OFFICIAL.

LONDON, Jan. 10. The British Headquarters report artillery activity at several points. On the morning of the 8th the British exploded a mine near La Bassee Canal.

The French report an effective bombardment on Storka, north of Metz. As the Germans evacuated the village they were caught under a fire of seventy-fives. South of Hartmannswillerkopf the Germans succeeded in taking a little hill to the north of the summit of the Hirzstein with heavy losses to the Germans.

Russians report an encounter between their torpedo boats and the Goeben. The torpedo boats withdrew to the protection of the Russian ships line, and after a night at long range, the Goeben withdrew.

A Teheran telegram announces that the Russians have defeated a large rebel force at Doshabad.

BONAR LAW.

KING EDWARD'S CREW ARRIVE AT CHATHAM.

LONDON, Jan. 10. A despatch to the Daily Mail from Chatham, says that a trainload of men from the sunken battleship King Edward the Seventh, arrived there on Sunday afternoon, and were taken direct to the Navy barracks.

BRITAIN AND HER ALLIES GIVES CONSENT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. Britain and her Allies, it was announced to-day, have given consent to the American Red Cross Society to ship its present accumulation of hospital supplies, meant for hospitals in Germany and Allied countries. The permit, however, applies only to present accumulations. Any further shipments will have to be held, pending arrangements with the British Government.

THE GALLIOLI RETIREMENT.

LONDON, Jan. 10. The British retirement from the Dardanelles was referred to by Premier Asquith in addressing the Commons this afternoon. "The House will learn with extreme gratification of the retirement of the forces at Cape Helles on the Gallipoli Peninsula without the loss of a single life," the Premier said. "Of 11 guns left behind, 10 were worn out fifteen-pounders, which were rendered unfit for future service before they were abandoned. All the stores and reserve ammunition which could not be removed were set on fire before the retirement. The whole retirement was conducted with a minimum of loss. These operations taken in conjunction with the earlier ones from Suvla and Anzac, are, I believe, without parallel in naval history. That they should have been carried out without any loss, considering the vast amount of personnel and material involved, is an achievement whereof all concerned, commanding officers, officers and men of both services, may well be proud. It deserves, and I am sure will receive the profound gratitude of King and Country and take an imperishable place in our national history. His Majesty will be advised that General Monro, General Birdwood, Davies and other officers should receive special recognition."

BRITISH PURSUE RETREATING TURKS.

LONDON, Jan. 10. The Turks in Mesopotamia were in full retreat on Jan. 9th with the British pursuing them. It was announced in the Commons to-day by J. Austen Chamberlain, Secretary for India. There has been heavy fighting on both banks of the Tigris, on Jan. 7th, Chamberlain's announcement stated, and the British had taken two Turkish guns and 700 prisoners. In telling the Commons the news of the British success on the Tigris, Chamberlain said that General Aylmer left Amara on Jan. 6th with troops, marching to the relief of Kut. On the same day General Townshend at Kut, reported that the previous night the enemy had opened heavy fire on the northwest front and on the village opposite Kut, but had made no attack. On the night of Jan.

T. J. EDENS.

7th General Aylmer reported heavy firing on the south bank of the Tigris. On the right bank General Campbell's column carried the enemy's position, taking two guns and 700 prisoners; and then entrenched. Meanwhile the main attack on the left bank was retarded by an enemy outflanking movement. General Aylmer reported, he apparently was opposed by three Turkish divisions. On the evening of Jan. 8th he reported that owing to fatigue the troops had been unable to make any progress that day. On the 9th he reported the enemy in retreat, and that he was pursuing, but that heavy rains hindered the pursuit. From later telegrams it appears the enemy has reached Khorra.

A BERLIN VERSION.

BERLIN, Jan. 10. (via Sayville by wireless.) The British army at Kutel Amara in Mesopotamia, has now been surrounded completely by the Turks, according to Constantinople advice to-day, given out by the Overseas News Agency.

TO COPE WITH INSURRECTION.

The Greek cruiser Hell and the destroyer Leon with a strong contingent of troops, have been sent to Samos to cope with an insurrection on that island, said to be due to a lack of food stuffs. It is generally believed that martial law will shortly be proclaimed. At Athens, rumors persist of an early attack at Salonika by the Austrians and Bulgars. The Austro-German forces are concentrating in the Monastir region, facing the French front, while the Bulgars are concentrating against the British front.

KING PETER OF SERBIA.

PARIS, Jan. 10. King Peter of Serbia, who is still in Salonika, has full confidence in the ultimate issue of the struggle for the liberation of his country, according to the Serbian Minister to Greece, who has just returned from Salonika, says a Havas despatch. The reorganization of the Serb army is now in progress.

LIGHT, HEAT, COMFORT!

The proprietor of one of the best known multiple shopping systems is credited with saying, "Give me any old shop, in any old street, and I'll guarantee to make it in twelve months the most widely known and best frequented shop in the district." He was asked to explain. Holding up three fingers he said, "I believe in the trinity of LIGHT, WARMTH, COMFORT. I should dazzle the moths until the candle drew them, I should bring them into a warm, comfortable shop, filled with a soft, pleasing radiance, and the rest is—well, mere child's play."

