REMINISCENCES of
NORLAND, ONTARIO

By Mrs. EDWARD ADAIR

November 1st, 1909.

On visiting the home of my childhood, after an absence of twenty-one years (which we spent in the Rocky mountains of British Columbia, and Vancouver), and on approaching the picturesque hamlet of Norland, situated on the placid waters of the Gull River, at the hour of midnight, I was captivated by the recurring picture before us as we rode along in our carriage in the beautiful clear night, the full, round, silvery moon casting
