A Larger Market For Our Wooden Ware

A. C. Mambert, Ontario timber commissioner in London, says: "I am making some enquiries into the market for wood manufacturers, such as joinery work, turned goods and all other kinds of wood. There has been more or less discussion of this business at home, and in my knowledge a certain amount of export trade has run between Canada and this country; but, so far as I can learn, it has always been of minor volume and conducted in two casual fashions."

Trade Belonged to Germany

"At the present moment an understood opportunity exists. It would be most unfortunate if we were not to take full advantage of the present situation. Hereofore this trade has been very largely controlled by Sweden, Germany and the United States. At the present moment all goods of this kind are either prohibited from importation under the Empire, or are subject to licenses."

I have received several tangible indications of interest by parties here in developing this trade with Canada. Among these I have a letter from F. A. Perrin, of Winton, Perrin & Company, 32 Great Eastern street, London, following an interview which Mr. Perrin had with me.

Andreas for Canadian Goods. "In this letter Mr. Perrin confirms his purpose of going to Canada immediately to pursue the renewal of some old relationships existing before the war, and the establishing of new ones. He is interested in purchasing the following items: Dows, broom handles, made from soft wood, such as basswood and spruce, ash hay fork handles, ash rake handles, hickory, and maple pick handles, hickory sledges hammer handles, clothes pins, wash-bowls, maple screwdrivers, household utensils made in wood, and particularly anything in the turner and woodware lines."

"In addition there is an active demand in England and France for many other items, such as rakes, step-ladders, nails, garden barrows, washing machines, ironing boards, wooden trays, paint brush handles, etc. etc."

"My conviction is that we cannot be too aggressive in getting a full measure of the possibilities of this trade, because if we fail to do our part to meet the demand, it must sooner or later turn to other sources for satisfaction, and a decided opportunity be lost to us."

FURNITURE TRADE ENJOYS UNPARALLELED ACTIVITY

Canadian and American Factories Have Orders for Months Ahead—Prices are Steadily Advancing

(Toronto Globe).

A phenomenal activity is being experienced by the Canadian furniture trade, yet still greater business is anticipated for the near future. In the United States the furniture factories have sufficient orders booked to keep them working at capacity until the end of the year. Canada also has orders for many months' output. This business is practically all for home requirements, and now the export possibilities are opening up in an unheard-of way. Resulting from these and various other conditions, the value of furniture is soaring, and, according to both manufacturers and dealers, the advance will continue for an indefinite period.

It is estimated by the manufacturers that furniture prices have increased about 50 per cent in the past eighteen months, and about 100 per cent since 1914. There are, of course, certain items which have not advanced so much, but other items have a great deal more than doubled in price during this period. Common kitchen chairs were manufactured at a cost of about thirty-nine cents prior to the war, as compared with approximately $4.10 today. This, however, is not the class of furniture wanted at present. The cheap lines are unsalable. The chairs were made at thirty-nine cents, but they were made for the home market. The house-holders have also discarded these cheap chairs, just as they have turned away from other kinds of furniture which were sold at low figures. The demand is now for expensive dining-room chairs, better class tables, costly couches and other items. The furniture orders for the near future are expected to be enormous. The furniture orders for the near future are expected to be enormous. The furniture orders for the near future are expected to be enormous.

Too Busy for Export Trade. The export possibilities have not been thoroughly explored by the Canadian furniture manufacturers. Canada's furniture output is probably about $16,000,000 per year, according to present prices. This amount of furniture is expected to be required by the returned soldiers alone. The furniture orders for the near future are expected to be enormous. The furniture orders for the near future are expected to be enormous. May Establish New Wrecking Plant Here

J. G. Mayer, of Montreal, arrived in the city yesterday with one of the biggest business propositions that this city has known for some time. He has a piece of the many St. John boys who have made good in the world and is being greeted by his old friends. He plans to establish a manhood wrecking and salvaging station in this port. His deep-sea diving canals will raise a wreck from any depth to which a diver will go. Several such stations have already been established in the United States, and he plans to establish them in the port of St. John, Halifax, Montreal and Quebec.

Says Packers' Ring in Chicago Grips World Hide Markets

Chicago "Shanks and Bloodcurdles" Prev Upon Poor," Says Shoe Manufacturer—St. John Man Among Officers Elected

Government regulation of the price of hides and an embargo on Canadian skins for export to the United States was the solution of the high price of footwear in Canada offered by Joseph Daoust, tanner and shoe manufacturer, of Montreal, in an address delivered before the convention of the Canadian National Shoe Retailers' Association in Toronto recently.

