Extravagant Claim of Counsel James M. Beck Disproved.

Witness Centre of Violent Demonstra tions of Disapprobation - Would Have Been Committed If Information Refused Could Not Have Been Got Elsewhere - Buys Agitation In Favor of Policyholders Off.

New York, Oct. 18.—Testimony resumed yesterday after a week's ad-journment of the Legislative Commit-tee, taken because of the death last week of S. Fred Nixon, Speaker of the Assembly, was most exciting through out the entire day, and only the re-peated threats of Senator Armstrong, chairman of the committee, to clear the room, prevented violent demonstrations of disapprobation of the witness, who was Richard A. McCurdy, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. As it the Mutual Life Insurance Co. As it was, however, there were jeers at several periods of the day's testimony that temporarily interrupted the testimeny. These came when Mr. Hughes, the counsel for the committee, asked questions that Mr. McCurdy was re-luctant to answer, or evaded, A Comparison.

Before the witness was called James McKeen, associate counsel to the committee, put in evidence for the records, a statement of the assets of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. and of the Banks of England, France and Germany. James M. Beck, counsel for the Mutual James M. Beck, counsel for the Mutual Life Insurance Co., claimed last Tuesday before the committee that the assets of the Mutual Life exceeded the combined assets of the Banks of England, France and Germany. By cable Mr. McKeen said he had ascertained the combined assets of those institutions where $2,226,574,725, while those of the Mutual Life were $440,978,371. Further, said Mr. McKeen, he had found the salary of the president of the Bank of Germany to be $30,000 per annum, and that of the chief governor of the Bank of England to be $10,000. Mr. McCurdy received $150,000 a year. He had been unable to ascertain the He had been unable to ascertain the salary of the president of the Bank of Getting at the Press. In Mr. McCurdy's testimony yester-day it was disclosed that the Mutual Life employed a literary bureau to send out to the press of the country notices that were of benefit to the company. It came out when a voucher for the payment of $2,500 to Joseph How the payment of $2,500 to 30591 Howard, Jr., in 1994, was produced, Mc-Curdy explained that Howard was a newspaper correspondent, and that his professional services consisted in syn-dicating news stories. Witness Didn't Know.

An attempt was made to obtain fro McCurdy the reason for reducing the dividends on policies as the business increased and the assets piled up. To all the questions on this matter, the witness said he was not fortified with the information required. When Mc-Curdy would not offer the informa-tion himself, Mr. Hughes stareed on another line of inquiry. Later in the day, Chairman Armstrong explained that since the information desired could that since the information desired count be obtained by another source, it was agreeable to the committee to let Mc-Curdy remain silent. Had he, however, been directed to answer and knowing the information refused, steps would have been taken to indict him for a misdemeaner.

The Legal Expenses. The legal expenses were again recur-red to and vouchers for the payment of various sums were read. It was brought out that Wm. Barnes, Sr., of Albany, had appeared before the com-mittee in Albany last winter and had received $1,000 from the New York The Lindsey Complete

Agitation Bought Off. A voncher in 1902 for $10,000, payable to T. H. Bowles, was explained by McCurdy as partial settlement of a suit, Bowles, formerly general agent in Milwaukee, had brought against the company. When it came Bowles' turn to have his business taken over by the company, under the policy of the company to assume all general agencies, Bowles wrote a letter to the president, which he termed "insubordination," and dismissed the writer Later Bowles agitated a policyholders' crusade against the company, and McCurdy said the suit was settled to end the agita-

Concerning a payment of $5,000 to Wm. A. Fricke, a former insurance commissioner of Wisconsin, McCurdy testified that this payment was made after the receipt of a letter from Charlton T. Mr. McCurdy will be a witness again to-day.

Was Driving With His Sister When Horse Ran Away—He Now Lies in St. Joseph's Hospital in a Critical Condition

What may prove to be a fatal ac-

What may prove to be a fatal accident occurred yesterday afternoon at 3.30, at the Michigan Central crossing, Charing Cross, when Herbert Russell, a 14-year-old lad, was struck by a fast eastbound train. His left leg was broken and he received such internal injuries that he now lies in St. Joseph's Hospital in a very critical condition.

The boy, who is the son of Henry Russell, third concession, Raleigh, was driving out from town, accompanied by his sister, who is some years his senior. On nearing the railway crossing of the Michigan Central on the Gravel road, the horse became frightened and both the occupants of the buggy jumped. Both caught the horse, but the young lady was unable to hold on. The animal dragged the boy on to the track way from the rapidly approaching train. It is indeed a strange thing that the boy should be so badly, perhaps fatally, injured, the buggy wrecked, while the horse escaped without injury.

A man, who is a total stranger here, arrived in the city to pay a social call to his brother, who is the manager of one of Chatham's well-known and prosperous industries. There is a very strong resemblance between the two brothers, in fact, one could easily be mistaken for the other, and when the stranger walked down King St. alone yesterday morning he was surprised to meet so many people who evidently knew him and spoke to him. He desired to make a small purchase and entered a King St. store with this end in view.
