Big Boston, Grand Rapids, and Silver Ball are good varieties.

Sow radish from May 15 to June 15. All sorts are good. White Tipped Scarlet Gem, French Breakfast and Olive Scarlet are extra good.

Tomatoes seldom ripen unless protected from cold nights after August 15. Seed should be sown in box or hotbed early in April, transplanted about June 1, and protected for two or three weeks. Spark's Earliana is the safest variety to grow.

Citron, cucumber, squash, pumpkin, etc., can be started in a box or hotbed April 20 to 25, and planted in garden June 1. Protection at nights for two or three weeks requires to be given plants set out. Satisfactory varieties are: Citron, Preserving; cucumber, Short Green, White Spine, Giant Peru, and Chicago Pickling; squash, Crook-neck.

Rhubarb seed can be sown in cold frame or garden from May 15 to end of May, and transplanted the following spring. The bed for rhubarb should be dug twelve to fourteen inches deep, with all the well-rotted manure mixed in that is possible. Each fall a heavy coating of the same sort should be applied as a protection, and dug in about the roots in the spring. Tottel's Improved and Victoria are good varieties.

THE DOCTOR'S JOKE

"Safety is the goal for which we aeroplane builders are now winging," said Orville Wright, in a recent interview in Dayton. "The present precarious type of aeroplane lays itself open to too many jokes.

"Thus a Dayton doctor advised a dyspeptic patient the other day to go in for aviation.

"It will stir you up," the doctor said. "It will do you good."

"And how much aviating would you advise me to do?" the patient asked.

"About three drops—not more—between meals," the doctor answered."
