

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. Irving McAlister, the well known druggist is now sojourning in foreign lands. Mr. Benj. Young has also left us for a tour of the States. May his trip be a pleasant one. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woods gave a delightful reception at their new home on Main street, Monday evening. About fifty of their friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Ernst T. Lee celebrated the fifth anniversary of their marriage on Wednesday evening last. The presents were numerous and elegant, many unique designs being displayed in wooden cases. Dr. W. H. Stevens was in town on Monday. Miss Mattie Harris and Mr. Otis Bailey were fortunate in winning the prizes. Wedding bells will again be heard on the 18th. This time our consil will be the occasion of it. We will miss Fannie! Mr. and Mrs. W. B. King will spend the winter months in Colorado. WHO?

BISHOP MEDLEY.

The portrait of the Metropolitan recently published by Progress is admitted to be most faithful likeness of His Lordship which has yet appeared in any paper. The edition containing it was rapidly exhausted, and many admirers of the Bishop were unable to obtain copies. In response to numerous requests it is republished today. It is a matter of regret that space will not permit of the republication of the masterly pen portrait which accompanied the engraving. The moral is that people who want the best should buy Progress early on the day of issue.

Some incidents occurred at the Truro exhibition that are worthy of note. At all the hotels there were crowds of people, and it was the hardest work in the world to obtain a good, square meal; and even when one was to be obtained, some money grabbers had the gall to increase the prices, many charging even 50 cents for a poor tear. One Picou lady, who had two daughters with her, went to a certain hotel for dinner. After waiting for about an hour, the proprietor partially opened the door, and she squeezed in, but was nearly killed in the attempt—so she said. A Picou girl who followed her, exclaimed to your correspondent, putting her hand on her bustle, "the only thing that saved me was my bustle."—Halifax Mail.

The Chicago Timberman's accustomed perspicuity enabled it to discover an important case where superficial observers hereabouts have seen only a small one. It says: A case now pending in the provincial court of New Brunswick, affects large interests and involves most of the law as to building dams and running logs on rivers. Log owners claim that the annoying log jams that occur on the St. Croix river at Milltown, are occasioned by the defective passageway in the cotton mill dam. The cotton mill owners on the other hand claim that the lumbermen should keep the log roll clear, and they have obtained a temporary injunction against a lumber firm restraining them from allowing logs to remain on their lands. The decision of the court will be given upon the motion to dissolve the injunction, and will be of interest to lumbermen generally, and possibly of particular interest to those of the Saginaw valley.

It is well to know that there is an etiquette in regard to sofas and divans. They are primarily for ladies, and no gentleman should occupy one while ladies are seated on chairs. Neither should a gentleman take a seat beside a lady on a sofa unless asked to do so. Terra cotta shades this season have a crimson tone, including the etruscan red and sienna hues, shaded effects in colors will not be entirely abandoned, although much less popular than heretofore. Bonnets of one color, with trimmings of a lighter tint, are promised. No girl is now really fashionable unless she carries a pocket bonbonniere. They are of silver or oxidized, or even of gold and are ornamented with all sorts of designs, including the lady's initials or first name, but more often with a design of her favorite flower. These small round and square boxes cost from two to fifty dollars.

A Presbyterian lady in Philadelphia has a Sunday-school class; and among her pupils is one little girl who is a sort of embryo Mrs. Partington. They were being drilled on the Westminster Catechism. In reply to the question, "What is God?" which the answer in the book begins, "God is a spirit, infinite and unchangeable," this child answered seriously, "God is a spirit, indefinite, external and unmanageable."—Christian Register.

The Very Worst. Old Man's Darling (improvingly)—Tell me the worst, doctor. Believe me, I can stand it. Smart Doctor (doubtfully)—I don't know about that. However, nerve yourself then, madame. Your husband will get well.—Texas Siftings.

It Broke the Engagement. Young Spinckie (referring to the evening being chilly)—You should have brought something that would have been a protection to you. Miss Cronall—Yes; I should have thought of that. She said these were so many tramps around here after dark.—Judge.

LET HIM GO. I would like from the city and law. From his business and from his home. And go where the industry takes him. And the industry takes him to the street. Where the catnip tree is climbed by the cat. As she crosses her legs. The guileless and unsuspecting rat. On the grass he is busy. I will wash, at least, the iron cow. And her cowherd in the field. From the milk of her udder to the churn. On the top of the cowslip tree; Where the musical partridge drums on his drum. And the woodchuck chucks his wood. And the dog devours the dogwood pine. In the presence of his prey.—Springfield Union.

Oh! let me drink from the moss grown pump. That was brewed from the pumpkin tree. Eat mush and milk from a rural stump. From ferns and sedges flow. New gathered mush from the mushroom vine. And milk from the milkweed sweet. With incense plussible from the pine—Such food as the gods might eat. And then to the white-washed dairy I'll turn. Where the dairymaid hastening hies; Her ruddy and golden red butter to churn. From the milk of her cowherd's udder; And I'll rise at morn with the early bird, To the fragrant farm yard dress on his drum. When the farmer turns his beautiful herd Of grasshoppers out to grass.—Springfield Union.

THE Equitable Life Assurance Society. Condensed Statement, January 1, 1888. ASSETS, $84,378,904 85 LIABILITIES, 4 per cent. 66,274,650 00 SURPLUS, $18,104,254 85 New Assurance, $138,023,105 17 Outstanding Assurance, 483,029,562 1 Paid Policy Holders in 1887 10,062,509 1 organization 106,610,293 Total Income, 23,240,849 2c Premium Income, 19,115,775 47 Increase to Liabilities, 127 1-2 per cent. On the less rigorous standard adopted by the Canadian companies (which assumes that four and one-half per cent will be realized on investments) the surplus of the Equitable is as follows: ASSETS, $84,378,904 85 ESTIMATED LIABILITIES (4 1-2 per cent), 61,882,000 00 ESTIMATED SURPLUS (4 1-2 p. c.) $22,496,904 85 Percentage of Assets to Liabilities, 137. THE VIGOROUS EQUITABLE.—Every year when the Equitable Life Assurance Society presents its big figures in the shape of a report, the remark is made that it will be impossible to repeat the success of the previous year. It is not only to repeat but to excel it. The results of the business of 1887 are simply astounding. The total gain for the year was $2,400,000. The surplus of the year was $1,800,000. The Equitable with its big surplus can stand it when companies with relatively less will be embarrassed. C. A. MACDONALD, General Agent, St. John, N. B.

Good Blood Hangs on Good Digestion. MANY die because they are not nourished by the food they eat, eating yet starving. Bad blood shows itself in pimples, eruptions or sores, blotches, sallow skin, languor and a feeling of uselessness. Whatever renders the blood impure tends to originate consumption. There can be no heartiness, spirits, no soundness of mind with thin or diseased blood. Something must be done when the system is in such a state. A cure is required and one that works quickly and effectually is the cure that is most required, for making new healthy blood, for sick headaches, wakeful and restless nights, that tired feeling, poor appetite, neuralgic pains and kidney trouble nothing has been discovered that is equal to BOVINE. Dr. J. STIMPSON HARRISON, of Washington, D. C. says: "I have been engaged in the regular practice of medicine for more than 30 years, and in all that time have found nothing that I regard as equal to BOVINE for making new blood and building up an overworked and run-down system." Price 60 Cents and $1.00 Per Bottle. For Sale by All Druggists.
