Appendicitis Disappeared"

Mrs. James Wells, Udora, Ont., writes—

"I took a severe pain in my right side. It was very bad at times. I tried oils and tablets without gaining any relief. The doctor pronounced it chronic appendicitis. I dreaded an operation and a friend advised Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I used them and not only obtained relief from pain, but I believe it has completely freed me of appendicitis, as it is now over a year since I have had any of the old symptoms."

Premier Deplores Race for Air Armaments--West of Canada in the Grip of a Blizzard--British Aeroplane on World Tour Reaches Athens.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT ADJOURNS
LONDON, April 16. The House of Commons adjourned today until April 29th, for the Regatta recess.

FOR SUPREMACY DEPLORED.
LONDON, April 16.

Prime Minister MacDonald, replying today to a speech in the House of Commons by Major General R. B. Seely, former President of the Air Council, who advocated that the Government call an International Conference for air disarmament, declared he would welcome an invitation by another Power to take up the question of armaments. The Prime Minister, while emphasizing a general conference on disarmament was desirable, declared that the thing of greatest importance was that there be no misunderstanding between Great Britain and France. He was referring to what he called a unfortunate air race that has been going on.

PARLIAMENTARY ELECTIONS POSTPONED.
BERLIN, April 16.

It has been officially announced that the German elections to the Reichstag have been postponed from April 19 to May 11. The reason is given to be that as the elections are expected to swing towards the right, it is desirable that the Reichstag should not be influenced by any such movement, as they do not know the whereabouts of his father, who is said to be an invalid, for whom he had searched without success in Quebec. He had nothing to eat and no place to sleep. He wandered about the city chilled by damp winds and soaked in showers. An elderly woman who loves children reading of the youth's hardships, wants to adopt him and make him sole heir if he behaves himself.

RUMANIA PURCHASES AIRPLANES
BUCHAREST, April 16. Newspapers say that the Rumanian Government has signed a contract to purchase airplanes from France to the value of two million dollars.

BLIZZARDS IN CANADA.
WINNIPEG, April 16.

Western Ontario and many districts in Southern Saskatchewan were in the grip to-day, of one of the worst blizzards experienced in recent years. Brandon reports a fifteen inch fall of snow during the past 48 hours, while between Winnipeg and the head of the Lake, heavy snow was general to-day and last night. Winnipeg experienced all kinds of weather during the night, heavy rain, thunder, lightning and sleet, which later turned to snow, which is still falling. As the result of the storm Winnipeg was isolated from Eastern Canada and the South during the morning, all telegraph wires going down under the weight of sleet and wet snow.

HOW GORDON BENNETT WAS SPOOFED BY JOURNALIST.

The disappearance of the "New York Herald," now being amalgamated with the "New York Tribune," is an event of international interest. For years the European edition was the most important journal published in English on the Continent. The former proprietor, Gordon Bennett, was one of the best-known men in the world. He inherited the paper from his father and made a huge fortune. He may be regarded as the founder of "Yellow Journalism." During the latter part of his life the papers were full of his exploits, many of these being of a sporting and flamboyant character. He, however, rendered great service by giving large prizes to develop the motor car industry, the Gordon Bennett Cup being the "blue ribbon" of motor racing. He also sent H. M. Stanley to search for Livingstone. He was a smart person, with strange habits. For years he managed his paper from Paris and the Mediterranean, where he spent much of his time on a splendid yacht. His staff were kept in a continual state of agitation by cablegrams containing instructions and requiring their immediate attendance wherever their employer happened to be. One of Gordon Bennett's freaks was his unshakable belief in the sagacity of his troupe of dogs. If they fancied an applicant for a position or increased salary, he got it. If they disapproved of him, he was turned down. One enterprising journalist, hearing of this peculiarity, took the precaution of sprinkling his trousers with antiseptics. When the folding doors separating Gordon Bennett's library from the waiting-room were thrown open and he advanced into the latter with his dogs, they made a bee-line for the journalist and covered him with carresses. Gordon Bennett was astonished. He had never seen the dogs so pleased. He inquired whether the applicant was fond of dogs. "Yes," was the reply. "I spend all my time with them." "Ah," said Gordon Bennett, "they are good judges of human character. I have no hesitation in engaging you on your own terms."

Round the World Flight

BRITISH CHALLENGE TO U.S.—AMBITIONOUS ENTERPRISE TO BE INAUGURATED THIS WEEK.

It has been decided by three intrepid Britons to begin a flight round the world on Tuesday as a direct challenge to the three American airmen who have already started from Santa Monica. The three Englishmen are Squadron Leader MacLaren, who will be the Navigator, Flying Officer J. Penderleith, the pilot, and Sergeant Andrews, the Engineer. They propose to attempt the world flight in a Napier-Vickers amphibian, and they will leave for Calshot, Southampton Water. But whereas the Americans are flying Westward in three cruisers, the British airmen will proceed Eastward in one machine. Their machine is stated to be faster than any of the American aeroplanes, and, if successful, it is estimated that they will be again in Southampton in three months. The Napier-Vickers machine has been thoroughly tested at Brooklands. The designer is Mr. R. P. Pioner, who was responsible for the machine in which Sir Ross Smith and his brother achieved the flight from England to Australia. The United States are anxious that their airmen shall win for that country the honor of being the first to circumnavigate the globe by air, a change which renders the Englishmen's immediate flight of deep interest. Lyons has been chosen as the first stopping place for the English machine, with Brindisi, Athens, and Cairo as the succeeding line of flight. The desert air-mail has already established the route from Cairo to Bagdad, after which Calcutta will be reached by way of Basra and Karachi. Rangoon, Burma, and Hong Kong will mark the way to Tokyo, where the English airmen will be faced with a difficult passage across the Pacific to the Aleutian Islands. These will link them by land with North America, where Vancouver will provide a halt. The Trans-Canadian Flight from Vancouver to Toronto will follow, the amphibian alighting when possible on the lakes. At St. John's, Newfoundland, the airmen will be confronted with the dangerous Atlantic flight by the usual route of the Azores and Lisbon. Then, it is hoped, will come the final flight home. The Americans, if successful, will cover 26,000 miles. Seattle, Washington, should be reached on April 2, when a long flight of 650 miles will bring them to Prince Rupert. British Columbia, Alaska, taken in three stages, will cover 1,000 miles, after which they will direct their aeroplanes for Unalaska, one of the Aleutian Islands, over which the Englishmen hope to fly on their eastward journey. The Pacific will be crossed from Attu, the extreme island of the Aleutian group, to Simushir, north of Japan, a distance of 878 miles. Bangkok, Siam, will be reached by way of Japan and China. Calcutta, Delhi, and Karachi will point the way to

The Tallest Yet

They were a party of drummers in the commercial room of a hotel and included a Yankee and an Irishman. The Yankee had told the tallest yarn about the ability of his countrymen along acrobatic lines and claimed "We have an acrobat in New York who can take a sixty foot ladder, put it standing on the ground and with the other end in the air he can climb to the top balancing the ladder all the time. He can then cross over and come down the other side without mishap, still balancing the ladder." Pat admitted that was good work—for a Yankee, but he said, "We have a man in Ireland who can take a sixty foot ladder and balancing it just as you say, he can climb to the top, and when he gets there, he swings the bottom side up and goes up it again." "Huh," said the Yankee, "well we got a painter in America who once painted a snow scene so like nature that a man caught a cold in the head while sitting near it with his hat off." "That ain't much," said Pat. "We have a man in Ireland, a real painter, who once painted a bottle of ginger beer so like nature that the cork flew out before he had time to paint the wire to keep it in."
