A BET AND SOME BADINAGE.

You Can Find Out a Man's Nationality
If You Go at It Right.

With a little bunch of whiskers on his chin and a broken clay pipe in his mouth a little fat man went into a saloon on the corner of Grand street and the Bowery where a crowd of Irish statesmen had gathered to swap stories and have a smile. The crowd got into an argument as to the nationality of the newcomer.

"He's a Dutchman," remarked a physician who was in the party.

"No, he ain't," said an ex-assemblyman. "I bet drinks he's a Frenchman."

"Bet he's Irish," said the congressman.

"I'll bet the drinks he's German and prove it," said the doctor.

Then, going over to the little fat man, who had just ordered a glass of beer, the physician said:

"My good man, I have met you before some place."

"Well, it wasn't in church," was the answer, "for you don't look like an honest man."

"Was it in jail?"

"And how did you get there?"

"I wasn't there," said the doctor, "but I just made a bet that you were a man of education. Have you ever read the Bible?"

"No."

"Do you know anything about Dickens' works?"

"Maybe I was the foreman there."

I'm not talking about an iron foundry.

"You've got enough talk for a gas-house."

"I can get you a good job in the gas-house," remarked the doctor.

"What do you mean?"

"Weaving gas smoke."

"And will you shovel it in?"

"No," said the doctor, "but you seem to be a smart man. Have you ever read Shakespeare?"

"No."

"Have you ever read Byron, Thackeray or Goldsmith?"

"No."

"Have you ever read Browning, Chaucer or any of the poets?"

"No."

"Well, what have you read?"

"I have read hair, sir."

"But what do you know?"

"I know enough to mind me own business, and that's more than you know," replied the little man, and when the crowd laughed the doctor blushed and said:

"The drinks are on me; he's Irish."

CALGARY, N. W. T., June 18.—The jury in the murder trial of Joseph Di-letti, accused of the murder of his brother-in-law, David Kaur, at Innisfail, returned a verdict of not guilty after ten minutes deliberation.

EMPEROR WILLIAM

Delivers an Address and Speaks Proudly of German Progress.

CUXHAVEN, June 18.—At the conclusion of the regatta held yesterday on the lower Elbe, a dinner was given on board the Hamburg-American yacht Victoria-Louise, at which Emperor William made a speech. His Majesty told his hearers that he deduced from recent events in China that the peace of Europe was assured for long years to come, because of the mutual esteem and spirit of comradeship created by the united action of the allied contingents. His majesty in reply to the burgo-master toast said:

"I express to all of you, comrades on the water, my delight that it has been given me once more to participate with you in the races of the North German Regatta Club. His Majesty, in his brief, pithy speech, has just given us a picture of the progress made by our fatherland in the domain of aquatic sports. My whole task in future will be to ensure that the seeds now sown shall spring up in peace and security. Notwithstanding the fact that we, as yet, have not a navy such as we should have, we have won for ourselves a place in the sunshine, and it will now be my task to take this place remains in our indisputed possession, so that the sun's rays may shed fruitful influence over our trade and intercourse abroad; our industry and agriculture at home, and also on the yachting on our waters for the future lies on the water. The more Germans go on the water, whether in yacht races or on voyages across the ocean, or in the service of the German navy, the better it is for us, for once the German has learned to keep an eye on the far horizon the pettiness surrounding him in his daily life disappears."

NEWS FROM NOME.

Daring Jail Delivery—Lots of Gold—A Disastrous Fire.

NOME CITY, June 8, via Seattle: Wm. June 18.—One of the most daring and successful jail deliveries that has taken place in Alaska occurred on May 30, when seven prisoners in the federal jail escaped and at last achieved freedom. The escape was planned by four men named: Bowers, Davis, Miller and Landes, while Smith, Libby and May were re-captured. In the capture May was shot through the head and jaw and is in a precarious condition. The escape was effected by cutting through the roof of the cell and afterwards cutting through the corrugated roof of the jail. As soon as the prisoners were missed a detachment of soldiers was sent from Fort Davis. Every one leaving town was questioned and "dogged" for clues to the escape were freely circulated. Libby was first captured hiding in a cabin. Smith and May were found making their way over the ridge, and were called on to surrender. The former did so, but made a break for liberty and was shot and brought down.

The results of the winter's work prove emphatically that Nome is a winter camp. Within a radius of eight miles about the city the dumps have been piled up which contain and yield five hundred thousand dollars, and this in spite of the lack of proper appliances and high price of fuel. With an ample coal supply at reasonable prices for thawing winter work can be prosecuted on a large scale. From Council City and the Topkuk come the best of reports. It is said that gold to the value of half a million dollars. The Topkuk mine is still yielding good pay. The bankers and officials agents of the city have received over $100,000 in winter dust and nuggets. All reports received at Nome during the winter tend to establish the Bluestone and Kougak country as excellent reports come from the farther northern Arctic districts.

