Illustrating a Few Representative Values in Coal and Gas Cooking and Heating Appliances

Now Showing in an Immense Variety in the Basement

With the coal situation as it is today, stoves and heaters become of greater interest than usual. Where coal is not available in quantities to heat the whole house by furnace, sections of the house can be heated to best advantage by stoves, and in anticipation of an unusual demand a great array of good, reliable and serviceable heaters are now on display in the Basement. Bring your heating problems to the stove man.
