Nasi was then permitted to serve his term of imprisonment within the walls of his private residence in Rome. Carabinieri were stationed outside his apartments on guard, day and night, till his sentence was cut short by royal pardon.

The fallen cabinet minister thereupon quitted Rome for his Sicilian constituency at Trapani, where he was welcomed back amidst unparalleled scenes of public enthusiasm, civic functionaries of every grade participating in the demonstrations. Rather than abandon Nasi, Trapani has chosen to remain without representapating in the demonstrations. Rather than abandon Nasi, Trapani has chosen to remain without representation in parliament for six years past; and it has re-elected its hero by overwhelming majorities 18 times.

Nasi's term of civil proscription ceases next June; but the supreme court in Rome has just decided, at Nasi's own instance, that he is no longer eligible for membership in parliament. Unless this be revoked there will be bloodshed very quickly in the island.