On May 28 Nome was subjected to a most disastrous fire. The blaze started in a building on the corner of Steedman avenue and First street and soon leaped across to the old court building. Later the Washington Trading company's building and the Smiley-Campbell building caught. The fire department encountered great difficulty in fighting the flames, owing to the hose being filled with ice. Judge E. P. Ryan and his wife barely escaped with their lives, losing all their possessions. The losses are placed at $125,000. Business has been resumed and the effect of the fire is not expected to result in more than a temporary blow to the prosperity of the town.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

WATSEKA, Ill., June 18.—Hert A. Maggee, is in jail here charged with murdering his wife, his six year old child and his wife's mother, Mrs. Mary J. Herdberger, on the morning of May 23. The accused was the only living witness of the affair in which the three perished. Maggee remained alone around the fire until the house was consumed, and then he fled four miles to this city before raising the alarm. The fact that he escaped with all his clothing, and that he was the beneficiary of $2,000 insurance on his wife's life, led to his arrest. At the coroner's inquest Maggee refused to give any testimony.

A NOTABLE MEETING.

PARIS, June 18.—The Libre Parole asserts, in connection with the reported forthcoming meeting between Emperor William and President Loubet, at Cherbourg, upon the occasion of the return of the emperor from China, that this movement was negotiated by Germany through the French ministry of foreign affairs.

A POKER GAME.

That Mr. Jerry Burke Says He Had in St. John.

(Bangor Commercial.)

"Ever play poker down in Canada?" asked Jerry Burke one day this week as he removed his straw hat and shook his very much overcast head with a white silk handkerchief. "No."

"Well, I did the very last time I was there and after the game was over the eight of the lady I had been playing with was that bad that I decided gambling was all wrong. Since then I've hated everything as soon as it came my way and now I'm what you might call a tight wad."

"Perhaps you fellows don't know it, but over the border they play the game a trifle differently from what we do here in the states. The highest possible hand a man can hold, according to their method, is four aces, and you can be very sure that it isn't very often one player gets them all."

"Back early in the spring I was down in St. John for three weeks and almost every night two other lads and myself used to get together in my room at the hotel and wiggle the pasteboards of my losses and I can honestly remark that a man never played in worse luck than I did. At I happened to have three queens and opened up a jack pot with them, why the guy next to me would come in and win with three kings or aces or any other old thing every blessed time. I was getting into the hole pretty deep and I could see where I'd have to wear my straw hat with ear lappets all next winter. There wasn't much else to do of an evening though, so the games kept right on."

"I'll never forget the last night I was in town as long as I live. It was the last time that I shall ever play poker. Even at the supper table I knew that there was something doing, but when I sat down with S. and T. at the card table I knew that my luck had changed. For the first four or five hands the pots were small and pretty evenly divided, but the next time I picked up my cards I commenced to stir the others for I had three aces."

"That hand happened to be a jack pot, and T. opened it for $2 and called for two cards. S. looked as how he would stay, too, and he gave himself 'twice' past boards. I froze to my three aces, showed in my ante and called for two cards. When I picked them up I nearly fell out of my chair. One of them was an ace."

"Then commenced one of the liveliest bluffs I ever saw. I see your $2 and go you $2 better, which it has ever been my fortune to witness. Time and again we raised each other and finally T. dropped out. He turned up his cards as he did so and showed up three queens on which he had originally based his hopes."

"I don't guess they're much use in this company, though," he said.

"After that S. and I kept raising one another for another five minutes and finally he called. I dropped down my four aces and his face turned all sorts of colors. For a moment we thought he was going to faint, but he didn't. He simply downed a glass of brandy and then threw his own hand on the table, face upwards. A quartet of kings met our eyes and I raked in the pool."

"The upshot of the whole matter was we played until daylight, and when we had counted up I found that I had not only won back everything I had lost during the whole trip, but I was actually $17 to the good. I've got sense enough to know that I can never hope to put in another such night as that, so I've decided to cut it out entirely."

A NEW CITY BY THE SEA.

(Toronto Globe.)

The development of the iron and steel industry of Sydney, C. B., caused a marvelous transformation within the past year, and a new and populous centre of trade and industry has come into existence. Where there was nothing but a wilderness a few years ago there is now the smoke of furnaces glowing in the night and visible for twenty miles. The population has jumped from three or four thousand to about fifteen thousand, and the industries under way will sustain even a much larger city. The forest has been cut down to make room for palatial suburban residences, and new buildings of all descriptions are going up in every quarter. The assessable property has increased in value from one million to three and a half million dollars in a year. The postal records of 1899 and 1900 show by comparison the extent of the city's growth in one year. The sale of stamps increased from $1441 to $15,500, the aggregate of money orders from $21,523 to $155,315, the number of registered letters from 4,500 to 26,000 and of ordinary letters from 461,656 to 714,672.

Although a building boom has been in active progress since the first extensive move in the iron and steel development, houses are not to be had, and all the hotels, old and new, are crowded. Real estate is booming, but not beyond the natural possibilities of the city, and business enterprise is advancing in every field.

FIVE HUNDRED LASHES.

