GOOD THINGS COMING
TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN.

CHRISTMAS FUN AT IMPERIAL NOW

Serious Stuff Stops to Make Way for Joy-Bills—Read
This.

Imperial Theatre has a comedy today that will open the joy-drive for Yuletide. It is entitled "The Sins of St. Anthony," which is merely a facetious way of titling a side-splitting series of adventures that a college professor—a fellow who sees the world through a microscope—has when he loses his way and gets into the stage section of a big musical show. Bryant Washburn is the star, which is saying plenty. Guess the rest, but better still, see it. There will be the Canadian Pictorial and other smaller pictures for opener and finisher. Friday the Imperial gets right into the stride of holiday-making. The children will be freed from school and Santa Claus and his troupe of little carolers and players will be on hand at 2.30 to put on the opening matinee of their delightfully picturesque and musically pretty operetta "Red Wing, The Indian Child, or Santa Claus to the Rescue." This is a harmless adventure fiction, set in gorgeous new stage effects in the Canadian Rockies and accompanied by the Imperial orchestra. Santa Claus will visit in the audience after each rendering of this sketch.

The serial story, "The Lost City" will have its final chapter in this week-end bill. This in itself should bring gladness to all—gladness for those who have not been able to follow it rightly and gladness for those who think their grand.

IT MISS THIS FEATURE ACT AT OPERA HOUSE

Musical Satire Continues to Make Big Hit; Includes
Clever Acting, Good Singing and Dancing—Other Offerings Greatly Enjoyed.

There is still another opportunity to enjoy the snappy musical satire "The Sixth Seal," which will be presented in the Opera House tonight for the last time by George Damerall and Myrtle Vail, assisted by Ell Pottel. It is a cleverly enacted offering and the song hits, character dances and acting are a real treat. It has been making a big hit and has proven a feature of the mid-week programme. In addition there will be Bijou Russell, in songs and classic dancing; "The Flying Dutchman," in a fast and thrilling aerial offering. There will also be another episode of the "Mystery," featuring Anthony Moreno.

THE FLAPPER AT UNIQUE TONIGHT

What promises to be a photoplay of rare quality is "The Flapper," a play feature starring Olive Thomas, which opens at the Unique tonight. The story is by Francis Marion the noted playwright. This is a colorful and magnificent production and well worth your while. See it tonight.
