CIDA PEACEBUILDING FUND PROJECTS OPERATIONAL PROJECTS

GLOBAL OPERATIONAL PROJECTS
PROJECT TITLE	PROJECT DESCRIPTION	APPLICANT/ RECIPIENT	AMOUNT
LDC's Participation in International Criminal Court	to participate in the preparatory meetings that will lead to the	Affairs (UNDLA)	125,000
War-Torn Societies Project	This project draws lessons learned from four post-conflict country situations using local research and analytical capacity. Recommendations to translate lessons learned policies into practice are being developed, with the transfer of Canadian expertise. This important exercise will allow for a review of current practices in the areas of conflict and development and provide new administrative and analytical tools for future crises. The work is being done in the war-torn communities.	UN Research Institute for Social Dev. (UNRISD)	530,000
UN Trust Fund for Preventive Action	This Trust Fund was set-up in order to allow the UN Secretary-General to send mediation missions to regions of fast-emerging conflicts. It will provide a source of funding for rapid-response multilateral interventions to prevent conflicts.	UN Dept. for Political Affairs (UNDPA)	500,000
Seminars on the Reintegration of Former Combatants	A module on the reintegration of former combatants is being developed, with contribution by ODA-based researchers and practitioners, to be delivered to real-life situations in countries in the early stages of demobilization. In addition to teaching best practices in this area, the faculty will deliver the training in real-life post-conflict countries and also help practitioners develop important tools such as action and monitoring plans.	L.B. Pearson Canadian International Peacekeeping Centre	300,000
	PROJECT TITLE LDC's Participation in International Criminal Court War-Torn Societies Project UN Trust Fund for Preventive Action Seminars on the Reintegration of	PROJECT TITLE PROJECT DESCRIPTION This project is to allow delegates from Least Developed Countries (LDCs) to participation in International Criminal Court This project is to allow delegates from Least Developed Countries (LDCs) to participate in the preparatory meetings that will lead to the establishment of the International Criminal Court in June 1998. The funds cover travel costs to the preparatory meetings venue. It allows LDCs to make their voice heard in this important international endeavour. War-Torn Societies Project This project draws lessons learned from four post-conflict country situations using local research and analytical capacity. Recommendations to translate lessons learned policies into practice are being developed, with the transfer of Canadian expertise. This important exercise will allow for a review of current practices in the areas of conflict and development and provide new administrative and analytical tools for future crises. The work is being done in the war-torn communities. UN Trust Fund for Preventive Action This Trust Fund was set-up in order to allow the UN Secretary-General to send mediation missions to regions of fast-emerging conflicts. It will provide a source of funding for rapid-response multilateral interventions to prevent conflicts. Seminars on the Reintegration of Former Combatants A module on the reintegration of former combatants is being developed, with contribution by ODA-based researchers and practitioners, to be delivered to real-life situations in countries in the early stages of demobilization. In addition to teaching best practices in this area, the faculty will deliver the training in real-life post-conflict countries and also help practitioners develop important tools such as action and monitoring	PROJECT-TITLE PROJECT DESCRIPTION APPLICANT/ RECIPIENT LDC's Participation in International Criminal Court to participate in the preparatory meetings that will lead to the establishment of the International Criminal Court in June 1998. The funds cover travel costs to the preparatory meetings venue. It allows LDCs to make their voice heard in this important international endeavour. War-Torn Societies Project War-Torn Societies Project This project draws lessons learned from four post-conflict country situations using local research and analytical capacity. Recommendations to translate lessons learned policies into practice are being developed, with the transfer of Canadian expertise. This important exercise will allow for a review of current practices in the areas of conflict and development and provide new administrative and analytical tools for future crises. The work is being done in the war-torn communities. UN Trust Fund for Preventive Action This Trust Fund was set-up in order to allow the UN Secretary-General to send mediation missions to regions of fast-emerging conflicts. It will provide a source of funding for rapid-response multilateral interventions to prevent conflicts. Seminars on the Reintegration of former combatants is being developed, with contribution by ODA-based researchers and practitioners, to be delivered to real-life situations in countries in the early stages of demobilization. In addition to teaching best practices in this area, the faculty will deliver the training in real-life post-conflict country LDC's Participation and Market WIN Dept. for Political Affairs (UNDPA) UN Dept. for Political Affairs (UNDPA) UN Dept. for Political Affairs (UNDPA) Experience Project of the factory of the provide and provi