“Noel Chetwynd's Fall.”

By MRS. J. H. NEEDELL,

Author of “Lucia, Hugh, and Another ;” “The Story of Philip Methuen,” &c.

“Written with great dramatic power.”—Pen and Pencil.

“From first to last there is no page that needs skipping, and, taken as a whole, it is one of the pleasantest and most sympathetic ‘Society Tales’ that have yet been published.”—Literary World.

“Admirably told. The authoress is evidently one accustomed to move in the best circles, and whose skilful gauging of the characters of those she encounters is both accurate and destitute of anything like spite or malice.”—Society Herald.

“The characters in the story are finely conceived and well handled, and the descriptive powers of the writer are patent to all readers.”—Sheffield Telegraph.

“We are fascinated by her acute perception of character, her subtle delineation of mind-working, embodied in a singularly rich vocabulary and melodious style.”—Newcastle Courant.

“Her characters are firmly and effectively drawn, the two women—the Duchess and the young girl Eleanor—being especially attractive figures.”—Scotsman.

“It is the besetting sin of some authors to introduce so many persons that their readers get confused with personalities. Mrs. Needell chooses the more excellent way of concentrating attention on less than half-a-dozen individuals. The result in this instance is, that Noel Chetwynd, Felix Kynaston, Eleanor Dalzell, the Duchess of Hillshire, and Mrs. Kynaston are all exceptionally interesting.”—Figaro.
