1. Review of the progress of the ILO
2. Recommendations to the United Nations for post-war social policy
3. Declaration of employment in the transition from war to peace
4. Social security principles and problems arising out of the war
5. Minimum standards of social policy in dependent territories
6. Results of activities of conventions
7. Director's report

A proposed declaration concerning the aims and purposes of the...
...International Labour Organization which will be presented to the Philadelphia...
...conference, states the fundamental objective of the ILO as the attainment...
...of conditions in which men may have the right to pursue their material well...
...being and their spiritual development in freedom and dignity, economic...
...security and equal opportunity.

Immediate objectives of the social and economic policy are:

- (1) the maintenance of full employment and raising of the standards of living by instituting training and the transfer of labor; instituting legislation for employment and settlement;
- (2) the assurance of a minimum living wage;
- (3) the right of collective bargaining;
- (4) social security measures providing a basic income in case of inability to work or to obtain work, and comprehensive medical care;
- (5) adequate protection for the life and health of workers in all occupations;
- (6) child workers and maternity protection, including adequate nutrition, housing and facilities for recreation and culture;
- (7) educational and vocational opportunities.
