Detroit Tiger Recruit Pitcher Needs Size Eleven Shoes

If somebody told you that the first pair of shoes he ever wore was size 11, you probably would be looking for the joke.

Yet that is the statement made by John Brodie Williams, the Hawaiian pitcher with the Detroit Tiger squad in Galtport. Williams never had a pair of shoes on his feet until he was past 16 years of age, and by walking barefoot constantly all his boyhood had enlarged his pedal extremities so much that he needed elevens to fit. Not only are his shoes 11 but they are very wide into the bargain—regular "police feet."

In Honolulu where Williams has lived ever since he was born, there is no real necessity for shoes. The weather is always warm and most of the sidewalks are of grass instead of concrete or flagstones. In this delightful country all the children, rich and poor, go barefoot constantly.

Shoes are regarded merely as a burden, much as American boys would consider gloves if they were worn all the year around.

Naturally it does not improve the size or shape of the feet to go shoeless, and all Hawaiians have big hoofs. Possibly this is the reason why the islanders can swim so well. They have regular paddles, just like ducks.

There must be some wonderful aquatic stunts performed in Honolulu too, if all that Williams tells is true. He says that it is a matter of record that two fishermen whose boat capsized in mid-channel swam 26 miles. One of them got to shore while the other became exhausted and sank too feet from the beach. The survivor was given a medal for his heroism in saving his own life.

Another story Williams tells is of the captain of a small schooner which was cut in two by a steamer vessel. This Kanaka was 82 years old, but when his vessel was wrecked, he picked up a piece of floating plank and with this support remained in the water almost 40 hours, finally being washed ashore many miles from the scene of the accident. Later, he said the owners of the steamer which cut his vessel in two and collected heavy damages.

Williams himself is a good swimmer, and is willing to race any man in the American League. He belongs to the same club as the famous Duke Kahanamoku, holder of many records. He doesn't claim to be so fast as Duke, but says that there are several youngsters in Honolulu now who will take that human fish's measure before many months.

The Hawaiian doesn't think a great deal of baseball in the islands. He says that the Chinese and Japanese run everything, including the national game, and that most of them are so pig-headed that they will not learn to play it properly.

"If you try to point out their mistakes to the Japs and Chinks," says Williams, "they regard it as personal and get sore. They are always either riding the umpire or the newspaper men who try to do them a service by showing how they could improve. They play fairly well but could do a lot better if they would only listen to a little advice."

"The Orientals also control the labor market and there is little chance for an American unless he is employer. Chinese and Japanese laborers get 90 cents a day in Hawaii, which isn't enough to keep an American alive."

WOODSTOCK JUNIORS WENT TO GALT CRIPPLED.

WOODSTOCK, March 6.—The Woodstock juniors left for Galt yesterday in a crippled condition for their consolation match in that town. Capt. Glenn Smith, the sturdy defense man, was unable to accompany the team owing to illness, while Armstrong, the speedy centre man, could not leave the college where he is a student. It is expected that both these men will be in their regular places for the final game here to-morrow night.

VANCOUVER MUST PAY.

CINCINNATI, March 6.—The National Baseball Commission yesterday upheld a finding of the National Board when it decided that the Vancouver club of the Northwestern league was indebted to the Pats, Ky. club of the Blue Grass League, to the extent of $400 for the services of player Hauer. The Vancouver club contended that the player was not in condition when he reported, to it, but evidence submitted according to ruling yesterday did not bear out this claim.

CHESLEY WINS FROM MILDMA BY 14-4 SCORE

SCHAFELY AFTER MILAN.

DANVILLE, Va., March 6.—Manager Larry Schafely of Buffalo Federal League team, left here yesterday for Washington, in an effort to sign Clyde Milan of the Washington Americans for the Bisons. Manager Schafely said he was authorized to offer the American League's star base runner a contract for $21,000 for three years salary and $5,000 bonus.

Teams of the Canadian League are being brought into line slowly but surely. There are but few of the teams who have not signed their full number of players who will be given try-outs. Perhaps Ottawa is the only city which is having any trouble and the hold-outs on that team are being whipped into line gradually.

Quality Of Canadian League To Be Class "B" Despite Rating

Clubs Have Signed Up With Above Classification Under Higher Salary—May Get Class "B" Standard Brand Yet.

(London Free Press)
Despite the fact that the National Association Arbitration Board saw fit not to grant the Canadian League class "B" rating for the coming season does not deprive the fans from seeing class "B" ball just the same as if the league were given the rating.

The clubs throughout the circuit have gone on signing up players for the 1914 season with the expectations of the above rating and a higher salary limit and thus there is every reason to believe that better ball will be the consequence under the old class "C" rating.

However, it is expected that when President Fitzgerald presents the real facts of the case and shows the arbitration board the sworn population of the seven cities on the circuit, not including Toronto, that the population requirements for class "B" rating will be found satisfactory and the rating will be granted before the season opens.

Population of the seven cities in round figures are:
Erie 80,000
Hamilton 100,000
Ottawa 100,000
London 55,000
Brantford 30,300
Peterboro 25,000
St. Thomas 20,000

Total 416,000
Aoronto 500,000
Grand total 910,000
Class "B" rating requires 400,000 or more population.

OFFICIALS NAMED FOR THE BIG N. H. A. GAMES

MONTREAL, March 6.—President E. T. Quinn of the National Hockey Union, has appointed Johnny Brennan, Montreal, and "Rat" Westwick, Ottawa, officials for Saturday's game here, the first of the home and home series the Torontos and Canadiens must play to break the tie resulting from Wednesday night's matches.
George Kennedy of the Canadiens, announced that he had withdrawn the protest he made against the result of the last meeting between his team and the Torontos in Toronto, when Canadiens were not allowed to count a goal that would have tied the score on an offside ruling.

The Athletics regulars and Yammagans will have their first game this week at Jacksonville, Fla. Boardman, Groves and Boehn are slated to do the twirling for the youngsters.
