

CANADA MAY OFFER MORE MEN

Sending of a Second Canadian Contingent is Suggested.

In View of the Recent British Reverses in South Africa.

Sardinian Spoken at Several Points—Favored with Fine Weather—Contingent Notes.

Quebec, Nov. 1.—It is seriously suggested here in military circles that the Canadian government, in view of the recent disaster in South Africa, and the number of Canadian volunteers anxious for service abroad, should offer a second contingent of Canadian troops. If this is not done, it is at least said that a dozen or two of the officers who want to go should be sent.

Capt. A. L. Howard, of Gatling gun fame, who arrived in the city on Monday, is a disappointed volunteer. He arrived here just in time to be too late, and consequently does not form one of the contingent on board of the Sardinian, now sailing for the seat of war in South Africa. Mr. Howard proffered his services to the military authorities to act in any capacity in the ranks, and allow his salary to be devoted to the ambulance corps, and on last Saturday morning started for Quebec, from where he was located about 100 miles north of Ladysmith, and drove in a team for many hours as far as Calumet, but unfortunately missed his train at this point, and consequently was unable to reach the Ambulance Corps until Monday evening, but until he reached this city he had hopes that the steamer would not leave until Tuesday morning.

Cap. Chatte, Que., Oct. 31.—Steamship Sardinian, with troops, outward at 3:30 p.m.; all well; clear and calm.

HEARING BAD NEWS.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—A special service in connection with the departure of the Sardinian, which sailed for the seat of war in South Africa, was held at St. James' Cathedral at noon yesterday, at which there were extraordinary scenes of excitement as a result of the disaster news from South Africa. The cathedral was crowded and hundreds of people were present to witness the departure of the Sardinian. Rev. Arthur H. Baldwin, of All Saints', who preached, referring to the condition of affairs, said: "If we are defeated we will lose not merely the Queen's power in South Africa, but we shall find the empire weakened in other lands." A fierce cry of "Never!" from an overwrought worshiper started the congregation, but there were no further interruptions, save the sobs of women, many of whom were intensely affected.

THE PREMIER'S ADDRESS.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in bidding farewell to the Canadian contingent at Quebec on Monday, said:

"In wishing you Godspeed, I pray that God may accompany you, direct you and protect you in all your mission which you have undertaken. Upon this occasion it is not so much the God of Battle as the God of Justice whom we invoke. It is inspiring to reflect that the cause for which you men of Canada are going to fight is the cause of justice, the cause of humanity, of civil rights and religious liberty. This war is not a war of conquest or subjugation. It is not to oppress the race whose courage we admire, but it is to put an end to the oppression imposed upon subjects of her majesty. Such a war is not a tyrannical policy. The object is not to rush out the Dutch population, but to establish in that land, of which her majesty is sovereign, British sovereignty. I assure you that the British people are equal sharers of liberty. This is a unique occasion in the history of the world; it is a spectacle which ought to make every Canadian feel proud of his country. Who could have believed a few years ago that from this city, which had been the theater of a bitter conflict between the two proudest races of the world, their descendants, who today are a happily united people, would go forth to help carry the blessings of their own institutions to a far distant land? Who could have believed 22 years ago that the scattered provinces of British North America would have reached such a point of development today that they would be able and willing, and cheerfully willing, to cement with their blood the unity of the empire in its most distant part? Men of the Canadian contingent," continued the premier, "I have no recommendation or request to make to you, but if I had it would simply be to do your duty. More than this we cannot ask; more than this you cannot do. If you do your duty, and I know you will, you take your places side by side with the Dublin Fusiliers, the Gordon Highlanders and the Lancashire, who only last week carried the colors of England to the topmost heights of Glencoe, Dundee and Blarney. If you do your duty your proud countrymen will share your glory. Should any one of you unfortunately lose his life or limb, your country will feel that they have fully discharged the duty under which you place her this day by this sacrifice to Canada's glory, the glory of the empire, and above all, to the cause of justice, humanity and liberty."

WILL BE RETRIEVED.

Montreal, Que., Nov. 1.—The governor-general, the Earl of Minto, attended an entertainment given by the Montreal Caledonian Society last night. His excellency was presented with an address, and made a brief reply, in which he referred to the war in the Transvaal. He said that the news which had just been received was not encouraging, but he did not think it should be called a disaster, as the army would be spurred to greater action. His excellency also paid a high tribute to Gen. White, who, he said, was a splendid officer. The governor-general's remarks were received with great enthusiasm.

RED CROSS FUND.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—The Toronto ladies' branch of the Red Cross Society, who have collected over $3,000, of which $2,000 has been forwarded in cash to Col. Otter, and $1,000 in Red Cross supplies, will close its fund on Saturday.

A GENEROUS GIFT.

Quebec, Nov. 1.—Thomas C. Orndoff, of Worcester, Mass., presented to the contingent 1,000 bandoliers, valued at over $1,000. These carry each 100 rounds of ammunition. The gift is a most generous one, and deserves the hearty thanks of all.

SCHAEFER AND SLOSSON.
New York, Nov. 1.—The second night's play in the big professional exhibition billiard match resulted in a close struggle. Wizard Schaefer outplayed Slosson by just ten points, but "Student" maintained his lead to the end. The final score was 600 to 495 in Slosson's favor. The final block of 300 will be played this evening. The match and the stakes will go to the player whose total reaches 900 first. Schaefer's splendid brace at one point gives his admirers ground for hoping that he may yet win out the match. In his 11th inning Schaefer made the star play of the evening, when he clicked off 35, and then missed an easy shot, and sat down. The score was Slosson, 300; average, 3.63; Schaefer, 22, 18, 17; grand total, 600; average, 4.28. Schaefer, 210; average, 3.76; highest runs, 35, 27, 22, 20; grand total, 495; average, 3.53.

