

New Line of Canadian Northern's Transcontinental System in Ontario

The above map is accurately drawn and shows the location of the Canadian Northern Railway from Ottawa to Port Arthur, passing thru Sellwood Junction, the present terminal of the line from Toronto in the direction of Parry Sound.

The remarkable thing about this map is the location of the new line from Sellwood Junction to Port Arthur. In fact, the whole line from Ottawa to Port Arthur is thru altogether new country, and west of Sellwood Junction, as the map shows, the road opens up the great clay belt in Northern Ontario beyond the height of land; and the height of land, you will notice, is clearly indicated in the map. Probably the greatest asset Ontario has to-day is this new country from

Sellwood Junction to Port Arthur, and it will be a source of trade for Toronto and Southern Ontario that no reciprocity treaty is likely to take away from us. The map also shows the mighty rivers that run northward on the west side of the height of land to Hudson Bay, and which one day will be the seat of great industries because of the immense stores of water powers that there exist.

STEAM AND ELECTRIC SYSTEM TO CONNECT

Legislation Foreshadowed That Will Bring About Interchange of Traffic

That important legislation will be introduced both at Ottawa and Toronto which will compel steam and electric roads to make connection for the carriage of freight, and will reduce charges generally, is understood to be the outcome of a conference held in Ottawa last week by the

The legislation will enable the two boards to act conjointly, and will provide that where the lines or tracks of an Ontario railway, steam or electric, are intersected by those of a railway incorporated by the Dominion, or run into the same city, town or village, an application may be made by either company or by the municipality, or any individual interested, for a transfer of engines and trains from the one railway to the other, and for the interchanging of traffic between the roads. The application must be heard by representatives of both boards, and the order for the connection will be made binding on all the roads.

The World inadvertently stated that J. J. McGee, an operative of the Noble Detective Agency, had been taken to court on a warrant to face the charge of illegally detaining a girl against her will. He was not taken on a warrant, but appeared to meet a charge in answer to a summons. Mr. McGee objected to the heading of the article, which was "Illegally Detained Girl." The World wishes to state that this heading was in no way intended to appear as a prejudgment of the case before the evidence was heard. It is a curious feature of the case, noted by Mr. McGee's solicitor, that "Detective" Huckle, who is wanted in Toronto on a similar charge, was sent to the penitentiary from Hamilton upon evidence gathered by the Noble Agency.

Nerves Are Exhausted

And Nervous Prostration or Paralysis is Creeping Steadily Upon You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

You hear of people suddenly falling victims of nervous prostration or some form of paralysis. But when you get all the facts of the case you find that they have had months or years of warning.

They haven't slept well. There have been frequent attacks of nervous headache. Digestion has failed. They have been irritable, easily worried and excited and have found memory and concentration failing. Had they but known that these symptoms tell of exhausted nerves or that they realized their danger they would have restored the feeble, wasted nerves by use of such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This great restorative treatment cures by forming new, rich blood and by rebuilding the wasted nerve cells. No medicine is more certain to prove beneficial for each dose adds to the system a certain amount of rich, red blood.

WATER Baffles Chlorine

Turbidity Makes Chemical Action Harder, M. H. O. Reports

That turbid water does not yield so readily to the effects of chlorine as water that has not been churned by strong eastern winds has been demonstrated by experiments recently conducted by the city health department. At 10 a.m. on Feb. 4 the bacterial count at the shore crib was 180, which the chlorine reduced to 4. On Feb. 7, the day after the big storm, it reduced the count only to 64, with practically the same conditions prevailing at the shore crib.

FAILURE OF EUROPEAN VINTAGE

Recent reports on the wine production of Europe indicates that there has not been such a disastrous failure in the vintage since 1810 as that of the present year. The causes contributing to the general failure of the year's vintage were the lack of sunshine during the spring and early summer, and the excessive humidity throughout the season, which frustrated by experiments recently conducted by the city health department. At 10 a.m. on Feb. 4 the bacterial count at the shore crib was 180, which the chlorine reduced to 4. On Feb. 7, the day after the big storm, it reduced the count only to 64, with practically the same conditions prevailing at the shore crib.

TESTING HEARING OF FISH

The hearing of fishes—so long discredited—seems to have been shown by recent investigations to be a perception of vibrations by the nerves of the skin. About a dozen species of fishes produce a ringing of a hand bell, but Kretzl and Exner, the Austrian physiologists, have shown that they would come as quickly on seeing the attendant when no noise was made while they paid no attention to the sound of the bell when no person was in sight.

This will be good news to thousands of West Toronto lacrosse fans. The Macedonian who late on Saturday afternoon was nearly headed at St. George's Limited, while looking down a hoist, is making good progress at his home on St. Clair. Jake was paying no attention to the working of the elevator, when it descended, striking him on the head. One or two gashes, the only injury inflicted.
