The Biddulph stabbing case came up for trial before Squire Lacey at the Court House yesterday afternoon. Mr. J. B. McKillop prosecuted and Mr. Edmund Meredith defended the prisoner, Alfred Dignan. The prisoner's wife was present. Maggie Ryder, the 13-year-old daughter of James Ryder, the wounded man, was the first witness called. She said that she was driving home from Lucan on the evening of March 6, together with her father and her aunt, Mrs. Patton. As they came to Dignan's place on the Roman line the latter got on a manure pile and acted improperly This incensed her father, and, telling her to hold the reins, he jumped out of the sleigh and threw off his overcoat, undercoat, hat and vest. Cross-examined by Mr. Meredith—Her father had not been drinking in Lucan that day to her knowledge. Her father's knife was in his pants' pocket when she got home. They had not washed it, and when the doctor asked to see it that night she showed it to him. He said: "That knife is not fit to stab any one with. It was only an ordinary jack-knife with a small blade. Dignan had only desisted striking and cutting her father when the latter cried out "I am killed."

Dr. James Sutton, Clandeboye, was put in the box. He was called, he said, on the night in question to attend to James Ryder, whom he found suffering with from eighteen to twenty cuts that must have been inflicted by some sharp instrument. He did not discover the wounds on the back until three days afterwards. Ryder was not aware of these cuts himself until afterwards. The only wound that was at all dangerous was one that had we inter the joint on the wrist. This is himself until afterwards. The only wound that was at all dangerous was one that had cut into the joint on the wrist. This is the wound that is suppurating now and causing such trouble. It would still be a weak or more, the doctor stated, before Ryder would be able to give testimony.

After hearing Mr. Patton's testimony, which was along the same line as that given by the girl, and developed nothing tresh, the case was adjourned for a week to admit of the evidence of the complainant, Ryder.

Discovery of an Underground River.

Augusta, Ill., March 20.—An underground river has been discovered four and a half miles northwest of this place, between Augusta and Carthage. A few days ago William Allen dug a well on his farm in that locality, going to a depth of 77 feet and suddenly the auger dropped through the bottom of the well. What water had accumulated also went through the hole. The hole was plugged with clay and debris and the well again filled with water but suddenly the entire bottom fell out. Nothingiwas then left but a deep hole in the ground at the bottom where could be seen a swift running stream. Rubbish, stones, logs and other debris have been cast into the hole to fill it up but the rushing current carries it away almost instantly. Efforts have been made to sound the depth of the subterranean stream but they too have been futile.