CAMDEN, Ark., June 18.—Tom Watson, who with his wife, swore that she had committed an assault on Mrs. Watson, was taken out by a committee of citizens of Camden last night and given five hundred lashes. The affidavit of Watson, and his wife was the means of Watson being sentenced to hang, but about three weeks ago Mrs. Watson made a written statement confessing that she had sworn falsely against Watson. On learning this Governor Davis suspended the sentence imposed on Watson. Watson's wife swore that she was compelled by her husband to testify against Watson.

THE TEXAN MAN HUNT.

LARSEN, Tex., June 18.—News has just reached here that Captain Brooks' company of state rangers had a fight with the Mexicans who are supposed to be guilty of the assassination of Sheriff Morris of Burness county and Sheriff Clover and Constable Schmeider of Gonzales county. Four horses were stolen Sunday night at Campbellton in Alameda county. The rangers overtook four Mexicans riding horses that carried the description of those stolen. A running fight ensued, in which one Mexican was killed, one captured and one escaped.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE.

Proposed Revision of Canons of Protestant Episcopal Church.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The joint commission on the revision of the canons of the Protestant Episcopal church which was constituted by resolution of the house of deputies in the general convention of 1898 and convened in the house of bishops, has just made public its report which will be submitted for approval to the next general convention in San Francisco next October.

Foremost among the recommended changes are those which apply to marriage and divorce. Attached to the report, but not incorporated in its text, is the "Proposed canon on prohibited degrees," which revises the old discussion of the prohibition against marrying a dead wife's sister. This question has long vexed the law makers in England.

Elimination of young persons are frowned upon in the following words: "No minister shall solemnize the marriage of any person who is a minor under law of the place of marriage, unless the parent or guardian of such minor is present and consenting, or shall have given written consent to the marriage or is permanently resident in a foreign country."

Another precaution against ill-vised marriages is taken. The canon says: "No minister shall solemnize a marriage except in the presence of at least two witnesses, the minister or witnesses being personally acquainted with the parties."

Re-marriage by divorced persons is carefully considered thus: "No minister shall solemnize the marriage between any two persons unless or until, by inquiry, he shall have satisfied himself that neither person has been, or is, the husband or wife of any other person then living, unless the former marriage was annulled by a decree of some competent jurisdiction for cause existing before such former marriage."

Discipline for divorced persons is laid down thus: "No person divorced for cause arising after marriage and marrying again during the life time of the other party to the divorce, shall be admitted to baptism or confirmation or receive the holy communion except when penitent and separated from the other party to the subsequent marriage, or when penitent or in immediate danger of death, but this canon shall not apply to the innocent party to a divorce for the cause of adultery."

If the revisions submitted are adopted by the convention the canon law of the Episcopal church will appear in a much simpler form than in the case now, for the canons, as revised, numbered consecutively from one to fifty-six, and are not arranged in such complex shape as they appear at present.

BRIEFS BY WIRE.

The Deutschland Makes a Fast Run to Plymouth.

Dr. J. G. Jeannep, who was shot by Rev. Charles G. Adams at Berkeley, Calif., has died from his injuries. Adams is in the county jail at Oakland.

The Hamburg American Line steamer Deutschland, arrived at Plymouth at 8.15 today, having beaten her own speed record. She covered 3,000 miles in five days, 11 hours, 51 minutes, at an average speed of 23.6 against 23.36, her best previous speed record.

Vickers' Sons and Maxim inform the Associated Press that the increase of the firm's capital by $1,000,000 in ordinary shares has absolutely nothing to do with the American amalgamation. The measure is purely one of international finance and was considered necessary for the needs of the English company.

The St. Clair Furnace Company, owned by the Crucible Steel Company of America, today started to build three six hundred ton daily capacity blast furnaces in H. C. Fricks new town, Clairton, on the Monongahela river. The furnaces will cost when completed $3,250,000.

THE WEATHER.

TORONTO, June 18.—West and east light to moderate southeasterly winds, with fog near coast, but mostly fair today and Thursday.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Eastern states and Northern New York, fair tonight and Thursday; higher temperature; light southern winds. Western New York—Early cloudy tonight with higher temperature in western portions. Thursday, showers are probable. Fresh southwesterly winds.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

NEW YORK, June 18.—James F. Ahern, an heman of the American Co., shot his wife Louise and then sent a bullet through his own brain at St. Nichols street and Avenue U, Gravesend, early this morning. Both were dead when found. Anger at his wife's habits, which were somewhat dissipated, is supposed to have furnished a motive for the crime. Ahern was 46 years of age, and his wife, who had been married before, was 32 years of age, and was formerly employed as a servant in the house of Mr. Warneck.

GUNBOAT RELAP OF 1812-15 WAR. CHATHAM, Ont., June 18.—Another episode, a relic of the war of 1812, has been discovered in the river about 10 miles above Belleville. It was found that this boat is all buried in the bank of the river except some ten or twelve feet, which project into the river. In all those years—nearly a century—the banks of the river have changed from time to time. The bank has actually formed over this boat, and on the top of the bank a huge tree has grown.
