

New Steamers for the Allan Line

SHIPPERS of perishable traffic will be interested to learn that the Allan line will shortly place on the Liverpool route the "Alsatian" and "Calgarian," vessels of 18,000 tons each, which will be the largest and most modern ships in the Canadian trade.

This Company has been foremost in the installation of the most scientific machinery for the safe carriage of fruits and other perishables.

The Liverpool service sailings are so arranged that exporters may distribute their shipments throughout the week in such a manner as to avoid the heretofore necessity of having goods arrive all at the same time, and frequently to face an over-stocked market.

The Glasgow, London and Havre services will also be kept up to their usual high state of efficiency and so long as Canadian shippers continue to give the Allan Line their patronage, the Company will, as in the past, improve the services to meet all requirements.

The Company looks for a record-breaking amount of perishable traffic during the current year.
