

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

In the hope of bringing a suggestion to some woman who has her living to earn and cannot decide just how to do it, and with a desire to give woman a broader outlook a position what the rest of their sex are doing, I occasionally devote this column to telling something about some of the unusual ways in which women are earning their bread and butter. If any of my readers are doing any work that is rather out of the ordinary, or know of anyone else who is doing such work, I wish they would write me a few lines about it.

Please tell how you or your friend started in with the unusual work, what its advantages and disadvantages are, and how well it pays.

An unique niche in the real estate business has been both created and filled by a very clever woman, with a small amount of money and a large amount of taste.

After failing to obtain a regular position as a real estate agent, this woman started the business of making undesirable summer houses desirable.

She began by renting a house that was desirable in locality and in everything but furnishings, and completely overhauling it. She repapered, painted, cleaned and refurbished it—mostly with second-hand furniture rejuvenated, and dainty but inexpensive hangings. All of the work this rejuvenating entailed, she herself did with the help of a scrub-woman. Not a room cost more than fifty dollars, but it was all done with such taste and daintiness that as soon as it was furnished she rented the house for the summer for twice what she had paid for a whole year.

She was at once offered a position by the real estate agent, but preferred to work along this new line and has made a good living in this way. Often she furnishes the house with antique furniture rejuvenated, and sometimes sells the furniture. This year she expects to make desirable, and sublet five houses at a good profit.

Because of the high cost of food-stuffs, woman's time honored occupation—keeping boarders—is said to be difficult to make profitable just now.

One clever woman, however, has evolved a variation upon it that she has been able to make pay very well.

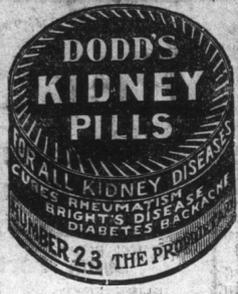

She boards helpless and "cranky" old folks, charging from ten dollars up, according to the care required, and as care is the chief commodity supplied and the food they consume is a comparatively small consideration, she makes a very comfortable thing out of it.

At present she has six guests and keeps two maids. One maid does the washing and ironing, the other does the table work and chamber work and helps her with the old folks. She herself does all the cooking and takes care of the guests. Under present conditions she could accommodate eight. Four are the least with which such an establishment could be made to pay, she says.

Of course, most of the old folks are just like children and require infinite patience and watchfulness. Some of them have to be dressed and undressed and fed. Some are weak-minded and ask the same question half a dozen times in half an hour. They are also apt to forget to be blue and depressed, requiring constant cheering.

"No one could do it who do not like old people," she comments, "but for anyone who does and who has much patience and vitality, I think there is a good opening for such work in any good-sized town or city. Get the doctors to be on the lookout for cases for you to apply for, and advertise in the local paper."

Now please don't forget to send in that little story of your work that may help or interest some other woman.

dresser suits heavy satin and broadcloth will be used.

Neckchains composed of the large gold or silver beads, hang about many pretty necks and dangle in front of the waist line.

It is expected that in the autumn fashions chiffons will be much used over brocade taffetas and figured silks of various descriptions.

Those who ought to know predict that the double box plait in back will be seen as the prevailing style in tailored skirts this fall.

Some entire hats are made of cashmere and Persian silks, and they are very prominent as facings and in the making of millinery accessories.

Scotch Baronet a Saint

Gives Up Estates and Labours as-Missionary Monk Until Blind.

Although British baronets have the reputation of being wicked, probably owing to the fact that the villain of almost every melodrama is "a bold, bad baronet," there are some of them who are almost saints. To the latter category belongs Sir David Hunter Blair, a barefoot monk of the Order of St. Benedict, who, after spending a number of years labouring in the swamp districts of the Amazon River to convert the natives to Christianity, has now returned home to Europe perfectly blind, in the faint hope that some miracle may be accomplished towards the restoring of his eyesight by the world-famed oculist, Professor Gegenstaecker at Welsbaden.

The baronet graduated from Oxford and married. Upon his wife's death he obtained special permission from the Pope to take orders and turned over the family Ayrshire estate to his brother, a naval captain.

Sir David, who is the fifth baronet of his line, has also done missionary work in Patagonia. He is the only monk on record who belongs to any clubs, having retained his membership in the Caledonian, in Edinburgh, and of the Conservative, in London.

