SAINTS AND QUINCY

IN TWO TOMORROW

Ford to Put New Pitcher Against Stecker; Hansen and Nolan to Battle Again

What is anticipated will be one of the greatest struggles staged in the two I League so far this season will take place tomorrow afternoon and evening on St. Peter's diamond between "Lefty" Ford's Quincy team and St. Peter's. The former nine by two new players, one a pitcher of note, whose name is Kelly and who will be expected to work in the evening contest against Lefty Stecker. In the afternoon contest Ford will pitch Nolan, who held the local nine to two hits in his last appearance here. Hansen will again oppose him. A shift will in all probability be made in St. Peter's nine and every effort set forth to make a stronger offense. So far this season the champions have been playing a great brand of defensive ball, but have been very weak on the offensive. St. Peter's will have to win both games to close in on second position and Ford is equally anxious to have his team move up and not dabble in the championship race. As a result the fans should benefit in the big fight for position.