Mixed metaphors, perhaps, but expressive. Now we can more than imagine the kind of shop this well-known individual would open, for we pass it in almost every town—always a landmark to the street. No one fails to notice it. There is an indefinable air of welcome and invitation as one stands for a moment on the pathway and lets one's gaze travel inside it. The subdued, restful lighting effect—that so charms because of its very unobtrusiveness, the absence of dark corners, the intangible feeling that if one would step inside one would be sure of experiencing a delicious sense of warmth and comfort and cheerfulness—all these are part of its appeal. Truly a shop with an individuality.

We cordially invite all progressive business men to visit our showroom and see our latest Lighting and Heating Appliances, by the adoption of which the ideal outline in the above extract from a London paper may be easily secured. Our new RADIO X. Lamp, and GASTHEAM Radiators fill all light and heat requirements.

Opening Bill of Klark-Urban Co.

A DISTINCT SUCCESS.

"Within the Law," the opening bill of the Klark Urban Co., was greeted with a capacity house at the Casino Theatre last night. The drama is a particularly strong one, and its clever production by the talented and well balanced company left nothing to be desired.

The play deals with the story of Mary Turner a young girl, who becomes an orphan, while she is attending High School, and is obliged to seek employment at an early age. For five years she works as shop girl in "The Emporium" a department store controlled by Edward Gilder, Helen Morris, another shop girl, steals, and to save herself from detection she places the stolen goods in Mary Turner's clothes locker. The latter is arrested and, though protesting her innocence, is sent to prison for three years. The securing of her employer who impressed the judge that it was necessary to make an example of her for the prevention of further theft in the store. Before going to prison she is given permission to see her employer and accused. In her interview with him she gives them a living wage instead of the starvation wages for which they were working. Gilder is dead to all her entreaties and when leaving his she threatens that she will have vengeance.

Upon the expiration of her term in prison, she secures employment, but is driven from place to place by the "law." She becomes despondent and decides upon suicide. She jumps into a river but is rescued by Joe Garson a forger and taken to his home.

It is then Mary begins her career of a crook with the "law." She becomes associated with Agnes Lynch, a girl who has "done time" for blackmail, and who is the leader of a gang of pickpockets. Mary is opposed to the methods of Garson and Agnes and adopts a system of operations, which together with legal advice enables them to amass thousands and live in luxury. On several occasions their home is visited by the police who threaten, but to no purpose as Mary very carefully keeps all her business "within the law." Mary eventually captures the affections of Dick Gilder, her former employer's son, whom she marries secretly for revenge. The balance of the story unfolds gradually and is beautifully told in a series of thrills and climaxes, the whole ending with the establishing of Mary's innocence.

Charles E. Mills, who is making his first appearance in this city, played the role of the "law." He is a very clever impersonator, while Laitoy Kenneth, another old favorite, was also seen to advantage. Thomas Brower, as Gilder's Lawyer, gave a faithful impersonation. Albert Patterson, as Joe Garson, the forger, has a fine appearance, a good voice, gave a very pleasing rendition, particularly in the closing scene where his acting was remarkably strong.

Billy Webb, another old favorite, played a minor part very satisfactorily and will be heard from again at an early date. The other roles by Messrs. Tenney and Frost, Misses Allen and Dean were very well portrayed. As has been previously announced the bill will be repeated to-night and to-morrow night the great modern play: "The Divorce Question" will be presented.

Harden Klark, as Gilder's son was particularly good and his acting was in keeping with his past record in this city.

Minnie Cecil was seen as Mary Turner, and in her impersonation of a difficult role won many new admirers. Aurlia Clark, as Agnes Lynch, won full marks in her impersonation of the girl "who has done time" and her acting and features in his scene with Mary Turner, and of the affectionate father in the scenes with his beloved son, Dick.

Frank Urban, as Inspector of the New York Police, gave a very clever impersonation, while Laitoy Kenneth, another old favorite, was also seen to advantage. Thomas Brower, as Gilder's Lawyer, gave a faithful impersonation. Hr. Grace Notes.

The s.s. Euphrates arrived from Bell Island this a.m. to go on dock.

The schr. Mary Duff arrived from Carboner this morning to load codfish at Munn & Co.'s for market.

We very much regret to report the serious illness of Mrs. R. D. McRae. Mrs. McRae was stricken with paralysis early yesterday morning, and has not regained consciousness since. We hope soon to have more favorable news to report.

St. Paul's Church ladies will hold a sale of work and tea on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

A fine sheet of ice is now on the skating rink just erected, and the rink will be formally opened on Wednesday night at 7.30. A full band will be in attendance.

Mrs. Michael Connors, of Riverhead received a wireless message on the 8th inst. from her son Michael, who is captain of a large steamer called the Virginia, and is bound from New York to Russia. The message ran thus: "Mother, we are now off Cape Race; pray for our success. (Sgd.) Mike. We join with his many friends in wishing our young townsman a most successful voyage and a safe return."

The schr. Alma Nelson arrived in port on Saturday with a load of coal to Messrs R. D. McRae & Sons. The cargo is being landed to-day.

A large number of young people took a run down to Carboner yesterday to view the work of the fire there on Saturday morning. All our people sympathize with our friends of the sister town in this to them very heavy loss. But as Carboner people are known for their grit and determination to down all obstacles, we hope to see in the near future the town rebuilt with up-to-date houses and stores that will be ornaments to the town and monuments to the business ability and faith in the old town of the good people of Carboner.

The schrs. Studland and Cleopatra are now on dock undergoing repairs.

We regret to learn that Mr. Fred J. Brady of the Trinity Enterprise, has been confined to his home for the past two weeks with a bad attack of la-grippe. It is pleasing to hear that he is on the way to recovery.
