"How is the city water supply holding out?" was the query propounded by the ADVERTISER representative to a waterworks official yesterday.

"Well the water in the received."

"No, I don't; but it would be well if the citizens would be a little more careful and not permit any extravagant use of water until the new springs are connected. It is thought that this will be accomplished in about two weeks' time, and after that there will be plenty of water. They are expected to add 1,000,000 gallons per day to the supply, which will prove sufficient for all purposes. The quantity used at present amounts to 2,500,000 gallons daily."

A Stranger's Impressions.

Mr. Ambrose Archer, her Majesty's vice-consul at Porto Alegro, Brazil, is now on his journey from that country to England via the United States and Canada. He visits his many relatives in this section by the way. He has been in Brazil for the iast nincteen years. For that country he believes there is a great future, but on account of circumstances, religious and political, develops slowly. Had it been a British colony, Brazil would have been one of the most important dependencies of the Empire. The revolution changing the country from a monarchy to a republic was planned so adroitly and carried out so quietly that the foreign residents were scarcely sensible of the change. Canadians, he says, have one of the finest countries he has ever seen, with wonderful possibilities, and that we cannot be too thankful or too proud of it. He is on a business trip to New York and Liverpool, of which latter city he is a native, and the headquarters of the firm of Archer, New & Co., Liverpool, and Archer & Co., Porto Alegro, Brazil.

FORESTERS' FESTIVITIES. Court Middlesex, No. 118, C. O. F., Hold Their First Annual Picnic Enjoyable Day Spent.

The members of Court Middlessex, No. 118, C. O. F., held their first annual pionic yesterday at Springbank, and an auspicious opening it certainly was. Captain Foster ran his steamer every hour, and the brethren with their triends, accompanied by a goodly number of the fair sex, enjoyed the trip down the Thames. The weather was bright and cool, making the day all that could be desired for an outing. The pionickers amused themselves in various ways, the children with the merry-go-round, and their elders enjoying Springbank's delightful views from the adjacent slope and its shady groves and walks, while the omnipresent lunch basket added zest to the occasion.