Archbishop Ireland Sees in Socialism a Serious Menace

DULUTH, Minn., August 7.—Socialism was pointed out by Archbishop Ireland in an address here as the most momentous question that America will be called upon to face.

"If there is one sign of alarm in the skies of the future for our country, as I see it," said Mr. Ireland, "it is that there will be an effort to chain individualism, to give all into the hands of the Government, and to bring every one to a common level, which in that case must be the level of mediocrity. We are equal in liberty, and equal in rights, but equal in talents never."

"The most perilous problem ever presented to humanity is before America. There are clamorings for a division of property, for special laws, and there are mobs and rioting. If these go on and increase, the hour may come when America will say, 'I must maintain order at any cost; if not with liberty, then with a powerful centralized government.'"

Laid Up With Lame Back

Pain, helplessness and suffering are overcome by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mrs. Frank Bloom, Hardwood Lake, Ont., writes: "I want to tell you of the great benefit I found in the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I suffered so badly with kidney disease that when I lay down I could not get up without help. I was completely laid up with lame, aching back. I read about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the almanac, got them, and they cured me of kidney disease and backache."

"My husband had dreadful pains in his sides and obtained cure by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These pills are the best on the market and I am glad to recommend them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are definite and certain in action, enliven the liver and bowels as well as the kidneys, are lastingly beneficial and economical. But to obtain these results you must get the genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

Fads and Fashions.

Pompons will continue to be worn, and the moodish algrette now has the round and sunburst effect.

Travelling coats of crash or grass linen are seen almost as frequently as those of linen.

There is evidence that velvets and all pile fabrics will be in great favor in the autumn.

The habit or panel skirt is in vogue.

It seems certain that in the early fall the narrow skirt and peasant bodice will prevail.

Some of the new fall hats are to be brimless, it is said, and peaked like a witch's crown.

The rage for all kinds of scarves is at its height, scarcely a costume being seen without this accessory.

Choux or bows matching in color, the straw of one's hat are quite natty as a neck finish to summer gowns.

Hats of chintz or small figured chiffon are worn more and more by small girls at shore and mountains.

For outing wear coarse straw hats, handed with hand-embroidered coarse linen, are among the novelties.

Swiss openwork embroidery continues its vogue, being employed impartially on hats, blouses and dresses.

Ribbon run insertion continues to be a favourite finish for the top of the ruffle on lingerie, petticoats.

Long scarves of black satin are very striking, some self-lined, others with oyster white or pearl-gray satin.

Black satin tailormades show accessories of embroidery in the dark Korean hints or in the blues and reds of Bulgaria.

Sleeves for tailored costumes are tighter than ever, and are finished with stitched straps, braiding or turnover cuffs.

The mannish wool mixtures have first place for tailored suits, but for

Great A'roplane Flights

Special to Evening Telegram. PARIS, Aug. 17.

Half of Paris forsook their beds last night and remained in the streets until morning to watch the conclusion of the great cross-country aviation race, which was won by LeBlanc in a Bleriot Monoplane. Auburn, also in a Bleriot, took second prize, finishing a shorty twenty minutes behind the winner, although his total time in completing the course was somewhat longer. LeBlanc's flight from Amiens, some 60 miles, was made in the same superb style as the previous laps in the race. He left Amiens at 5.03 and descended at Issy, in the suburbs of Paris, one hour, twenty-eight minutes later, making the total time for the 485 miles of the entire flight 11 hours, 55 mins., 59 secs., an average of nearly 40 miles an hour, as the crowd flies, without making any allowance for detours or for the time spent in battling with the storm in the flight from Mezières to Douai, last Friday, Auburn, whose time from Amiens was 1 hour 51 mins., completed the circuit in 13 hours, 27 mins., 14 secs. With every prospect of success in completing the aerial trip from Paris to London, which since the crossing of the English Channel by Bleriot and others has been the great aim of the birdmen. Noissant, the young Spanish aviator, descended near here to-day having accomplished the flight from Paris to Calais and the journey across the Channel to deal with, with an ease and brilliancy rarely surpassed. He is now preparing to continue the trip to London, the completion of which will bring him the cup and prize offered by a London newspaper and the proceeds of the subscription raised in England for Graham White, which the unsuccessful competitor in the London-Manchester flight generously offered as prize for the Paris to London competition.

Gaynor Improving.
