The agitation in New England fishing circles against the Bond-Hay treaty continues. Fishing ports in Maine are now on their mettle, and in view of the feeling at Gloucester it seems probable that the treaty will receive some hard knocks when it comes up in the Senate for ratification. In fact, it would not be surprising if the Senate would kill the treaty. The protest against it will be backed up by the fishing interests of acked up by the fishing interests of lew England, which have $20,000,000

-The new Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, is in favor of the government estab-lishing a Canadian school or schools of navigation. The plan he is said to of navigation. The plan he is said to have in contemplation is the subsidizing of several colleges or universities to enable each to add to its present staff navigation instructors and professors. Thus one university in Onand Dalhousie for the maritime provinces, would have chairs of navigation. At these schools our sailors might be trained for the navy and mercentile serice, as military officers are trained at military colleges.

and Meeting.

A meeting of the Annapolis Count mers Association was held at St, nes Hotel, Bridgetown, on Monday, 1 inst., President F. M. Chipman in the chair.

On motion it was agreed that the Secretary, Mr. Ralph Messenger, write to the Secretary for Agriculture claiming a representation at the N. S. Farmers Association, stating that the Annapolis body should be represented there as well as the similar body in Picton County.

Local and Special News.

—An exchange reports that Sir Frederick Borden spent a few days last week at Uanning, looking for a site for a military school, and also a suitable place for a drill ground to be used in place of the one at Alder-cartiels. There were secret passages and the beginning of an underground tunnel. Dime novels had doubtless got in their good work and the seed sown was taking root in congenial soil.

-The death of Capt. E. M. Morse, Farmers Association, stating that the Annapolis body should be represented there as well as the similar body in Pictou County.

A delegation from the town of Bridgetown consisted of O. T. Daniels, Mayor Shafner, Dr. Armstrong, A. Young, J. Ervin, O. S. Miller and F. R. Fay. Mr. Ervin in a few well chosen remarks, spoke of the desirability of holding a county exhibition, and promised the hearty support of the town, wherever such exhibition might be held.

The advantages of Bridgetown as a favorable location in the county, good agricultural surroundings, ware conditions as a favorable location in the county, good agricultural surroundings, ware conditions as the first in Advent, it is proposed by the Bishop of the Church of Excelorable to the Church of Excelorab

Captain Munro gave the audience—excepting a few who had enjoyed the privilege of hearing him privately—a most agreeable surprise. His songs delighted his hearers, and his laughing song would have done credit to a professional. He is a born comedian, and it is hoped the Bridgetown public will, be frequently favored by him in the future. The duett, "The Spider and the Fly," by Mrs. Ruggles and Rev. E. Underwood, was one of the features of the evening. It was admirably sung and acted, and was enthusiastically encored, the singers responding with "The Gypsy Countess."

The second part, following the intermission, during which ice-cream was served, was an amusing representation of an old-fashioned singing school.

Mrs. Harlow as Dame Delilah Frizbee, Mrs. Harlow as Dame Delilah Frizbee, the teacher, was irresistibly funny, and was ably seconded by Miss Minnie Dodge (Samantha Ponsonby) ye harpsichordist), while the "scholars" in their quaint costumes made a striking scene, and well sustained their part of the entertainment. The performance had been little rehearsed and was largely impromptu, which added much to its amusing features.

The receipts from the entertainment were highly gratifying to its promot-

The receipts from the entertainment were highly gratifying to its promoters, netting the handsome sum of eighty dollars, and more than covering the amount anticipated, by which one of the three sums of one hundred each was to be met. Two parishioners, a lady and a gentleman, had promised donations of one hundred dollars each on condition the third should be raised within a specified time. By the efforts of the entertainment committee a sum fact that the holiday season is almost upon us, and of reminding them that an early change of their advertising matter, calling attention to Christmas goods, will be a favor to us and an advantage to themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Chipman, their son Jack, and Miss Margaret Barss, of this town, expect to leave for Florida about Dec. 1st, says the Wolfville Acadian. They will stop at Boston and other points en route and will spend the winter in the south The trip is planned for the benefit of Master Jack, who is in poor health. Mrs. W. V. T. Young arrived home on Wednesday of last week after four weeks' visit with her sons in New York, and relatives in Boston, says a correspondent of the Berwick Register. She, with Mr. W. N. DeWitt, accompanied the remains of Mrs. DeWitt, Mrs. Young's sister, who died at her home in Dorchester on Monday morning, after having been an invalid for eight years.

A pleasing event took place at the residence of the Misses Swain, Vancouver street, at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, says the Yarmouth Times, when Miss M. Annette, 'youngest daughter of the late L. G. Swain, was united in marriage to Lawie McLearn ond wife, who was Mrs. Delap, survives him.

The advantages of Bridgetown as a favorable location were, in his opinion, its central location in the country good agricultural surroundings, warehouse and suitable grounds near station. Mr. O. S. Miller spoke of the possibility of any defeit being borne by the Town and County Councils.

On motion by Col. Spurr, seconded by Mr. Williams, it was agreed that the Annapolis County Farmers' Association, through its executive, favor the holding of an exhibition in the County in the Autumn of 1903.provided substantial provincial aid could be obtained.
