

BUDWEISER

In Glass from the Kettle to the Lip

Budweiser as it leaves the brew kettles is conveyed into Glass-Enameled fermenting vats. After fermentation it is lagered (aged) from four to five months in Glass-Lined Steel Tanks before it is bottled. 200 mammoth Glass Tanks in this building (Stock House No. 10) are required for this purpose. The capacity of these tanks is 200,000 barrels or 62,000,000 bottles of Budweiser.

Budweiser is, therefore, in Glass from the time it is brewed until it is consumed.

Anheuser-Busch Brewing Ass'n - St. Louis, U.S.A.

This huge building, 347 feet long, 98 feet wide and 7 stories high, contains:

200 mammoth Glass Enameled Steel Tanks used solely for the lagering (ageing) of Budweiser.

Each Glass Tank weighs 16 Tons, is 70 feet long, 9 feet in diameter, and holds 1,000 barrels of beer.

The combined capacity of the 200 tanks is 200,000 Barrels, or 62,000,000 Bottles of Budweiser.

These Glass Enameled Steel Tanks were manufactured and installed by

The Pfaudler Co.
Rochester N. Y.

at a cost of over half a million dollars.

It required eight months' time to manufacture them, and over five miles of freight cars to deliver them to the Brewery.

This however is only the first installment. The proved superiority of glass over wood for the lagering and storing of Beer has decided the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Ass'n to equip the entire brewery with these Glass Enameled Tanks.

Strikes Fallen Tree and Every Car Is Smashed

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 15.—The Great Northern Flyer, due here 10.00 o'clock last night, struck a fallen tree two miles this side of Burnaby Lake, eight miles from here. The engine was smashed to fragments, the tender thrown about 75 feet ahead on the track, the baggage car was piled on top of the engine and the remaining cars, with the exception of the parlor car, were thrown into the ditch. One of two passengers were bruised. Engineer Jones' body is under the wreck.

Lamp Explodes. Kingston, Jan. 16.—Last night a lamp exploded, and Charles Givens, Beverley-street, was burned. Miss Givens tried to suppress the flames when her clothing caught. Mr. Givens pulled the clothing from his daughter and then with his coat put out the fire. Miss Givens' head, chest and neck were scorched.

Joy Kills an Aged Mother. Derby, Conn., Jan. 16.—To surprise his mother in Sheffield, England, whom he had not seen in thirty years, Representative George F. Clark of this city went to England and on arriving at Liverpool telegraphed that he would reach the old home the following day. On his arrival he found his mother dead. Mrs. Clark was standing in the parlor when she was told that her son would reach home within a few hours. After an exclamation of delight she fell to the floor and expired.

The Associated Charities will endeavor to get interested men in the society's immigration work. The annual meeting of the Dufferin School Old Boys' Association will take place on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the King Edward Hotel. All old boys of the school are invited to attend.
