

PART II.
EUROPEAN ORATORS

BOOK I.

ORATORS OF GREECE AND ROME

| | PAGE |
|---|-------------|
| Pericles | 395 |
| The Dead who Fell for Athens | 396 |
| Lysias | 398 |
| The Crimes of Eratosthenes | 399 |
| Isocrates | 401 |
| Flattery more Powerful than Truth | 401 |
| The Principles of Good Government | 402 |
| The Basis of a Virtuous Life | 403 |
| Demosthenes | 404 |
| Philip the Enemy of Athens | 405 |
| On the Crown | 407 |
| Æschine | 410 |
| Against Ctesiphon | 411 |
| Marcus Porcius Cato | 413 |
| Woman in Politics | 414 |
| Caius Gracchus | 415 |
| The People's Rights above Privilege | 416 |
| Caius Julius Cæsar | 417 |
| The Punishment of Catiline's Associates | 418 |
| Marcus Tullius Cicero | 420 |
| The Treason of Catiline | 421 |
| The Cruelty of Verres | 423 |
| Mark Antony | 425 |
| Brutus Derounced | 426 |

BOOK II.

PULPIT ORATORS OF MEDIÆVAL EUROPE

| | |
|--|-----|
| Saint Augustine | 430 |
| The Lord's Prayer | 431 |
| Saint Chrysostom | 432 |
| Death a Blessed Dispensation | 433 |
| Saint Bernard | 434 |
| The Deliverance of the Holy Land | 435 |
| Albertus Magnus | 436 |
| The Significance of Christ's Crucifixion | 437 |
| Martin Luther | 438 |
| Defence before the Diet at Worms | 439 |