CHOICE OF A CANDIDATE FOR THE DOMINION HOUSE.

The choice of a candidate was next in order. It was a very important matter for the coming election.

The representative of the riding now in the Dominion house was not in sympathy with the views of those present. At the last election he had been defeated, said Mr. Mills.

The history of the grand old riding of Bothwell that the Liberal standard had to be lowered. For many years there had been a representative of the Liberal party in the Dominion house, and the whole length and breadth of Canada had been the speaker's ear.

It was the speaker's earnest desire that Mr. Mills again be their candidate.

Mr. Colin Reid, of Bothwell, seconded the nomination, and it was carried by a unanimous standing vote.

Executive committee endeavor to obtain Mr. Mills' acceptance.

MR. PARDEE'S ADDRESS.

Mr. F. F. Pardee, of Sarnia, West Lambton's talented representative in the Local Assembly, was then called upon. On rising, he was greeted with hearty applause. He complimented the association upon the selection they had made.

It was reason for gratification that the Liberals of Bothwell had a candidate in whom they could take such pride. The speaker praised Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and dwelt upon Canada's present prosperity. A government by its acts, by its neglect, by squandering the public's money could retard the progress of the country.

Another government, by wise legislation, could assist in the prosperity of the country. The Liberal government had done more than any other to bring Canada before the other nations of the world; they had decided the fate of the Dominion.

The elections were not far off, and there were many cogent reasons why Sir Wilfrid Laurier should be returned to office. In six months he had decided the fate of the Dominion.

Which threatened Canada's national existence. He had established a preferential trade with England and brought Canada before the Old world.

Prior to that it was not thought Canada had anything to sell which the Old Country could buy. Now Great Britain's trade with Canada was increasing every year, and decreasing the trade of the United States.

In support of this Mr. Pardee gave a number of interesting figures. In 1897 United States exported to Great Britain to the amount of $2,443,000, Canada, $1,355,000.

In 1898, after the preferential tariff, the figures were: United States, $1,954,000; Canada, $2,179,000. The United export of bacon in 1896 was $26,018,000; Canada's, $2,542,000. In 1898, Canada's increase was 100 per cent, and the United States was 25 per cent. The value of fresh beef sent by the United States to Great Britain in 1897 was $22,400,000; by Canada, $55,000. In 1898, United States, $23,366,000; Canada, $3,632,000. The change was even more marked in the butter export, the figures of which are: By United States, in 1897, $3,079,000; by Canada, $2,162,000; in 1898, United States, $3,386,000; Canada, $3,632,000. The Conservatives had retorted that the party was merely continuing the National Policy. It was a good cry now. But what did they say when the government brought down the tariff? They prophesied disaster. For 18 years the Conservative party had administered the affairs of the country, and what was the result? An annual deficit of six million dollars, as compared with two million dollars a year by the Reform party.

The Liberals' financial record was one to be proud of, in spite of the fact that the government was now carrying on public works which the Conservative Government never dared to touch. The deepening of waterways, etc., was pointed out to the credit of the government.

The speaker criticized the action of the senate in throwing out the Yukon railway project. Sir Charles Tupper, when first interviewed regarding the scheme, commended the government for it. But after being directed by his followers, he had changed his opinion. He was like the turtle seen by an Irishman for the first time, "Bedad, it hasn't a leg to stand on," said Mike, "and every now and then it swallows its head." (Laughter and applause.)

OTHER SPEAKERS.

Mr. Robert Ferguson made a pleasing and hopeful speech. He voiced the feeling of the convention when he said they were determined to wipe out the disgrace of defeat at the next election. There had been many a hard battle in Bothwell. The result of the last one had been a surprise. It was due, he thought, to over-confidence, and lack of organization. He bespoke greater enthusiasm in the next contest.

Mr. E. E. Parrott then called upon, and made eulogistic reference to Mr. Mills and the other principal Reform leaders. Looking back to the early history of the country, he pictured the heroic acts of the first leaders of the Liberals in Canada. Four years ago there was another crisis, he said. The government was not able to deal with the issue. Out of the conflict came the rescue, out of the cloud came a leader, and dashed on the canvas the immortal words, "I will not be coerced, neither will I coerce." Sir Wilfrid Laurier was as good as his word. Not only the Reform party, but the Conservative party as well, is proud of this great man. There need be no fear of the coming result in Bothwell. The meeting closed with cheers for the candidate and the Queen.

A PATHETIC LETTER.

She writes: "I had for a long time been thinking of trying the Samaria Prescription treatment on my husband, but I was afraid he would discover that I was giving him medicine, and the thought unnerved me. I hesitated for nearly a week, but one day I decided to proceed. I bought a box of the Samaria Prescription and put it in his coffee as directed next morning and watched and prayed for the result. At noon I gave him more and also at supper. He never suspected a thing, and I then boldly kept right on giving it regularly, as I had discovered something that set every nerve in my body tingling with hope and happiness, and I could see a bright future ahead of me before me. A peaceful happy home, a share in the good things of life, an attentive, loving husband, comforts, and everything else dear to a woman's heart, for my husband had told me that he was a drunkard, and he was taking a dislike to it. It was only too true, for before I had given him the full course he had stopped drinking altogether, but I kept giving him the medicine until it was gone, and I sent for another lot to have on hand if he should relapse, as he had done from his promises before. He never has, and I am writing you this to tell you how the Samaria Prescription has helped me. I honestly believe it will cure the worst cases."
