

to organize a resumed conference. It is the policy of the Government to ensure that, for its part, the Final Act is implemented as soon and as completely as possible. Copies are being sent to all Federal Government departments and agencies concerned, to provincial governments and to non-governmental organizations whose co-operation is essential to the carrying out of Canada's responsibilities under the Final Act. Copies are now available to the public through the outlets of Information Canada.

Domestically, we are examining what changes should be made in our present practices to meet the moral commitments we have accepted. In our bilateral relations we are using the document to provide guidance in communiqués, agreements and treaties. Multilaterally, consideration is already being given to the matter of implementation in two United Nations bodies, the Economic Commission for Europe and UNESCO.
