteur du Commerce " publishes the following very interesting item: -- "Those ilies, the heads of which are more or less ad dicted to intemperance, will feel a certain pleasure in reading the following judicial dission, which they may utilize, if needed Recently the justices of the peace of Leicester called before them a man charged by the Children with having inflicted "mental torture upon his family of four children." The specific charge mentioned prolonged drunkness of three months' duration and threats of violence during said drunkenness. Dangers from Violent Exercise.

There is considerable diversity of opinion as to the safety with which women may in dulge in violent exercise in view of possible injury. As regard the heart, there appears to be but one opinion-namely, that that or gan, accustomed to a quiet life, may be dangerously and permanently crippled by the excessive strain in athletic sports. Experience in medical practice, says an eminent authority, teaches that the patient with a weak heart must be extremely cautious in his exercises, and the demonstration of a violent, exhausting effort which has been made was of a surprising nature. Many clinical observers in Germany and in this observation of the changes in the heart beats siderable dilation, which continues for a shorter or longer time after the exertion is ove- Ocular proof of this has been afforded by the Roentgen rays. This shows not only the need of caution by those in good health, but more particular so in the case of those who suffer from any weakness, constitutional or otherwise, in this organ.-New York

The Canadian High Commissioner at London, Lord Strathcona, will shortly receive a unique souvenir from Canada. The souvenir, which is illustrative of Canadian pic neer life and industry, is a log eighteen-inches long and 115 inches in circumference which wonderful to relate, was gnawed off by beavers.

This cutting was found on the shores of a small lake, 40 miles northwest of Hibibi lake, in the Hudson Bay Company's territory, by Mr. Geo. An Anglo-Indian sends us the following tip for those who are troubled by those very troublesome creatures, mosquitoes: "Throw a bit of alum, about the size of a marble, into a small bowl of water, and wet the hands and face and any exposed parts lightly with it. Not a mosquito will approach you. They hum about a little and disappear. I never had any occasion to use a mosquito curtain, and am glad to think that I can perhaps benefit others (travellers in particular) by this little bit of information."-The Em-

Personal Adornment

To be dressed neatly, becomingly, and in good taste, that a person may not be an eye sore to those around her, is a duty not to be neglected. The time and money spent upon these requirements should be regulated en tirely by the means one has at her disposal thy habit as thy purse can buy, but not expressed in fancy, rich, not gaudy. For the apparel oft proclaims the man." A person with large means can employ an artist in all little thought or time upon such detailswhile another person with a limited purse, must give thought, time and ingenuity upon the altering and making over of such garments and material as may be at hand. Not only in the matters of dress should women be expert and painstaking, but in personal cleanliness, and in the care of the com-plexion. English women do not ignore these Allowances should be made for difference of climate, which in England is less change-able and more humid. The dry winds and sudden changes from heat to cold in America are very trying, and consequently greater care is necessary.

The dressing of the body involves many difficulties—first in importance being health—and to insure this perfect adaptability to the needs of the body nothing should prevent the free play for muscles, and all the vital organs to perform their different functions and ensure the perfect circulation of blood. Outdoor exercise cannot be entirely efficacious unless the dress be of proper length and

Those ties will be made of rubber made vulgar by the effort to show how much material and each one will be inflated. They money could be put into the square foot. Tawdry and showy drapings do not make a home which delights the eye or inspires the heart with the true sense of the beautiful. Ruskin says, "Whenever we leave nature we fall immeasurably beneath her," and that the 'beautiful is true.' The decorations of a home should be in harmony with the size end situation of the house and its surroundings. A good photograph is preferable to an inferior painting; a growing plant is bet-ter for the soul than a bunch of artificial flowers. By striving to copy from nature we draw nearer to the infinite, and that which is a joy forever. Why did God paint with its hazy mists of every hue; create the pianos. I asked him if he could think of birds of the air beautiful in form and color? Why did he make the flowers of the field and color the grass for a carpet in emerald hues, but for the delight of man? And thus to adorn our homes, and to make them as beautiful as our means will admit, is only carrying out the sentiments infused by his handiwork in the garniture of the earth. Time is not wasted in such efforts, and it lends a moral influence which impresses itself upon the young mind. To see and appreciate the beautiful wherever it may be found, helps us to more fully comprehend the "beauty of holiness," and a home where the mother is "adorned with a meek the sky, the clouds, and the mountain top, and quiet spirit," pictures to the mind the glories which await us.

Bathing tired eyes in warm water and then closing them for some time, is an excellent daily practice. Nothing, however, but hot water should be allowed to touch the eyes except by directions of an oculist. The eyeball should be a clear bluish white color. If it has red streaks in it there is trouble somewhere. If it is dull and yellow in color, that also is an indication of disease, and in most cases the seat of the trouble is not in the eye itself-the stomach. which is accountable for most things, is generally accountable for the bright or lack lustre condition of the eyes. A GREAT IDEA. NOVEL SCHEME FOR A CHEAP RAILWAY

Mr. Frank Drew, the elder, told a good story recently that was illustrative of the gullibility of some samples of the rural mind. Mr. Drew was detained some time ago at a country railway station. While there he -the sort that usually hang around that Mr. Drew sized them up immediately

He drew nearer. "It's a pity," he reflectively said, "tha so much money is wasted in building rail

"That's so," agreed one of the natives

"I've got a scheme," said Mr. Drew dreamily, "for cheapening the cost of them by at least 50 per cent. "How's that ?" quoth the native.

"Of course I'm not peddling this ide around," said Mr. Drew mysteriously. "Of course not," said the native."

"I don't want it to get out before I get my patent papers." "To be sure," said the native." "This is the scheme," said Mr. Drew. "I would have just a short length of track material put together, and it would run chain. When the locomotive ran on to the rail in front, the last car would be picking up rails at the rear and passing them along over the roofs of the cars back to the engin again. You see? The train would be really laying its own track."

"By gum, said the native, "that's is "It strikes me so," said Mr. Drew, modestly. "It certainly has a good many advantages. It is a great thing to have a train that will go anywhere you want it to go." "That's so," said the native. There was a short silence. It was broken

True love is portraved by a man and a woman who have been married three years and still ride a tandem. Art may be "long," but time is too short for people to become artists. About the time a man gets a large family of married daughters off his hands he has to begin setting sons-in-law on their feet.

Colonel Butler, session judge at Bassein, has puzzled the jail authorities. In a recent case in which a woman was stabbed in an abduction affair the sessions judge_sentenced the criminal to undergo four years' rigorous imprisonment for abduction and to be hanged on the capital charge. The criminal has appealed, and among the grounds of appeal raised it is seriously pointed out that the learned sessions judge omitted to specify which punishment should be carried out Advocate of India, Bombay.

It was a negligence case, and a goodhumored Irishman was a witness. The judge, lawyers and everybody else were where the fire is not too hot for about twenty | trying to extract from him something about the speed of a train.
