Famous Battle Speeches.

Much might be written of historic battle speeches of commanders. Nelson's utterances must, of course, take the first place, not only because of their undoubted authenticity, but because each of his great victories was preceded by his own particular motto. "Victory or Westminster Abbey," were his words before the opening of the Battle of the Nile. "I have only one eye, and have a right to be blind sometimes," he said at Copenhagen as he placed his telescope to his blind eye when the signal for recall was hoisted on the admiral's flagship. "I really do not see the signal," he added, and sailed on to victory.

The immortal "England expects every man to do his duty" flew at Trafalgar, where the hero fell, the original sentences being "England confides," but the latter word not being found in the signal code it was changed to "expects," to avoid spelling out the word.

Boomerang Criticisms.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"When people delight to tell the faults of others they tell at least one fault of their own."—Madeline Bridges.

How often criticism is a boomerang that rebounds from those against whom it is directed and wounds our standing more than theirs.

For instance, a woman criticizes another woman's housekeeping. "My dear, the dust behind her radiators is perfectly disgraceful. And last time I was there I caught a glimpse of a closet and it was in such disorder!"

The Dust Behind the Radiators.

Of course it is not particularly nice to have dust behind the radiators and disorderly closets, but is it any more praiseworthy to go visiting in that spirit of criticism, and to snoop around looking behind radiators and trying to catch glimpses of closets.

Another woman I know is always criticizing the food one of her friends serves. "What nourishment is there in all that bakers' and canned stuff," she fulminates. "I don't wonder her children look pale." Now of course, she could not know about the other woman's meals if she had not accepted her hospitality and is there not some strange old tradition that to eat another's bread and salt and then go out and criticize it is dishonorable? To my mind, at least, that criticism is a boomerang which wounds the reputation of her who flings it as much as that of the woman she is attacking.

"It is perfectly outrageous the way that silly girl next door to us talks to her man over the telephone," says one woman to another woman. "She says the most foolish things." Of course it is safer and better breeding not to use the telephone for love making. Nevertheless I think there is a pretty boomerang in that criticism, don't you?

Boomerang criticisms are always reminding me of Dr. Johnson's famous response to a woman who criticized his dictionary. She told him she did not approve of it because it had too many improper words in it.

"Madam," said the great lexicographer. "It is evident that you have been looking for them."

Questions and Answers.

Question: P. D. B. wants to know whether there is an opportunity for her to become a writer of moving picture scenarios.

Reply: Yes, if she has special talent in that line. Otherwise not. The moving picture producers have their own corps of writers and I understand that there are not more than fifty people in the country outside of these who make a regular income writing for the movies. The producers pay for novel or striking ideas or for finished scenarios embodying same. Scenarios must follow a special form.

Question: H. T. C. wants to know how much it will cost a year to send her daughter to one of the smaller colleges.

Reply: That depends upon the size of the tuition fee which varies widely in different colleges and in whether the girl will live at home. If she lives at college and pays an average tuition she might possibly do it on $400 a year. Conditions, of course, vary in different parts of the country.

Proposed Charity Hockey Match.

The proposed charity hockey match, which was alluded to first in the Telegram, will in all probability take place next Friday evening, the entire proceeds to be devoted to relieve the poor and distressed in the city. As previously mentioned, the game will be played under Canadian rules, three periods of 20 minutes with six men on either side, the rover being left out. As the Fiddians are the champions they will play a team picked from the Terra Novas, St. Bon's and Victorias. The probable line-up will be:

Some positions may be played by two men, who will take alternate periods, as under professional rules. The game will be well worth witnessing apart from the object.

"OURS" IN THE WEST END.

Crowds attend this classy little theatre all the time. There's a reason. The pictures are good, the house the prettiest in town; good clean songs and all new but the name. Don't forget the Big Bread Benefit at the Rosely East End Theatre, Feb. 20th. The best show ever seen in St. John's.

VOLUNTEERS' PARADE.

The weekly church parade of the volunteers of the second contingent will be held to-morrow. We understand that the C.C.C. band will be in attendance.