Answering the question "Who are the boot and shoe profiteers?" he put the entire blame upon the Chicago packing ring known as the "Big Five." Mr. Daoust did not mince matters. The Chicago packers, he said, were sharks and blood suckers, preying upon the poor. Not only did they control the hide markets of the world, but also 700 food-packing companies prey upon them when they raised prices in Chicago, up went prices all over the world.

The Canadian packers were not wholly responsible, he admitted, but he added that, like good sheep, they followed the lead of the Chicago packers. On this he based his assertion that what Canada needed was an embargo on hides and a maximum price set by the government.

This, he admitted, might result in retaliation on the part of the United States, but of this Canada need have no fear, for he declared there was an abundant supply of hides in Canada to supply the needs and cover exports as well. The whole trouble, he said, lay in the exportation of Canadian hides to the United States.

"If we could keep the Canadian skins in Canada," he concluded, "there would be an immediate drop in the price of shoes locally, and plenty of material to supply our export orders and complete the 'Big Five' market."

Among the officers elected was H. W. Rising of St. John, vice-president for New Brunswick.

CANNOT EXPECT GOODS ON TIME

Wholesale Dry Goods Houses Unable to Promise Early Shipments

(Toronto Globe).

The chief difficulty being encountered by wholesale dry goods houses is the securing of merchandise. Orders placed with Toronto wholesalers are said to be for more goods than will be received within the next five or six months and that they could dispose of an entire year's supplies in the course of ten days or two weeks. Country merchants throughout Canada, with perhaps the exception of those in the west, Alberta and southwestern Saskatchewan, are buying freely, most of the orders being subject to price changes at time of delivery.

The manager of the woolen department of one of Toronto's wholesale houses states that his return from England and Scotland that he does not expect deliveries for much longer than a season on time, and that he will not be at all surprised if some of the goods are not delivered until the end of the year.

Some districts in which he found only the proprietors of one or two three-hand stores. During the war these mills were kept busy on khaki orders, and there was no stock on hand, and it will be the middle of September, or perhaps the first of October, before they start to receive the Australian wool clip.

Then on the output of these mills increased, about the first of the new year, but he is receiving his European goods a great deal more quickly than he has for the past four years.

Same Condition in Other Lines. These same conditions surround the cotton and linen trades. The Canadian textile mills are not accepting orders on a large scale, but are allotting a portion of their output to the Canadian trade. The balance of their stock is being overseas, where apparently the market prices even higher prices than the Canadian trade.

Canada's stocks of sheetings, prints, and other kindred lines are very much lower now than early in the spring, when there was a slight recession in prices. At that time the retailers looked for a continued decline in prices, and consequently held back their orders. But now there is every indication of still higher quotations, the stockholders are placing orders far in advance, and most cases are not guaranteed delivery on specific dates.

There is a great difference of opinion as to whether the lifting of the ban on goods going to Germany will have any material effect on Canadian or American cottons and woolsens. Some manufacturers believe that large orders will be placed immediately, but others contend that there will be very little trading with Germany owing to the country's financial condition, and that there is no necessity of reaching out after a shaky market when there are plenty of orders to be had in the home or other countries, where credit conditions are ideal. Of late there has been a number of buyers from neutral countries adjacent to German territory trying to buy cheap clothing and woolsens in Canada and the United States. It is understood that these buyers are operating on German account, but have so far met with little success.

AERIAL MAILMEN GO OUT ON STRIKE

New York, July 25—A strike of aerial mail pilots began today. The aviators appeared to take out the plane with Chicago mail due to start for Bellefont, Pa., at five a. m.

The strike, the first of its kind in the country, follows the refusal of the post office department to reinstate two pilots for refusing to take out planes on Tuesday on account of the fog.

FORMER ST. JOHN MAN MURDERED

"The stars are out tonight, Jim," his reply was, "Yes, good night." His wife answered good night and he was gone. "Little did we dream that it was the last time he would take that walk," observed Mrs. Sproul brokenly as she related these facts of her last knowledge of his actions.

A very few minutes later, Harry Scott, who is employed in the mill office, heard two or three shots fired. He went to the windows. Mr. Scott saw an indistinct figure standing in the darkness at the back of the house. Mr. Sproul's body was found an hour later.
